MYSTERY GANG KIDNAPS BABY

PRESIDENT GIVES IN TO SENATE ON COURT VACANCY

Borah Casts Doubt on Its Existence.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt indicated at his press conference this afternoon that he has backed water on his plan to delay naming a successor to Justice Van Devanter of the Supreme court till after congress adjourns.

The President told reporters he did not know when he would make the appointment and that their first information would be the submission of the nomination to the senate.

Only when congress is in session could first news of such an appointment arise in such a way. The clear inference, therefore, from the President's utterance is that the appointment will not be made during a recess of congress. Asked if this were the correct inference, the President declined to amplify his statement.

Opinion Starts Remonstrance.

Mr. Roosevelt's apparent retreat followed the White House announcement yesterday of Attorney General Cummings' opinion that the President possesses authority to appoint a Supreme court justice during a congress recess and the ensuing ebullition of remonstrance in the senate against the President's contemplated course.

The debate on a resolution presented yesterday by Senator Vandenberg declaring against a recess appointment indicated that if the President persisted in putting on the bench a justice upon whom the senate had not passed he would run into a Democratic party opposition comparable to that which defeated his attempt to pack the court.

Borah Doubts Vacancy Exists.

A new complication was added earlier in the day by Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho], eminent constitutional authority, when he asserted that when the nomination of a Supreme court justice reaches the senate it will become necessary to decide whether the retirement of Justice Van Devanter created a vacancy to be filled.

The senator contended that under the constitution a vacancy can occur in the Supreme court only by death, resignation, or removal by impeachment. The constitution, Mr. Borah contended, does not recognize the retirement of justices provided for in the bill passed last spring for the purpose of inducing the withdrawal of justices obnoxious to Mr. Roosevelt.

May Need New Law.

It may become necessary to scrap the retirement act, as Mr. Borah advised, and provide for resignation of justices on full pay in order to create legally the vacancies Mr. Roosevelt yerns to fill more fervidly than ever, now that he has been denied the power to add six new members to the court.

"I do not think there is any vacancy in the Supreme court to fill," said Senator Borah, obtaining recognition shortly after the senate convened. "That question will certainly become acute if the President sends in an appointment. I would not be greatly surprised if the attorney general had this matter in view when he gave the President his opinion that he could appoint a justice during a recess of congress.

"There are only three ways in which a Supreme court vacancy can be created: By impeachment, resignation or death. The retirement act recognizes that a retired justice remains a member of the court because he may be recalled to service by the chief justice. Is he a justice of the Supreme court, or what? He is called into service because he is still regarded a justice of the Supreme court. Now I ask the senate to consider how you can retire a justice of the Supreme court? There is no way except by impeachment, resignation or death."

Raised Point in Committee.

The senator said that he had raised this question in the judiciary committee, but was unable to obtain serious consideration "because we were acting under pressure."

In reply to a question by Majority Leader Alben Barkley [D., Ky.], Senator Borah said Justice Van Devanter would appear at the session of the court next October and take part in the proceedings.

Senator Henry F. Ashurst [D.,

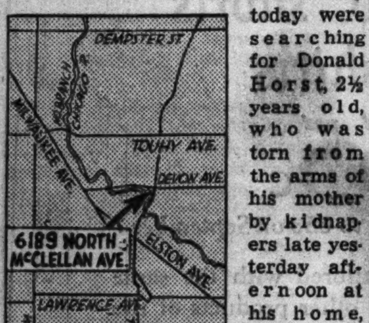
BATTLE MOTHER AND PHONE BACK $5,000 DEMAND

Police Trace Auto; Owner Missing.

STORY IN PICTURES.
Readers of the description of the kidnaping of Donald Horst will be able to visualize the strange crime by observing the photo diagram on the back page. All of the personages in the story are also shown in studio and news photos.



Site of Kidnaping.

Police and government agents throughout Chicago and the middle west early today were searching for Donald Horst, 2½ years old, who was torn from the arms of his mother by kidnapers late yesterday afternoon at his home, 6189 McClellan avenue. Although police were at first convinced that the only motive of the kidnaping was $5,000 ransom, some doubt developed as the full story began to unfold in a crime whose mystery, they said, has seldom been equaled in recent years.

Phone Ransom Demand.

The boy was taken by a woman and man who beat down his mother and her maid and then fled in a car driven by a second man. Five minutes after the kidnapers left, they telephoned a demand for the $5,000, according to the mother, Mrs. Martha Horst.

The search centered about Fred Ewert, a man in his middle forties, living at 2631 West 23d place and named as the man who borrowed the automobile used in the kidnaping and later returned it. He is chauffeur for Dr. John Anthony Rose of 900 South Western avenue, partner of the kidnaped boy's father, Otto Horst, 41 years old, in the United Sound Products company at 816 West North avenue.

Identify Ewert Photograph.

Ewert was identified by both the Horsts from photographs of an ex-convict on file at the detective bureau. Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's office raided the Ewert apartment early today and found evidence that it had been hastily abandoned.

Meanwhile it developed that Ewert had gone to the Horst home and sat on the porch after the kidnaping, while the Horsts were being questioned at police headquarters. Mrs. Horst told police she knew Ewert and that he was a visitor in her home last Sunday. She said he was not the man who beat her and took her son, but that she never was able to see the face of the man at the wheel of the kidnap car.

Salesman Names Suspect.

Ewert was brought into the case by Arthur Humberg, an automobile salesman living at 1333 North La Salle street, to whom the license of the kidnap car was traced. Humberg said he had lent the car to Ewert.

The northwest side district in which the kidnaping occurred is an old and exclusive residential neighborhood near the Edgebrook golf course of the forest preserve. It is a secluded, wooded region, in which there are some thirty expensive homes.

Teddy bears and toys of every kind filled the rooms of the spacious two story residence from which Donald, a dark haired boy in rose trousers and a white blouse, was kidnaped. The Horsts rented the house six weeks ago and moved in with Donald and his toys from the Randall hotel at Washington boulevard and Halsted street, which Horst said he recently sold.

Delay in Notifying Police.

Police who directed the investigation found many puzzling circumstances, not the least of which was the fact that they were not notified of the kidnaping until 5:05 p. m., thirty-five minutes after it occurred.

Mrs. Horst, a slender, red haired woman of 29, was watching her son play in the back yard sand pile with a neighbor boy, Kenneth Kelley, 6 years old, of 6246 Livermore avenue, when the kidnapers arrived.

Stepping from their car, parked slightly to the west of the front walk, the woman and one of the men slipped through the shrubbery

Fire Destroys 65 Foot Yacht; Three Rescued

Thousands of bathers and north side residents yesterday watched the 65 foot cabin motor cruiser Molly-O burn to the water's edge in a spectacular blaze which started at her anchorage in Belmont harbor. When the flames threatened 200 other boats anchored near by the Molly-O was towed into the lake and sank off North avenue.

The boat was owned by Thomas O'Connor, 1600 Highland avenue, a distributor of dairy products, who was on board with his wife and son, Thomas Jr., when the fire started in the engine room. He was painfully burned on the face and body while attempting to fight the flames. His son was less seriously burned.

Rescued from Craft.

All three were taken off the craft, while it lay in the harbor, by Chief Harbormaster Henry Michaels. The father and son were treated at the John B. Murphy hospital. Michaels towed the blazing craft, from which a heavy pillar of smoke was pouring, out into the lake and headed south.

Capt. John O. Anderson in command at the old Chicago coast guard station at the mouth of the Chicago river, sent an emergency call for the city fireboat Fred A. Busse and sped north in one of the guard's motor cutters. The fireboat and cutters sank the cruiser two miles off shore after the fire burned to the water line.

At the hospital O'Connor told physicians that he had been cleaning and adjusting carburetors on the heavy marine engine in the boat when suddenly gasoline in the engine caught fire.

Try to Put Out Fire.

The flames gained rapidly and efforts to check them with chemical fire extinguishers were futile. O'Connor said he saw his wife and son to safety on Michaels' boat and then stayed to fight the fire for several minutes longer. He was joined by the harbormaster, but both finally were forced to abandon ship.

He ordered an X-ray examination to be made this morning. Debowski's temperature again rose above 104 degrees during the evening, but fell to 100 at midnight.

Roosevelt Kin to Tour World; U. S. Foots Bill

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, widow of the late cousin of President Roosevelt, who was United States minister to Canada, today was named the official interior decorator of American embassies and consulates.

Mrs. Warren Robbins

Under the appointment, which was anounced by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Mrs. Robbins will hang chintz and velvet around the world to give American diplomats abroad luxurious appointments to which many of them are not accustomed at home. She will dig into the 12 million dollars this government spends each year for maintenance of its diplomatic corps.

World Tour; Expenses Paid.

In her post Mrs. Robbins will have her expenses paid on a tour of the 54 embassies and legations this country maintains abroad. Of these, 23 have been bought by the American people. She also may stop at many of the 200 consulates the United States maintains. She will get an annual salary of $6,500.

Mrs. Robbins, her friends and White House relatives by marriage say, has a good eye for color. Guests at the recent wedding of Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and Miss Ethel du Pont of Wilmington, Del., were given an ocular demonstration of this when she appeared for the ceremony with her hair dyed a light lavender. She prefers heliotrope as a hair shade, but changes colors to suit moods and occasions.

Color Query Coldly Received.

At the state department attachés grew icy when asked what shade of hair Mrs. Robbins would choose when hanging chintz in the bedroom of the Hon. Joseph Davies, ambassador to Russia, who married the wealthy Mrs. Marjorie Post Hutton.

Mr. Hull also announced that Frederick Larkin, state department architect, would be chief of the foreign service buildings. Larkin will be Mrs. Robbins' boss, but will not have her opportunities for travel.

Plane Falls in Sea; Fear 14 Aboard Dead

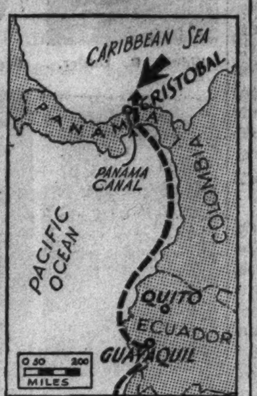
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone, Aug. 3.—A fleet of searching airplanes, destroyers and submarines tonight found wreckage from the big twin engined amphibian plane, Santa Maria of the Pan American-Grace Airways, in the sea about 20 miles west of here on the Atlantic ocean side of the isthmus. The airliner, with 14 persons aboard, had been missing since about 8 o'clock last night.



Arrow points to scene of plane crash.

Although reports concerning the fate of the plane still are fragmentary, it appears now that there is little hope that any of those aboard are alive. The searchers are finding fragments of the wing and of engine nacelles, but the main boat body of the machine in which the crew and passengers were riding apparently has sunk without a trace.

Former Chicagoan Aboard.

According to a reconstruction of what happened, the disaster occurred when the 18,000 pound plane spiraled into the ocean at more than 100 miles an hour through a torrential tropical rainstorm about 7:40 o'clock last evening. The last radio report from the pilot a minute before that time indicated that he was gliding down through the storm to the surface of the sea.

Most of those aboard the ill-fated machine were Americans. Among them was Rex Martin, formerly of Chicago, who until two months ago was assistant director of the bureau of air commerce in the American department of commerce. He was traveling in South America as a representative of the department.

Other Passengers Listed.

Others aboard the ship, according to Airways officials, were:

G. J. Caldwell, also a commerce department employé.

Thomas Wakely of New York, employé of the National City bank, Santiago, Chile.

Oscar Miller, Ford Motor Export corporation.

Sam Oliver of Guayaquil, Ecuador.

Isidore Souza of Guayaquil.

P. W. Kumle, Cali, Colombia.

Ernest Wood, Pan-American-Grace employé.

Mrs. Amy Levering and her two children, Jimmy and Jessie. She is the wife of a Pan-American-Grace employé.

Stephen Dunn, pilot, a veteran of six years' experience on the route.

Lawrence Arnold Bickford, co-pilot.

Herman Diaz Cancego, steward.

The Santa Maria was a new plane put in service only within recent months. It was making a scheduled trip from Cali, Colombia, to Cristobal, a distance of about 450 miles, which ordinarily is covered in about three and a half hours. The plane had been due at Cristobal at 7:10 p. m. about twenty minutes before darkness falls.

It had lifted off the small river at

20 Seized in New War Against Quacks

RAIDING SQUADS HUNT 4 OTHER BOGUS DOCTORS

Accused Will Face Court Today.

PERSONAL EXPERIENCES.
A Tribune reporter, Virginia Gardner, spent several weeks investigating many of those arrested yesterday on quackery charges. Her stories describing from personal experience the promises, methods, and machines used by the docs will begin in Thursday's Tribune.

A new and intensive campaign to drive medical quacks out of Chicago resulted in the arrest late yesterday of twenty men and women on warants signed by investigators of the state department of registration and education. Deputy sherifs and inspectors for the state department were seeking four other persons accused in similar warants, which charge violation of the medical practice act.

All the arrests followed visits to the offices of the accused healers by investigators who posed as patients. The investigators found some of the offices to be elaborate suites, equipped with a variety of fancy devices. They received an assortment of strange diagnoses and treatments.

Uses Stop and Go Rays.

One self-styled doctor used red and green light rays; another provided blue and pink pills. One told the pretended patient's horoscope, and advised drinking of lemonade. Others prescribed and applied juniper berry tea, Holland gin, sticky black salve, and medication which was guaranteed to expel insects through the pores.

For these services, the investigators found, patients in many cases were required to pay high fees, and to take a series of treatments. Most of the men arrested were smooth talking, dapper fellows, flashily, if not elegantly, dressed.

Prey on Poor Residents.

"These men and women have been preying on the credulity and ignorance of the sick and in many cases the poorer residents of the city," declared John J. Hallihan, director of the state department, who has led four previous campaigns against quackery in the last two years. Mr. Hallihan arrived in Chicago during the day to confer with Attorney Philip Ringer, counsel for the department, and Assistant State's Attorney Jacob Sheer on prosecution of the cases.

The twenty-four warants were issued late in the day by Judge George N. Blatt of Joliet, sitting in the County court here. Violation of the medical practice act carries a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a $500 fine.

All those arrested will be arraigned at 10 o'clock this morning in the County court. Most of them spent the night in the county jail.

Summary of Evidence.

Those arrested, and a summary of the evidence the department will present against them:

Sidney B. Butler, 4554 Broadway—Two investigators said Butler prescribed medicine, gave treatments with an electric current machine, and jerked the backs and necks of the pretended patients. Butler is a licensed midwife, but in 1927 failed in two examinations for a chiropractic license. He patted the shoulder of a woman investigator and told her she had a local congestion caused by bones being out of place.

J. E. Weidenfeller, 1101 East 63d street—He is listed in the building director as Dr. Weidenfeler, naprapath, physio-therapy, surgical rays, colonic irrigations. An investigator posing as a patient said Weidenfeller applied hot towels, cold towels, a green light, and a red light for an ailment diagnosed as a toxic condition of the kidney and bowels.

August Dietz, 6141 Dorchester avenue—An investigator said Dietz told him he had arthritis and a weak left kidney, rubbed black salve on his back, prescribed juniper berry tea, Holland gin, and no bourbon, and cinchophen tablets. He made the diagnosis, the investigator said, after wetting his hands, placing them over his eyes, and gazing at the pretended patient.

Anna Zbieranek, 9139 Commercial avenue—A woman investigator said she was told that she had kidney trouble and possible psoriasis, a serious skin disease. For these ailments, the investigator said, the woman healer applied heat from a lavender hued lamp, snapped the bones in the pretended patient's back, and recommended 12 treatments for $20.

John McKee, 159 North State street—He is reported to have told a woman investigator that she had "ligititis" and an enlarged gall bladder, and to have treated her by manipulating her spine and shoulders, charging $5 for diagnosis and $1.50 for treatment.

Oscar Luginbuhl, 159 North State street—He pressed the vertebræ of a woman investigator, she said, and found that she was very toxic; then he pressed the area over her gall bladder and told her that in six treatments he could clear up her blood stream and correct her back.

William J. Elmore, 6334 Roosevelt road, Oak Park—A woman investigator said Elmore told her, before examination, that she would need a course of treatments costing $12. Later, she said, he told her pain in her arm was caused by pinched nerves, her sinuses were not clear, and the nerve supply was cut off from parts of her neck to the shoulder.

Joseph Castello, 2801 Harrison street—A man investigator said Castello told him he had neuralgia and neuritis, applied heat from lamps, told him to drink much lemonade, told him his horoscope, which showed that persons born on June 15 were subject to many pains and that they should not smoke.

Niketas D. Vlavianos, 1714 Madison street—He is listed as a naprapath and physio-therapist and director of the International Health institute, also Godly Science, Inc., at that address. Investigator said Vlavianos put a lamp on shoulder and back and said there was congestion caused by impurities in the body.

W. B. Halduk, 1954 Milwaukee avenue—Lists himself, according to the department, as director of the North Western Health Institute and told an investigator he had what the doctors would call neuralgia. He told the pretended patient: "I can't diagnose because they arrest people for that, but what's the difference? I can cure you."

L. N. Clyne, 2025 South Western avenue—Warant against him signed by John Dunaj, father of Edward Dunaj, 6 months old, who died June 1, the day after he was examined by Clyne. The father said Clyne told the baby's mother the child had fever and constipation, instructed the mother to give an enema and orange juice, used a stethoscope, and took the child's temperature. Clyne was working for a licensed physician at the Western avenue address, the department charges.

A. E. Romanoski, 1240 North Damen avenue—Investigator said Romanoski diagnosed him as having rheumatism, applied what he said was infra-red light, put ointment on his shoulders and back, and rubbed and pounded with his hands.

Joseph Baumwell, 35 South Dearborn street—Operates the Ross Health service and laboratories at that address, according to an investigator, and poses as Dr. B. M. Ross, who died several years ago.

Dr. E. Gottfrid Erikson, 7439 Cottage Grove avenue—An investigator said he operated a hand vibrator on his back after putting on cold cream and alcohol, and diagnosed his case as rheumatism.

James Johnson, colored, 3732 South State street—Convicted for practicing medicine without a license in 1935. He is in the county jail awaiting a hearing on a charge of arson. A new warant again accuses him of practicing medicine without a license.

Helena Modzelewska, 2718 West 23d street—She is a midwife, but when a man investigator called pretending illness she told him he had inflamed kidney and gall bladder, he said, and sold him some bright blue pills and later some bright pink ones.

Louis B. Vlasak, 3600 West 26th street—Practices as a chiropractor, the department charges, although he is not licensed.

J. William Tegerdine, 7509 Madison street, Forest Park—A woman investigator said he diagnosed her pretended illness as neuritis, caused by pinching of the nerves of the neck; charged her $15 for X-rays. The department charges he advertises as a chiropractor, although he is not licensed.

D. T. Draper, 1636 West 63d street, operator of the Chicago Health service, according to his stationary. A woman investigator said he told her: "Don't worry, honey, I want to cure you." Then, she said, he diagnosed her condition as a cold in her back and applied an electric massage machine.

Lester C. Gill, 12110 Ann street, Blue Island, president of an association of naprapaths. A woman investigator reported that he treated her for an imaginary ailment.

COLLAPSES, DIES ON VISIT.

Fotis Papakostas, 1061 Rosemont avenue, collapsed while visiting his cousin, Andrew Brisko, owner of a tavern at 8956 Commercial avenue, last night, and died within a few minutes of a heart attack.

beside the home and approached Mrs. Horst.

"Are you Mrs. Horst?" the man asked.

When she nodded, he went on: "Is this Donald?"

Seizes Boy and Runs.

When Mrs. Horst said it was, the man seized the youngster and started to run back the way he had come. Donald's mother sprang to her feet, screaming "They're taking my baby" and seized the man.

As he tried to beat her off, she grasped Donald and despite kicks and blows from both the man and the woman wrested the child from the man's grasp. The mother fell back upon the ground, holding Donald to her breast. Both kidnapers then sprang upon her and took the child from her.

Meanwhile the colored maid, Dorothy Meechem, had heard Mrs. Horst's screams and run from the kitchen to her assistance. But the kidnapers knocked her down and ran on.

Overtakes Kidnapers.

Mrs. Horst dashed around the other side of the house and overtook them as they were climbing into their car.

"Stop them!" she cried. "Get my baby! Get my baby!"

Again she seized the man, tearing his shirt.

Three neighbors ran to her assistance. They were Orin Link, 23, and Robert Link, 29, sons of William Link, vice president of the board of local improvements, who lives at 6223 McClellan avenue; and Joseph Immel Jr. of 6210 McClellan avenue, attorney and son of the former president of the Immel State bank.

Just as Immel ran up, the man kidnaper dealt Mrs. Horst a blow that sent her reeling back into Immel's arms. Orin Link leaped aboard the kidnapers' car as it sped away, but was knocked off before he had a chance to try to seize the child.

As the car sped off, neighbors said, the woman kidnaper shrieked at Mrs. Horst:

"He isn't your baby. He's mine."

Neighbors helped Mrs. Horst back into her home where she telephoned for her husband.

$5,000 Demanded.

Within a few minutes, Mrs. Horst said, the telephone rang. When she answered it a man's voice told her that her son was safe, but that she would have to pay $5,000 ransom.

Sergt. Edward Strandberg and Policemen Clarence Benson and George Schneider had hardly arrived from the Jefferson Park station to begin their investigation, in response to the belated alarm, when the telephone rang again.

Strandberg answered, attempting to disguise his voice as a woman's. Apparently discovering the deception, the man who was calling hung up the receiver.

The telephone call was traced to the west side.

Headquarters of the search was established in the Jefferson Park station by Joseph Goldberg, supervising police captain; John L. Sullivan, chief of detectives, and Herbert Burns, district captain.

The license number of the kidnap car, taken by neighbors, was quickly traced to Humberg. Brought to the station, he said he had lent it early in the afternoon to Ewert, a prospective customer.

Ewert Apartment Deserted.

Ewert brought it back about 6 p. m., Humberg said, and hurried off. When police arrived at the Ewert apartment on the second floor it was deserted. Neighbors said Ewert had returned there about 8 p. m. with a child the age of Donald and a young couple frequently seen about the apartment.

Soon the young couple walked down the alley, leading the boy, and Ewert drove off in a car they had never seen before.

About 8:30 Ewert came back in a new blue sedan he bought about a week ago. With him were his wife and his two daughters, one 10 and one 12. They all hurried out to the car a few minutes later with two suitcases and drove off.

Broadcast Stop Order.

Police broadcast a radio order that Ewert be stopped for questioning. The license number of his car was given as 1-165-504.

They said they believed he had gone to the Horst residence after leaving his own. Ewert's employer, Dr. Rose, is associated with Horst in the manufacture of devices for wireless interoffice communication.

Horst said Dr. Rose had left on Monday to visit relatives in Batavia, N. Y. Reached there by telephone early today, Dr. Rose said he had left Ewert to take care of his office during his absence.

Dr. Rose was unable to throw any light on the woman kidnaper's assertion that she and not Mrs. Horst was the mother of the child. He said he delivered Donald at a private residence.

Donald's birthplace had been one of the puzzling features of the case. Both Mr. and Mrs. Horst said originally that Donald was born in the Belmont hospital.

Later Horst said the child was born in the home of friends. Mrs. Horst stuck to the hospital story until informed of her husband's change in his, when she said that Donald had been born in the private home.

Horst Tells Past Troubles.

Horst told police many circumstances that might throw light upon the mystery. Some years ago he was threatened with deportation as an alien, he said, as a result of trouble with a girl who wanted him to marry her. This was before his marriage to Mrs. Horst.

Four years ago, he said, he was the target of two extortion demands for $800. He turned them over to police.

Two years ago, he said, he shot a bandit who eventually was sent to prison with a companion.

Horst said the kidnapers might have learned that he had $7,000 available for a down payment on a home he was planning to buy. During the questioning at the police station, he asked to be allowed to go home to get the money, which was concealed there. During the rest of the night he carried it in a lether bag.

Open hearings were held yesterday on the revised city license fee schedules designed to raise $2,750,000 needed to restore city employés to pre-depression pay levels as of next Oct. 1. Protests and suggestions for revision were received by the joint finance and license committee of the council. The program is to be whipped into final shape for presentation to the council tomorrow afternoon.

Some things we do not change

In some respects we confess we are extremely slow about making changes. For one thing we cling to the idea that we serve you best by making the supreme excellence of our food your foremost reason for dining at Henrici's. Then, too, we believe that now, as for many years, good, wholesome food is most enjoyable when served in an environment that is distinctive . . . distinguished and informally relaxing. We hold further the belief that you should be able to dine enjoyably and satisfactorily at a moderate cost.

AIRLINER FALLS INTO SEA; FEAR 14 ABOARD DEAD

Cali about 3:30 p. m. yesterday with full fuel tanks and headed north. For three hours the radio reports from the ship came in at regular intervals, indicating that its progress was satisfactory and engines functioning properly.

At 6:30 p. m. Pilot Dunn radioed that he was approaching Balboa, on the Pacific side of the isthmus, at an altitude of 5,000 feet and was flying above a solid undercast.

About that time one of the heavy rainstorms which are typical of this season in the Canal Zone moved close to France field at Cristobal. Meterorologists there estimated that the northern end of the field had less than 500 feet of visibility, but at the southern end there was 5,000 feet. Because of these peculiar conditions airway officials did not worry particularly when 7:10 came and passed and the Santa Maria did not appear.

Plane Sends Two More Messages.

At 7:38 p. m. Pilot Dunn radioed once more. The message said:

"Spiraling down through clouds and rain. Believe over the east coast."

This indicated that the ship had passed over Cristobal and continued out to sea on the Atlantic side. Radio operators at France field said the message came in with so much power that Dunn's plane must have been close by.

One minute later the message was repeated. This was the last word from the ship and it now is believed that the machine came in contact with the water while still in a spiral. This would cause the lowest wing to bury its float and probably shear away, immediately wrecking the entire plane.

Fly by Dead Reckoning.

It was learned that Pan-American-Grace pilots have been flying the route from Cali by dead reckoning only. In other words, they have not had the aid of radio range signals nor have they been aided by the radio direction finding apparatus which Pan-American Airways Systems machines use in making similar flights along the Atlantic coast of South America.

The intensive search for the missing ship began soon after its final radio report when radio dispatchers at France field were unable to reach it with their calls. The army and navy air squadrons and navy surface vessels were called into action, as were a number of planes owned by Pan-American-Grace corporation and Pan-American System proper.

The first definite word came, according to a navy communique, from the sighting of wreckage by Lieut. Adair. His message said: "Ship badly damaged, no signs of survivors."

The Santa Maria was a Sikorsky S-43 amphibian. Its wing spread was 86 feet and the boat hull was 51 feet long. The engines were 800 horsepower Hornets, and its cruising speed was 160 miles per hour.

WRIT VALIDATES EXTENSION OF TAX PENALTY DAY

An injunction restraining County Treasurer Horace G. Lindheimer from collecting penalties on tax bills until Sept. 1, the penalty extension date, was issued yesterday by Judge Walter T. Stanton of the Superior court. The board of appeals also was restrained by the writ from rejecting valuation complaints until after Oct. 1.

Taxpayers represented by Attorney D. S. Wentworth filed the suit, which was represented as a friendly action to validate by court order the treasurer's extension of the penalty date. The petition for the writ contended that the penalty date on tax payments should be 30 days after the last tax bill is mailed and that the last day on which to file appeals should be Oct. 1.

Citizens paid $1,153,710 on 11,622 tax bills yesterday and Lindheimer distributed $6,450,000 to the larger tax levying bodies, the city getting $2,000,000, the school board $3,000,000, the county and the sanitary district $400,000 each, the park board $600,000, and the forest preserve $50,000.

NEW LABORATORY SOUGHT TO SPEED SYPHILIS TESTS

WPA Asked to Help Meet Poll Needs.

To make room for expanded laboratory facilities in Chicago's campaign to stamp out syphilis, a proposal has been made to the Works Progress administration for rehabilitation of a building owned by the state at 1800 West Fillmore street. The project is sponsored by Dr. Frank Jirka, state director of health, and Dr. Oliver C. Wenger, specialist of the United States Public Health service.

It is planned to spend $27,550, of which $21,950 would come from the WPA, in turning the structure into a laboratory. This would handle the mass increase in blood tests to follow the poll now being taken of citizens willing to submit voluntarily to free and secret blood tests under their own physicians. The physicians will take the blood samples to be tested at the laboratories under code numbers, assuring secrecy.

50 More Clerks Aid Poll.

Fifty additional WPA clerks were assigned by Howard J. Hunter, assistant WPA administrator, yesterday to aid in mailing the ballots for the referendum. Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, chairman of Mayor Kelly's committee of 400 on control and elimination of syphilis and gonorrhea, says that by August 14 one million ballots will have been mailed.

The returns, Dr. Schmidt reports, show that 95 per cent of those voting are willing to submit to the free syphilis tests by their own physicians. The total vote tabulated yesterday was 18,719, of which the "Yes" votes were 17,784, and the "No" votes 935.

In addition, Dr. Schmidt reported that 4,398 of the 7,000 private physicians who received questionnaires had replied. Of these 969 said they were treating 2,862 syphilis cases.

As an aid in the crusade to eradicate syphilis and gonorrhea, a National Youth administration clinic has been established at the South Side Boys' club, 3947 South Michigan avenue, it was announced by William J. Campbell, state NYA director. It is headed by Dr. John W. Lawlah of Provident hospital.

NEW BLIND LANDING SYSTEM IS APPROVED BY FEDERAL BUREAU

The radio blind landing system described in specifications made public here Monday by commercial air line engineers is favored by the federal bureau of air commerce and by the federal radio commission, it became known yesterday. While formal approval has not yet been given, it is understood the air commerce bureau is prepared to install the needed ground equipment at 10 key airports throughout the country.

The radio commission has unofficially indicated that the ultra-high radio frequencies needed for the blind landing system will be allocated for this purpose when the time arrives for their use. At the meeting in Chicago at which the specifications were drawn was W. E. Jackson of the air commerce bureau, E. L. White of the radio commission, and Paul Goldsborough of Aeronautical Radio, Inc.

The air line engineers there were C. E. Smith of Eastern Air Lines, J. R. Cunningham of United Air Lines, Jack Franklin of Transcontinental & Western Air, and J. G. Flynn of American Air Lines.

PRIEST AND TWO OTHERS KILLED IN HEAD-ON CRASH

Two Critically Injured; Cars Overturn.

A Catholic priest, his uncle, and his housekeeper were killed and two others were injured critically in a collision yesterday between two automobiles at Torrence avenue and the Glenwood-Dyer road, three and a half miles east of Chicago Heights.

The dead are Father John Neff, 45 years old, of Amarillo, Tex.; John Harrington, 60, 8918 Burley avenue, and Miss Rose Pigenger, 50. They were riding with Father Neff's mother, Mrs. Helen Neff, 65, of Logansport, Ind. Mrs. Neff and C. E. Dillon, 45, 7417 Paxton avenue, driver of the other car, were taken to the St. James hospital, Chicago Heights.

Cars Overturn in Ditch.

Witnesses told police that the car in which Father Neff was riding failed to heed stop signs at Torrence avenue and crashed in the center of the intersection with Dillon's car, both machines overturning into the ditch.

While hurrying home from a swim in the lake, John Fowler, 14 years old, of 4547 Oakenwald avenue, was fatally injured by an automobile at 46th street and the Outer drive. He died in Chicago Memorial hospital. Pharmacist Frank B. Sontag, 24 years old, of the Great Lakes naval training station, was driving the car. The boy stepped into the path of his car, according to witnesses. With young Fowler was George Jacobson, 14, of 4465 Lake Park avenue.

Chicago police were asked yesterday to watch for the driver of a truckload of cattle, believed bound for the stockyards, which ran over three men, injuring two fatally, as they slept under a tree on the Lincoln highway at Rochelle, Ill.

Identified by Papers.

Apparently the truck driver dozed, allowing his cab to roll off the highway and over the men as they slumbered. The truck did not stop.

Henry Becker, 49, of Pana, who was seriously injured, said he met his companions on the road on their way to get jobs at a Rochelle canning factory. The two who died were identified by papers in their possession as William Farrell, 35, of Pana, and Joseph Moser, 21, of San Francisco.

Mrs. Mary McGrogan, 74 years old, 5926 Parnell avenue, was killed yesterday afternoon when the car in which she was riding was struck by a truck at West 111th street and Cicero avenue, Worth township. The truck was driven by Miss Margaret Putman, 18 years old, of Rankin, Ill., who was accompanied by her father, Henry, 45. Both escaped injury.

At 4 p. m. yesterday 606 persons had been killed in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. Of this number 470 were killed within the city limits, where 12,972 were injured in the same period.

BUYS POSTCARD; WRITES STICKUP NOTE; TAKES $75

While two park district policemen stood on the sidewalk near by, a well dressed youth robbed the cashier of a Walgreen drug store at 200 South Michigan avenue of $75 last evening. The robber entered and demanded a post card from Miss Lueloa Ehnebom, 547 Spring road, Elmhurst, the cashier.

On the back of the card he scribbled: "This is a stickup." He held his right hand in his pocket as if he grasped a revolver. Miss Ehnebom handed over the money and the robber strolled out of the store and jumped into a taxicab. Miss Ehnebom followed him to the street screaming for help, but the car was lost in the trafic.

More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

HANDBOOK RAIDS TO GO ON DESPITE JUDGE'S DECISION

Police Commissioner Allman announced yesterday that raids on handbooks would continue despite the announcement by Judge Eugene L. McGarry of the South State street court that he would issue no more warants for the arrest of operators of horse racing rooms. Commissioner Allman said it is the duty of the police to enforce the law and in his opinion, notwithstanding Judge McGarry's ruling, it is still illegal to take bets on horse races away from the race tracks.

Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court said that police had not asked Judge McGarry to issue a warant for over a week. He said that if Judge McGarry didn't want to issue such warants, he, as chief justice, could not force the associate judge to do so.

"But the police know that they can always get a warant from me," said Chief Justice Sonsteby. "If they can't get them elsewhere let them come to me."

Driver in Collision Loses Use of Car for Six Months

Albert Hartman, 50 years old, 6243 Eddy street, was fined $10 and ordered not to drive for six months yesterday by Judge Charles S. Dougherty of the Safety court. Hartman's automobile was involved in a collision with another at Fletcher street and Meade avenue last week after he had been drinking.

TATE CALLS SELF FRIEND OF POOR IN FINAL TRIAL PLEA

Persecuted, He Tells Jury in Chaser Case.

For nearly an hour yesterday, Attorney Murphy O. Tate spoke in his own behalf before a jury in the trial of three lawyers and a physician accused of an ambulance chasing racket.

His speech closed defense arguments. Assistant State's Attorney James A. Brown will close for the state today, after which Judge Peter Schwaba is expected to give the case to the jury.

Empty Street Car in Case.

On trial with Tate are his office associates, George Welch and Leo M. Tarpey, and Dr. Andrew B. Rotche. Their trial grew out of fraudulent claims filed against the Chicago Surface Lines by persons who represented themselves as passengers in a street car involved in a collision last Nov. 20 at Clark and 18th streets. The company later showed that the street car was empty at the time.

"This is the first time in my twenty-one years as a lawyer," declared the tall, graying attorney in his address to the jury, "that I have talked in my own behalf. Always I have talked for the other fellow, mostly the poor man against the corporation. That is why I am here today.

Calls Charges Illogical.

"If we are guilty of such petty rackets as described here we ought to be sent to an insane asylum. Mr. Tarpey, Mr. Welch and myself have a substantial law practice. Why should we fool with such petty stuff?"

Mr. Tate then attacked the testimony of the state's star witness, George L. West, a roly-poly ambulance chaser, who told of arranging the false claims with other chasers. His testimony implicated the lawyers

DEATH IN PLUNGE CALLED SUICIDE.

A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday at an inquest on the death of Mrs. Anna Fischer, 61 years old, 2717 South Keeler avenue, who leaped from a third floor window of the county hospital Sunday.

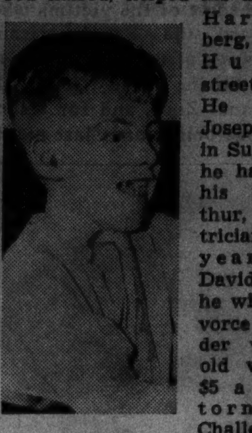
GORMAN PLANS FOUR NEW INDOOR TESTING LANES

Plans to build four indoor automobile testing lanes at a cost of approximately $40,000 each were announced yesterday by Edward J. Gorman, deputy vehicle commissioner. The new lanes will reduce the good weather congestion at the 18 present outdoor inspection stations and will permit establishment of a monthly system of stickers.

Under this system a number on the sticker would indicate the month in which the car was inspected. Inspections would be required every six months, but the twice a year congestion would be avoided by spreading the tests through both good and bad weather.

Mr. Gorman said attempts are being made to obtain funds to build the indoor lanes, one in the loop and one each on the north, south, and west sides.

Boy, 7, Helps His Mother in Her Plea for Divorce



Harold Herzberg.

Harold Herzberg, 7 years old and red haired, helped his mother, Mrs. Harriet Herzberg, 27, of 6355 Huntington street, yesterday. He told Judge Joseph B. David in Superior court he had not seen his father, Arthur, 30, an electrician, for two years. Judge David indicated he will sign a divorce decree under which Harold will receive $5 a week. Attorney E. E. Challenger represented Mrs. Herzberg, who said she was married in 1928 and deserted in 1930.

5 CENT CAB FARE RISE AGREED ON AS COMPROMISE

Companies Approve Offer of Aldermen.

The taxicab subcommittee of the city council's local transportation committee yesterday sought the agreement of the Yellow and Checker cab companies and their 4,800 drivers to a flat increase of 5 cents a ride in taxicab fares. In a joint proposal made last Tuesday the companies and drivers asked for an increase of 10 cents a ride.

The present fare is 15 cents for the first one-third of a mile when the taxi meter flag is pulled down and 10 cents for each additional two-thirds of a mile. The flag pull change is the only one proposed. It would be stepped up to 20 cents under the subcommittee's compromise proposal.

Agree to Compromise.

Benjamin Samuels, president of the Yellow company, said last night that in a meeting with the subcommittee later in the day the compromise was agreed to by Michael Sokol, Checker president; William Hanley of the Teamsters' International union—to which the cab drivers belong—and himself.

The subcommittee, of which Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th] is chairman, will meet today for final action on submission of the proposal to the council.

Plan Big Slash in Cabs.

The two companies and the drivers, Mr. Samuels said, also agreed to the subcommittee's recommendation that the number of cabs be reduced from 4,079 to 3,000. The companies' representatives originally suggested a cut to 3,600.

The committee, acting on the suggestion of Edward J. Gorman, deputy vehicle commissioner, proposed that the reduction to 3,600 be carried out at once, the remaining 600 to be taken out of service as the licenses of drivers are revoked for various violations.

Reduction of the number of taxis, it was pointed out, will not only relieve trafic congestion in the loop caused by cruising cabs, but will give the remaining drivers a chance to make better wages.

Need for More Pay Told.

The need for higher pay was given by Hanley of the teamsters' union as a reason for the raise in the fare. He said the drivers now make only $12 to $15 a week, but that they could make at least $4 a day if the requested increase were granted.

New York and Philadelphia have a rate of 20 cents for the first quarter and 5 cents for each additional quarter mile—or 35 cents for the first mile. If the compromise boost is put through the Chicago rate would be 30 cents for the first mile.

UPHOLD BROKER'S $310,000 LEGACY TO A DEAR FRIEND

Widow Gets but a Third of $500,000 Estate.

Judge John F. O'Connell yesterday upheld in Probate court a will in which the late Harry Nott, investment broker, left approximately $310,000 of his $500,000 estate to Mrs. Gwendoline Lawson Proctor, 5524 Dorchester avenue, who was described in the will as his dear friend.

In admitting the will, executed last Feb. 26, to probate, Judge O'Connell denied a petition filed by Attorney David J. A. Hayes, guardian ad litem for the widow, alleging that the document was illegal and seeking admission of a reciprocal will executed by Nott in 1895. In this will the widow, Mrs. Maude Bryant Nott, 67 years old, was left the entire estate. She is now an inmate of the Manteno state asylum near Kankakee. In the will admitted to probate the widow is left one-third of the estate, her dower right.

Seeks Alimony Arrearage.

In his petition, Attorney Hayes alleged that Nott owed his wife $17,100 in alimony arrearage under an order of $150 a month entered in 1921 when the wife obtained separate maintenance. He announced yesterday that in addition to appealing the ruling to the Circuit court he will file a claim in Probate court on the alimony arrearage as a prior lien on the estate.

Judge O'Connell ruled that insufficient evidence was presented to prove the validity of the 1895 will.

Mrs. Proctor, a piano teacher, was not in court but was represented by Attorney John W. Bissell. When proof of heirship was made recently —Nott died at the age of 70 on March 13—she said she had been a close friend of the broker for 13 years. But when asked whether he was in love with her, she replied:

"Good gracious, no! He was an old man, you know."

Divorced in 1927.

She was divorced from Alexander Irwin Proctor, wealthy Canadian airplane manufacturer, in 1927.

Nott was vice president and director of C. W. McNear & Co. He married Miss Maude Bryant in 1893. There were no children. Mrs. Nott became a well known artist and clubwoman and took courses in diplomacy and international law at the University of Chicago and Columbia university. She was committed to the Kankakee State hospital on Aug. 25, 1918, but was released April 12, 1919, through a habeas corpus writ. She was committed to Manteno on Sept. 9, 1927.

WINNIE RUTH JUDD'S PARENTS LOSE THEIR PLEA FOR HER PAROLE

Phoenix, Ariz., Aug. 3.—(AP)—The Arizona board of pardons and paroles today rejected the application of the Rev. and Mrs. H. J. McKinnel for a pardon for their daughter, Winnie Ruth Judd, convicted slayer of two women friends in 1931.

Mrs. Judd, once sentenced to death, now is a state insane asylum inmate. Should she be adjudged sane again, the death sentence would be carried out.

The parents contended Mrs. Judd acted in self defense when she killed Hedwig Samuelson and Agnes Ann Leroi. She sent their bodies to Los Angeles in a trunk.

50 Die, 3,000 Homeless as Floods Ravage Burma

RANGOON, Burma, Aug. 3.—(AP)—More than 50 persons were reported today to have been drowned and between 3,000 and 4,000 made homeless by floods.

PARALYSIS GONE, FURCH TO WRITE BOOK IN PRISON

Wheel Chair Is Absent as Slayer Is Sentenced.

His eyes sparkled. Occasionally he smiled. No prison pallor touched his cheeks, well rounded from jail fare. His walk was jaunty; his manner, brisk. There was no suggestion of a limp, and no bailif brought a wheel chair to assist him.

This yesterday was Frank J. Furch Jr., corn doctor, as he strode into the criminal courtroom of Judge Rudolph F. Desort. After his attorney, Samuel A. Hoffman, failed to argue a motion for a new trial, Judge Desort imposed a sentence of fourteen years in prison for the murder Feb. 26 of his second divorced wife, Mrs. Norma Schmidt.

A Different Dr. Furch.

This was the punishment imposed July 17 by a jury. But the manner of the foot specialist was distinctly different yesterday from his manner during the trial, when he sat huddled apathetically in a wheel chair or was carried to the witness stand by bailiffs.

The impression Attorney Hoffman then sought to convey was that of a man broken in body and spirit, a tortured soul, driven to madness by the mental cruelty of Mrs. Schmidt, whom he shot to death before firing a bullet into his own body.

This bullet, said Attorney Hoffman, had caused a partial paralysis. But yesterday Dr. Furch appeared fully recovered. In fact, since the trial, his attorney said, the chiropodist has gained fourteen pounds.

Granted Week's Delay.

Because Dr. Furch feels his trial was fair, Attorney Hoffman said, the new trial motion was not pressed. Judge Desort allowed Dr. Furch a week in which to arrange his business affairs before entering Joliet penitentiary, where he must remain at least eight and one-half years, the minimum sentence with time off for good behavior.

"Dr. Furch wants to thank God for giving him back his life," declared Attorney Hoffman, "and the jury for giving him back his freedom in a few years. He plans to spend his time in prison writing a text on chiropody.

"There is a dire need for such a book. John Bunyan—and no pun is intended—wrote his "Pilgrim's Progress" in prison. Marco Polo wrote his adventures in prison. And now—Dr. Furch will write a chiropody textbook in prison."

REBEL ADVANCE MENACES MADRID OUTLET TO SEA

Franco Takes Wide Area East of City.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SORIA, Spain, Aug. 3.—Eleven days of swift and successful offensive operations in the rugged Sierra region between Teruel and Cuenca, east of Madrid, have advanced the encircling movement of Gen. Francisco Franco's troops to a point where Gen. José Miaja and his loyalist militiamen are seriously in danger of being shut up in Madrid.

On the heels of his attack at Brunete, west of Madrid, Franco's forces have engaged in operations on the Teruel front, driving west from Albarracin. In this sparsely settled and mountainous district, Franco's forces have bulged out a salient large in area, the spearhead of which rests just west of the small hamlet of Salvacanete, about 38 miles east of Cuenca, on the road from Teruel to Cuenca.

Rebel Strategy Outlined.

The significance of this advance, which ranges from 30 to 55 miles in depth from the starting point of eleven days ago, will be seen if the way the front lines run around Madrid is kept in mind. From Toledo, about 21 miles southwest of Madrid, the line swerves slightly to the east to a point about straight south of Madrid. Then in a broad circle it swings around the Brunete front northward past Segovia, and then in a circle north of Guadalajara to Teruel.

With this topographical picture in mind, Franco's encircling movement and its strategical importance become apparent.

Roughly, his troops have advanced to a point half way down the road from Teruel to Cuenca. They apparently have met little resistance and they report the capture of large quantities of munitions, as well as hundreds of head of cattle which were left behind by the government forces, so swift was Franco's advance.

Loyalist Lifeline Menaced.

Should this advance be continued and Cuenca fall into Franco's hands, the situation, as may be seen, will be a grave one for the Madrid-Valencia side. From Cuenca, in fact, Franco's forces will be only about 30 miles from Olivares—juncture of the main road from Valencia toward Madrid—and the capture of this would cut communications between the two loyalist cities.

Moreover, the pincer movement between Teruel and Toledo is further closed in. This not only threatens to shut up Madrid and isolate its defenders from Barcelona and Valencia, but also puts Franco in position to strike out in some other unexpected direction.

Lack of reaction to the offensive in the Teruel sector indicates the drive was not expected by the loyalists to be so intense, while at the same time there is an indication that the Valencia government is having difficulties in rushing up reserves and supplies to the area.

Rebels Take Several Towns.

The salient which has been swung down from Albarracin is bounded roughly on the west by a line from Griegos to Salvacanete and on the east by the road from Salvacanete to Teruel.

This salient includes the towns of Toril, Masegoso, Arroyofrio, and Valdecuenca, all of which have fallen into Franco's hands in the last three days. Yesterday an announcement spoke of insurgent troops occupying new and important positions in Sierra Carbonera, in Vertice Mina and the hamlet of Bozas. Some of these mountain hamlets are so small they are not even noted in detailed maps.

The rebels claimed that they had struck a heavy blow at the government side with the capture of so many herds in meadows lying beneath the mountains through which Franco's troops are advancing. This reduces the food supply of the loyalists.

Opens Up New Front.

A serious situation for Valencia, unless some resistance is reorganized, is considered also to lie in the possibility that Franco could launch another offensive in his hammering campaign down from Teruel toward the sea at Sagunto, which is only 62 miles distant. Such a drive would present difficulties of terrain, but if successful it would cut Barcelona off from Valencia.

They said they were delighted with it.

DISCLOSES NAZIS WILL OPEN CAMP NEAR MILWAUKEE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Representative Samuel Dickstein [D., N. Y.] told the house today a Nazi camp would be opened near Milwaukee Sunday.

He read a telegram from an undisclosed informant asserting that Camp Hindenburg would be established 20 miles north of Milwaukee and that troops in uniform would be on hand.

Saying he never had heard of the place where the camp is to be located, Representative Thomas O'Malley [D., Wis.] asked for the name of the sender of the telegram.

Dickstein replied: "You are a little unreasonable to ask me to disclose a spy among their own people."

"It's all very mysterious," O'Malley retorted.

"It is mysterious," the New Yorker agreed.

BUND OFFICIALS FIRM ON PLAN OF GERMAN DAY

Kenosha, Wis., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Despite objections by trade unions, church groups, and others, the German-American Volksbund will continue with its plans to celebrate German day in Kenosha on Sunday. That was decided tonight at a meeting of bund leaders.

The city council was to act on Wednesday night on the protests against the use of Washington park for the coming celebration. Henry Heimsoth, president of the bund here, said if the park permit were revoked the celebration would be held in the German-American home, as plans have gone so far the program cannot be canceled. Delegations are expected from Sheboygan, Milwaukee, Racine, Waukegan, Chicago, Hammond, and South Bend.

RUSSIA TO ASK FRANCE TO JOIN CELEBRATION OF NAPOLEON BATTLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Aug. 3.—The soviet government is preparing to invite France to join Russia in a celebration of the 125th anniversary of the battle of Borodino, where, on Sept. 7, 1812, Napoleon's army crushed a valiant defense by the Russian forces under Gen. Kutusov.

The soviet general staf invited the French staf to send a delegation to Moscow to witness maneuvers on the old Borodino battle field. Russian troops will reënact the conflict.

Although Josef Poniatowski, famous Polish general who won the marshal's baton from Napoleon, took an important part in the historic engagement, Poland will not be invited to send a delegation to the soviet maneuvers.

GERMANY RAISES PAY TO PROMOTE 'EARLY MARRIAGE'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 3.—To induce German civil servants to marry young, salary increases ranging from $14 to $34 a month will be granted, Fritz Reinhardt, secretary of state in the ministry of finance, said today at the opening of the Herrsching Financial school at Ammer See, Bavaria.

The grants will be paid to those who marry in the first two years of their civil service careers. The law was made retrospective to April 1.

Reinhardt said that in four years 785,000 "marriage bonuses" have been granted by the state. The awards aggregated $190,000,000 and averaged $242 a couple. A total of 600,000 children have been born from these marriages, he said.

4 GOOD REASONS FOR CHOOSING AN Electric RANGE

Clean—Heat that's clean as sunshine. Keeps pots and pans sparkling like new and leaves your kitchen walls and curtains fresh and free from soot and grime. The range itself is as easy to clean as a china plate.

Cool—The kitchen stays as cool as any other room in the house, because complete insulation on oven top and bottom as well as all four sides keeps heat where it belongs... in the oven. It cooks the food and not the cook.

Convenient—You get increased cooking speed with a modern Electric Range. Foods cook better in less time. ... Automatic timers do the tedious watching for you ... allowing more leisure hours for rest and recreation ... cooking becomes carefree ... simple ... effortless.

Cheap—Hundreds of Chicago homes find electric cooking actually cheap to have. New low electric rates have brought the cost of electric cooking down to a point where most families with average requirements pay only $2 to $2.50 a month. Compare this with your present cost—then consider the extra convenience that this new way affords. You'll discover for yourself that now electric cooking is really cheap!

WHAT'S YOUR SYSTEM FOR GETTING PROSPECTS?

If prospects for real estate wore identifying badges, selling real estate would be easier

As much as people may hanker to buy, they still insist on shielding themselves from solicitations.

There is a method, however, by which prospects for real estate can be induced to reveal themselves. Describe the property you want to sell in a medium which has their attention and confidence.

Right now most of the people in this community to whom real estate will be sold during the next few months are following the offers in the Chicago Tribune want ad section.

Prospective buyers of every kind of merchandise naturally shop the biggest marketplace. Today, as during each of the past twenty years, the Tribune prints more real estate for sale want advertising than any other Chicago newspaper.

When you place your advertising in the Tribune, you can cut down the time spent hunting prospects and devote more time to closing sales.

Ask a Tribune representative to show you how a schedule of Tribune want advertising can develop the leads which you can develop into profits. Call Superior 0100—

CHINA'S DICTATOR TO HURL HUGE ARMY AT JAPAN

Powerful Military Chiefs Map Campaign.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 4 [Wednesday].—China today prepared to hurl hundreds of thousands of troops against Japan's Asiatic army in a desperate attempt to stop the invaders on their march through North China.

At Nanking, the capital, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, dictator of China and commander-in-chief of its army, conferred with the nation's military leaders to map a defense program against Japanese aggression.

Powerful provincial generals from all over China assembled to hear Chiang make a plea for a united stand against Japan, which has smashed Chinese resistance in the Peiping-Tientsin area.

Offers 100,000 Red Troops.

Japanese sources said Chow En-lai, a representative of 100,000 communist troops, offered to lead his soldiers against the Japanese and act as an advance guard for a major offensive against Nippon's army.

Present at the conference with Chiang were the so-called model governor, Yen Hsi-shan, of Shansi province, which adjoins Hopei province and is included in the Japanese program for creation of an independent federation of five Chinese provinces; Yu Han-mou, governor of Kwangtung province in the south, and Ho Chien, governor of Honan province. Han Fu-chu, governor of Shantaung province, which the Japanese long have coveted, conferred with Chiang at Nanking yesterday.

Ready to Sever Relations.

Chiang, it was said, will convoke an emergency national defense conference on Friday.

That China is determined to fight Japan to the last ditch was indicated by reports that nation-wide military conscription has been put into operation.

Japanese papers in Shanghai asserted that the Nanking legislature, headed by Sun Fo, son of the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Chinese republic, had drafted a declaration severing relations with Japan. The papers said the declaration is awaiting the approval of the central political council.

Chinese papers in the capital published warnings against disclosure of military secrets, and appealed to the public to "place absolute confidence in the government."

Civilians Flee Capital.

Fears that Japanese planes may raid Nanking led the government to advise officials to send their wives and children to the hinterland. It was reported that women employés of the government were dismissed, resulting in a general exodus of civilians from the capital.

Meanwhile Chiang's troops were reported to be moving northward from Paotingfu, former capital of Hopei province, while the Japanese pushed southward to engage the Chinese in battle.

The Japanese announced a brigade commanded by Maj. Gen. Torashimo Kawabe had reached a point 35 miles south of Peiping and more than half way to the Koapeitin area, where Nanking's troops are expected to make a stand to stop the Japanese drive southward. Japanese claimed the capture of Liuliho, 30 miles north of Kaopeitin on the Peiping-Hankow railway.

Japanese planes continued to bomb Paotingfu. It was raided three times yesterday. Planes also bombed various towns on the Tientsin-Nanking railway north of Tsinanfu, capital of Shantung province. The Chinese announced they shot down a Japanese plane north of Liuliho and that the pilot and his machine gunner were killed.

A report from Paotingfu said the Japanese killed between 200 and 300 residents in the villages Huangtsun, Langfang, and Lutai on charges they had tampered with Japanese communications. The Japanese seized the villages. However, the main campaign shifted northwestward along the Peiping-Suiyuan railway. Japanese headquarters in Tientsin issued a communique which said: "Japanese planes successfully bombed three Chinese military trains moving southeast in Chahar province."

The Japanese said Chinese troops alighting from one bombed train were machine gunned "with satisfactory results."

Nankow is regarded as the gateway to Mongolia. Hence occupation by the Japanese would open the way for a drive in the direction of Urga or Ulan Bator, capital of the Outer Mongolian republic, and the Lake Baikal district in the heart of Siberia. Outer Mongolia is protected by soviet Russia.

Tientsin Terrorized City.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TIENTSIN, Aug. 4 [Wednesday].—[By courier to Shanghai to avoid censor.]—While the British and French concessions of this city are free of Japanese military domination, the remainder of the metropolis of 1,500,000 persons is completely under Japanese control.

Japanese gendarmes, reservists, volunteers, and plain clothes men are shadowing foreigners, especially newspaper men, educators, and officials. Chinese residents are terrorized.

The Japanese occupation of the former German concession, in which most of the American residents and hundreds of other foreigners reside, has added to the uneasiness, since the Japanese took action despite a protest by the foreign consular body.

STATE WILL ASK SANITY TRIAL FOR RELEASED KILLER

Assistant State's Attorney Richard Austin today will ask Judge Rudolph F. Desort of the Criminal court to impanel a jury to test the sanity of George Kokinakis, alias Kay, 62 years old, who was freed July 14 from the Illinois Security hospital at Menard through habeas corpus proceedings in Randolph county. Kokinakis was found insane after the murder of James L. Munger, his business partner, in 1932. Dr. Harry Hoffman of the Criminal court behavior clinic, who examined Kokinakis in the county jail after he was taken into custody recently, said yesterday he still is insane.

RUSSIAN WORKERS WHO DELAY HARVEST WILL BE PUNISHED

MOSCOW, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Although the grain harvest is reaching record proportions, a number of workers will be tried and severely punished for irregular wheat collections, Pravda, official communist party organ, reported today.

Charged with mixing Ukrainian, Crimean, and other types of wheat, those singled out for punishment will serve as a warning to other workers in the collection service, the paper stated.

Grocer and Coal Dealer Fined for Short Weight

Judge Joseph A. Graber of the Municipal court yesterday fined Sam Vallos, 11363 South Michigan avenue, a food merchant, and the Norris Ward Coal company, 59 East Van Buren street, $25 each for short weight. Hans von Rhein, operator of a filling station at 3200 North Western avenue, was fined $10 for failure to prime his pump.

TOKIO WAR OFFICE TYPISTS RETURN TO KIMONO DRESS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Aug. 3. — Fifty girls employed as typists in the war office doffed western attire today and appeared in kimonos, the traditional national costume, as a result of a hint they should act more like true Japanese maids at this time of emergency.

Most of the girls have been fashionably dressed. They had permanent waves and used lipstick. They appeared "more like chorus girls than typists" according to one newspaper.

The girls were reminded by the war office that, charming as they might be in western attire, the tradition of the war office is simplicity and strength. Perhaps kimonos would be more greatly appreciated it was suggested. All the girls heeded the suggestion.

Baby in Joliet Weighs 2 Pounds 11 Ounces

A girl weighing 2 pounds 11 ounces was born yesterday to Mrs. Phyllis Young, wife of Dr. J. D. Young, 204 Wenberg street, Joliet, in St. Joseph's hospital of that city. The baby, placed in an incubator, was given a good chance to survive.

WEEK OLD BABY BITTEN BY RATS DIES IN HOSPITAL

Louis Carter, one week old, died in the Bobs Roberts hospital of the University of Chicago medical clinic yesterday of an infection which developed from rat bites suffered several days ago. The infant was bitten in the basement apartment of his parents, Lon and Margaret Carter, at 6054 Kenwood avenue. The building is condemned and overrun with rats, they said. Carter is a WPA worker.

DIES OF INJURIES AT 88.

Moses Mackay, 88 years old, died in the county hospital yesterday from injuries suffered in a fall in the home of his son, Robert, 704 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park.

WPA Actress Swallows Sleeping Potion in Station

Miss Jane Wilday, 30 years old, of Jacksonville, Ill., a former WPA actress in New York, swallowed a sleeping potion in the waiting room of Union station last night in an apparent effort to end her life. She was taken to County hospital, where physicians said she was in no immediate danger. In her purse police found railway tickets showing she was on her way home from New York. Also in the purse was an incoherent suicide note addressed to her mother. A WPA identification card, dated Dec. 13, 1935, assigned the young woman to work in a New York theater project.

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

SERVICE UP TO STANDARD

By CALEB

A YOUNG Chicago executive came to an acquaintance of his in our store. He said, "I have a new little house. It is built entirely of cypress. I want it completely furnished—and in keeping. I want chairs and davenports—good comfortable things, that invite you to sit—and to put up your feet. I don't want to deal with a lot of different sales persons and departments. Can't someone go all through the store with me and have just as much patience while I pick out a can opener as while I pick out a bed?"

"Of course. I will get someone at once who can work with you."

"Let me see, it is Tuesday, isn't it?" said the customer, and without batting an eye, added, "I want to move in Friday!"

Recently we have received a letter from this customer in which he says, "It was Tuesday when I called you and I wanted to move in Friday, but I couldn't spend much time in the store at any one stretch.

"The man who was working with me and I cleaned up the job in three two-hour sessions Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. We covered the eighth and ninth floors for furniture, draperies, and housewares, and the third floor for floor coverings. We also visited the second floor for bedding.

"I asked that all merchandise be assembled and delivered to the house. I asked that carpets be laid and the furniture set up, post-haste.

"Thursday afternoon with our selections about completed, I said, 'I want to cook dinner in my fully furnished house tomorrow night.' That is actually the impossible request I made. It was done! By a remarkable and almost miraculous co-ordination and collaboration on the part of your people . . . that entire collection of merchandise was ready for me at the appointed hour."

Dinner Friday evening was served in a house equipped even with a trowel, a couple of rakes, a spade—and the achievement of one of this customer's lifetime ambitions, more ashtrays around than his guests would ever really need!

•

THIS is an instance of everything working out as it is our ambition and desire to have things work out. It is because untoward and disappointing things are the exception that we insist on correcting them to the satisfaction of our customers. No business whose philosophy permits general and frequent "misdemeanors of service" could afford the broad philosophy of assuring its customers of ultimate satisfaction.

BRITAIN ENDS BAN ON ROYAL VISITS TO DUKE, WALLY

Aunt, Uncle and Brother to See Ex-King Soon.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The duke and duchess of Windsor are expected to receive at least two visits from members of the British royal family in the near future. The duke and duchess are living at Wasserleonburg, Austria.

Princess Alice, countess of Athlone, and the earl of Athlone, Queen Mother Mary's brother, left today for a vacation, which includes a visit to the duke, who is former King Edward VIII. of Great Britain, and his bride, the former Mrs. Wallis Warfield [Simpson].

Prince Alice and the earl of Athlone are the duke's favorite aunt and uncle.

Kent Also Plans Visit.

The duke of Kent, Windsor's youngest brother, insists that his vacation on the continent must include a visit to the duke and duchess of Windsor.

The last effort by the duke of Kent to visit Edward, when the exile was living in Enzesfeld castle, in Austria, was forbidden by Stanley Baldwin, then prime minister. Now, however, the newlyweds apparently stand better with the powers that be, and it is understood the visits of members of the royal family will be allowed.

Another sign of change was an announcement in the Star tonight that it will publish tomorrow the first of two articles on the former Mrs. Simpson.

At the end of May the Star announced it would publish two articles by Helena Normanton, a London barrister, on her friend, Mrs. Simpson, including an interview. A protest by the duke of Windsor's solicitors stopped the articles.

Tonight's announcement said one of the two articles to be published "includes some quotations from Mrs. Helena Normanton's record of meetings with Mrs. Warfield at the Château de Cande."

"The Star withheld publication out of deference to the wishes of the duke of Windsor and Mrs. Warfield, who were anxious for a suspension of discussion at the time of their wedding," the newspaper said in explanation of the nonappearance of the earlier series.

Duke Gives Fascist Salute.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VENICE, Italy, Aug. 3.—Smiling as gayly as on the day of their marriage, the duke and duchess of Windsor left Venice this evening for Wasserleonburg castle, Austria.

During their short vacation here the couple was given a warm reception. They were fussed over by local officials, adopted by the Italian people as idols, and, most important of all, have been recognized by the conservative Italian aristocracy.

How warmly Edward appreciates this hospitality was shown today when he left his hotel and again before embarking in a motorboat, when he answered salutes by raising his right arm in an authentic Roman salute.

From a social point of view the climax of the Windsors' stay was the reception given in their honor last night by Count Volpi after they had attended the play, "Romeo and Juliet." Not only high ranking Fascists were there, but the snootiest elements of Italian aristocracy also were represented. This was particularly interesting as at the time of his abdication the Italian press criticized Edward and hurled vituperation at Wally.

EMILIE DIONNE ILL; ISOLATE HER FROM FOUR LIVELY SISTERS

Emilie Dionne.

CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Emilie Dionne was getting along nicely, Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe reported tonight after visiting the ailing quintuplet. Emilie is suffering from a respiratory infection but her illness is light, Dr. Dafoe said.

However, Dr. Dafoe took the precaution of having Dr. Alan Brown, Toronto child specialist, examine her. He confirmed Dr. Dafoe's diagnosis. The two physicians examined members of the hospital staf and, finding them free from infection, decided Emilie had caught her sore throat from a visitor.

Emilie has been isolated from her lively sisters, occupying a separate room which only her special nurse enters. But she was little worse off than her sisters, because the other four quints were prevented by rain from playing in their playground.

GEORGE VI. TAKES TO THE AIR; FIRST FLIGHT AS KING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 3.—King George VI. of Great Britain today made his first flight since he mounted the throne. Riding in a new special Airspeed Envoy, he visited Southwold boys' camp, which he founded. Tonight he left by train with his family for a vacation at Balmoral castle, Scotland.

A crowded day included for the king a lunch with the camp's 400 boys and participation in a songfest afterward. Half of the boys come from exclusive schools, and the other half from working class families, to mingle in the vacation camp which the king—then duke of York—founded in 1921.

MASKED RAIDERS LOOT HOME OF ULSTER OFFICIAL

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Three masked raiders ransacked the home of Sir Dawson Bates, minister of foreign affairs, and police tonight blamed Irish Independence Extremists. The raiders apparently sought documents detailing the terrorism which broke out when King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain visited northern Ireland last week.

The three masked men broke into Bates' Portruch home last night while he was in Belfast, slugged his servants with revolvers, pulled out desk drawers and spilled their contents.

"Troubles never come singly." Perhaps your financial worries and bills have piled up until you don't know how to meet them. . . .

This Society was formed to help people in that fix. Its purpose is to make money available instantly and at low interest rates.

We make loans on the collateral of jewelry, watches, diamonds, silverware. Such a loan is every bit as dignified and honorable as a bank loan made against the collateral of bonds or stocks. It spares you the embarrassment of borrowing from friends.

The interest on any loan from us, whether for $1 or $5,000, will be only 1% a month. There are no fees, fines or other charges of any kind whatsoever. The property you leave with the Society will be as safe as in a lock-box of your own.

This Society was founded in 1899 by the Merchants Club as a service to the public. It is operated today with that same aim, under the direction of distinguished citizens of Chicago who serve without pay.

If and when you need funds remember the name, FIRST State Pawners Society—the only institution in Chicago chartered under the Special State Pawners Law, which positively limits interest rates to 1% a month on ALL loans.

While traffic authorities are planning "the City of Tomorrow," Shell engineers have developed a fuel, Super-Shell, to meet today's driving problem today.

Automotive engineers refer to Super-Shell as "motor-digestible," so quickly and completely is its energy changed into power . . . at all motor speeds.

PRESIDENT GIVES IN TO SENATE ON COURT VACANCY

Borah Casts Doubt on Its Existence.

Ariz.], chairman of the judiciary committee, conceded that Justice Van Devanter, who retired on June 2, remains a member of the court, but insisted that the President is entitled to appoint his successor.

"The President certainly cannot fill a post until there is a vacancy," retorted Borah, "and I challenge any senator to show a vacancy now."

Presents Hypothetical Case.

"Suppose," countered Ashurst, "all members of the Supreme court should become insane. Congress, of course, would grant them retirement privileges and the President would appoint a new court. Would the senator from Idaho object?"

"Congress," replied Borah, "could not get rid of nine insane men except through impeachment, and that's what they did in the days when they observed the constitution."

Borah pointed out that "all we need to do is to pass a law providing that upon resignation a justice shall receive full pay the remainder of his life."

"Let's not have retired justices walking around hovering between the status of an associate justice and a Circuit judge and nobody knowing what their duties are," Borah added.

"Would the senator impeach Justice Van Devanter if he refused to serve when and if called upon after retirement?" asked Ashurst.

"Of course," answered Borah.

"Suppose the President nominated and the senate confirmed another justice," Ashurst went on. "Then we would have 10 justices, wouldn't we?"

"Yes," replied Borah, "but the law says the Supreme court shall consist of a chief justice and eight associate justices."

Supported by Johnson.

Senator Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.] said that the recent decision in Booth vs. the United States conclusively supports the Borah contention.

"In that case," said Johnson, "the Supreme court unanimously held that a retiring judge does not lose his status as a judge."

Borah said that the precedents unquestionably support the power of the President to appoint a Supreme court member in a recess of congress even if the vacancy occurred when congress was in session.

"But," he went on, "those precedents seem to me to be contrary to the plain intent of the constitution. When you study the precedents you find so much politics involved that you have little respect for the precedents."

PRESIDENT ASKS THREE CHANGES IN WAGES BILL

Accepts Green's Demands After Parley.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt this afternoon declared himself as favoring in principle three amendments to the wage and hour bill proposed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Green was called in to present his views after the house labor committee postponed consideration of the legislation at the request of the President.

Promised House Changes.

In enlisting the federation's aid in the senate last week the President induced Green to advocate the passage of the senate bill only on condition that it would be amended in the house. Green indicated that if labor does not get what it wants in the house he will seek to junk the entire program.

The three amendments he carried to the White House this afternoon were:

1. A clarification of the bill to insure against setting aside collective bargaining agreements.

2. Prohibition of the fixing of minimum wage rates lower than minimums prevailing through collective bargaining in a community.

3. Elimination of the section which amends labor standards set up in the Walsh-Healy act which provides that contractors, bidding for federal contracts, must meet the labor requirements and standards of the old NRA.

Then A. F. of L. Will Back It.

Green said that if the amendments are embodied in the senate bill, labor will be for the legislation. Asked what action he would take if the bill was passed by the house without his suggested amendments, Green said:

"We don't want to make any threats."

On Capitol hill Mrs. Mary T. Norton [D., N. J.], chairman of the house labor committee, said consideration of the bill was postponed at the request of the President. Later Green assumed responsibility for the delay, saying he asked for the postponement so that he could take up amendments.

SENATE DAWDLES ALONG ANOTHER DAY WITH HOUSING BILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Much to the discomfiture of President Roosevelt's new senate majority leader, Alben W. Barkley, the senate today dawdled through another day of debate on the Wagner housing bill without coming to a vote on passage.

The housing bill is the second of the five measures desired by Mr. Roosevelt before adjournment and the senate's refusal to hasten its usual leisurely pace is inspiring dismay in the great majority in both houses which wishes to clean up business and go home.

Barkley finally obtained unanimous consent of the senate to limit debate tomorrow to ten minutes per senator on the bill and fifteen minutes per senator on amendments. Tonight he issued a prediction that the bill would be passed tomorrow, a prediction repeated for the third successive night.

Nor was any progress made toward an early adjournment in the house, where none of the five "must" measures has even reached the floor. Only one, sugar quota legislation, is slated for action this week.

Tommy Manville's Fourth Wife Sues for a Million

New York, Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Marcelle Edwards, fourth wife of Tommy Manville, the asbestos heir, today notified him through her attorneys that she wanted one-half of the $2,000,000 trust fund left him by his father, the late Thomas Franklin Manville Sr. Her attorneys revealed that the trustees of the trust fund had filed an accounting, leaving her out. She has filed an objection in Surrogate court.

DEMOCRATS TRY NEW SALES IDEA TO FILL COFFERS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—(AP)—The Democratic national committee sought to fill its depleted cash drawer today by offering bound stenographic reports of the Philadelphia national convention for sale at $5 a volume.

Profits from sales will go into the party's treasury Charles Michelson, director of national committee publicity, said. Last June 1 the party had a deficit of $216,000.

Michelson said total sales of the convention reports probably would reach only $5,000, not enough to take the committee out of the red.

Similar reports covering the 1932 national convention at Chicago were sold between paper covers at $2.50 he said. Sales were not heavy, however, because the volumes were bought principally by delegates and alternates who had attended the convention. The current issue will be distributed exclusively from headquarters here.

U. S. STANDS ON REFUSAL TO ADD PENSIONS CASH

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Congressman Noah Mason and other Illinois Republican representatives were told by Director Frank Bane of the social security board today that no old age assistance grants will be made to the state until it has cleaned up its method of administering the pension system.

"We were told by Mr. Bane," said Mason, "that the present trouble did not come from a lack of legislation but from the administrative setup in the state."

A. L. Bowen, Illinois director of public welfare, also conferred with Bane, but there was no indication that any agreement had been reached for resumption of payments to the state.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE TYPIFIES PIONEER EDUCATION DRIVE

Its History Is Picture of Struggle for Freedom.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Jacksonville, Ill., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—"Old Illinois" college, now entering its 108th year, typifies in many ways the westward adventure in education, led and motivated by religion, which marked the early part of the last century and which comes to its maturity and great testing in this age.

Whether these roots are of oak, whether the centralizing Christian philosophy is to be maintained as a guiding force, or whether this and similar small liberal arts colleges will go down before economic pressure, state controled education, or the new emphasis on scientific and technical training, is the problem presented in the educational field today.

It becomes more than education, for Illinois college, in its foundation, history, and development, presents a picture of the struggles and the changing phases of American civilization as its center has moved westward. It has taken its part in the removal of denominational dictatorship in the colleges, in the fight for academic freedom, in the great struggle for human freedom. In a sense it becomes the republic itself seeking a new expression of the principles upon which it is founded.

Presidents Leave Mark.

Presidents are important in the college organism, and it is the personality of a few men—only eight in more than a hundred years—that has marked this institution. At present Illinois is in an interim period, between the resignation of its eighth president, H. C. Jacquith, and the appointment of a new man. The trustees have under consideration the naming of H. Gary Hudson, now on the faculty of Sweetbriar college, Virginia, a graduate of James Millikan university, a doctor of philosophy at the University of Chicago, and former Rhodes scholar.

It was Julian M. Sturtevant, one of the famous "Yale band" of seven young ministers who gave their lives to establishing religion and education in the west, and who became the second president of the college, who put the deepest mark upon this college. He guided it for thirty-two years, through times of such poverty that some days "the children's dinner consisted only of bread crums in water which had been sweetened with molasses."

Vital Factors Linked.

In his inaugural he attempted to show the intimate connection between a nation's ideals and its system of liberal education, the important part that religion had played in higher education. Charles Henry Rammelkamp, president of Illinois for twenty-seven years, who died soon after its centenary celebration, says in his history of the college:

"He [Sturtevant] branded as absurd the theory that 'democracy can only find its complete realization and enjoy its golden age by reducing all men to the same intellectual level and giving to all individuals an exact equality of condition and influence.'

"A nation must have leaders, and these leaders must have the opportunity of securing a liberal education. Perhaps the strongest feature of the address was his appeal for the right of independent judgment and for the fearless search for truth in our colleges."

As early as 1857 Sturtevant maintained that ecclesiastical control of higher education was as dangerous as political control.

Against Denominationalism.

"The spirit and principle of denominationalism must be abjured in our colleges," he said. "We must found them on a broad and comprehensive platform of evangelical faith, sustain them as Christians, not as sectarians. We must esteem them as precious, not as aggrandizing denominations, but as blessings to our country, to mankind, and to the distant future."

That "distant future" has come and the problem changes. It comes to the question as to whether there is to be any religious emphasis at all in college education. The state can give none. The colleges are chartered to do so. The state constantly takes in, however, a wider area of education. State teacher colleges and state junior colleges lessen the field for the old liberal arts colleges. What is left to these, and what alone is left, is the supreme value of the steadily indoctrinated Christian viewpoint.

"No society can grow, nor long live," said Sturtevant, "that has not thinkers, independent thinkers, seers, and that is not governed by them. Such men must carry their own credentials with them; they must wait for the indorsement of no hierarchy; they must be sustained by no authority but the authority of truth and righteousness and God. The function of a college is to aid in raising up such men and qualifying them for high office."

Instruction in Illinois began in "Old Beecher" hall in 1830 with nine students. Its living graduates now number 3,500. Its seal is interpreted as "the word of God is the only sure foundation of science, true liberty and religion, the three pillars of the social system, as these alone can maintain inviolate our laws and rights."

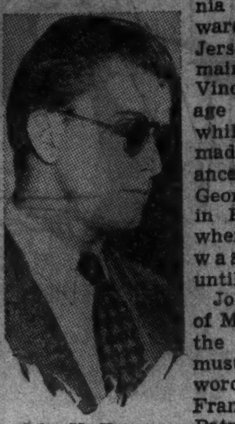
Graduates Are Leaders.

Illinois' first diploma was issued to Richard Yates, who became the state's war governor. The first generation of students included William H. Herndon, who became the law partner of Abraham Lincoln; Robert W. Patterson, the first president of Lake Forest college; George S. Park, founder of Park college; William Curtiss, an early president of Knox college, and Stephen Hempstead, the second governor of Iowa.

The Rev. Edward Beecher, brother of Henry Ward Beecher, first president of the college, wrote the platform of the state anti-slavery society and helped Elijah P. Lovejoy guard his press in the warehouse at Alton the night before Lovejoy was shot.

Among later alumni of national fame was William Jennings Bryan, who was chairman of the board of trustees for a number of years until he broke with President Rammelkamp over the question of accepting what he called "tainted money" from Rockefeller and Carnegie.

FLYING FATHER GOES TO COURT, BUT GIRL STAYS IN ORPHANAGE



John M. Hayes.

Patricia Ann Hayes, whose father allegedly kidnaped her from California and flew toward his New Jersey home, remained in St. Vincent's orphanage yesterday while her father made an appearance before Judge George B. Weiss in Felony court, where his case was continued until Aug. 12.

John M. Hayes of Mahwah, N. J., the father, now must wait for word from San Francisco, where Patricia Ann's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Charlotte E. Pendergast, has said that she would fight for the child and asked that he be held in Chicago on a fugitive warant charging child stealing. Hayes contends he is his daughter's legal guardian and said he will fight extradition should such a move be made by Mrs. Pendergast. Patricia Ann is 2½ years old.

STEAK 75 CENTS A POUND.

The effect that the crop control schemes have had upon Chicago's leading industry was disclosed in a report published in THE TRIBUNE on Tuesday. Receipts of live stock during the last month were the smallest in 59 years. Not since 1878, when the population of Chicago was less than a half million, have the operations been on such a small scale at Chicago's renowned meat packing plants.

The reason for the low state of activity at the yards was shown in a story published on the financial page last Saturday. Foreign pork and beef are being received in this country at the rate of about a million pounds a day. Some of it is on the hoof, but in large part it is already dressed when it is brought here. Thus employés in foreign meat packing establishments have the work Chicago employés used to do.

If this were a result of the free play of competition, and if it meant cheaper living costs for the American people, considerable could be said for the redistribution of work opportunities. But that is not true. Steak is selling for as much as 75 cents a pound, and ham is the highest in a long period of years. Meat is high because of the action taken by the government in destroying a large number of cattle and hogs, and because the government followed the practice for a period of years of paying farmers not to raise an adequate amount of live stock feed.

As the government must itself admit, it takes time to replace the breeding stock, which is the foundation of the annual meat supply. And it takes more time to raise and fatten the progeny.

Years must elapse before the breeding stock of the country is restored to the volume which existed before the government bought and butchered more than 8,000,000 cattle, many of them cows, which could have mothered the steers that would now be reaching the market.

And several years at least must elapse before the swine herds have been increased to the proportions which existed when the government bought 6 million pigs and expectant mother sows and threw the meat away.

The department of agriculture has repeatedly observed that meat production depends in the long run on the supply of feed. The persistent curtailment of feed crops by Secretary Wallace and his aids has combined with the wasteful destruction of meat to produce the famine prices which now exist and which are likely to persist.

That blundering with crop control and the limitation of feed crops may not work in the interest of the farmers is being demonstrated at present. The crop of corn which is now growing in the fields is quoted in the market for December delivery at central markets at 65 cents per bushel. That is 20 cents below last year's price. Corn is chiefly used in producing meat. The raw material and the finished product might be expected to fluctuate together. But while meat is substantially higher than last year, and in the opinion of some experts is going higher, corn is substantially lower than last year, and in the opinion of some is going lower. The reason for this disparity is that, because of the curtailment of crops and live stock destruction in preceding years under government supervision, there is not enough live stock on the farms to consume the crops which will soon be ready for market.

Last year, under government control, there was not enough corn produced to feed even our limited herds, and corn had to be brought to the corn belt from Argentina. This year there is not enough live stock to eat all the corn, and the grain will go begging. Argentina won't reciprocate by taking it.

If the government had not interfered it is clear that at least during this year corn farmers would get higher prices for their grain, consumers could buy steak at lower prices, and packing house employés would have more work to do. The government has conducted a study which established that cattle and hog farmers would have prospered more from a larger production than that of recent years. The only ones who will benefit from agricultural adjustment this year are those who draw salaries for promoting it and administering it.

HAROLD VANDERBILT'S ENDEAVORS.

Harold Vanderbilt would not have spent all the money he has spent in defending America's cup if he did not like boats and the sea. He would not have been as successful as he has been in winning races if he did not possess exceptional judgment of ship design and a highly developed capacity for executive leadership.

Harold Vanderbilt's talents, though not going to waste these days off Newport, are certainly not being exploited to the full the rest of the year. Here is a man whose own record and whose heredity argue that he is capable of constructive achievement. He has a special aptitude for the sea. His family for generations has been interested in transportation. He has the personality, the drive, the capacity for distinguishing the essential from the nonessential which make a successful leader.

Because he was born to great wealth he has lived under a handicap. His talents have been diverted to yacht racing and bridge whist, in both of which he is recognized as one of the world's foremost amateurs. He could be no less distinguished, it seems probable, in activities of greater utility.

The country stands today in great need of a man possessing just his talents. Our merchant marine is lagging in an international race of far greater consequence than the contest in which the Ranger is engaged. Despite subsidies and the monopoly of our intercoastal trade we are not getting ahead. We need somebody to run the show who has something more than a burocrat's equipment. Vanderbilt looks like the man. If Washington wants our merchant marine to go places Vanderbilt will be put in charge.

PRECOCITY OR GENIUS?

A 13 year old girl, Katherine Carosso of Brooklyn, has already published a volume of verses and her second book is now on the press. A preliminary announcement quotes a number of her new poems, including one entitled "Arabesque," which follows:

I brook no monotone in life,
No idle hours;
I stride on edges of a knife,
And not on flowers.

A flock of dreams each day migrate—
Beyond my path;
I pick the scattered crums of fate—
With tightened breath.

I gather tirelessly a crop
Of word and line,
And filter each begotten drop,
Like costly wine.

Every generation produces its precocious children. Some of them can manipulate numbers with extraordinary ease; others have a remarkable facility in instrumental music or the plastic arts; others have a highly developed aptitude for such games as chess; still others disclose astonishing power in the use of words. Most of these children acquire a certain notoriety in childhood, but in a few years are forgotten. The great promise is not always or even frequently followed by a great fulfilment.

Once in a while the precocious child develops into the greatly gifted adult, possessed of what the world calls genius. Not all geniuses were precocious children, but some of them were, including Mozart, who composed symphonies when he was of kindergarten age, and Mill, who was reading the classics in the original at an age when the normal child is having difficulty with "Little Black Sambo."

There is no way yet known of predicting where the extraordinary child will appear, but it is obviously true that parental aptitudes and family environment have much to do with it. The Carosso child's father, for example, is a linguist, employed as a court interpreter. He is a doctor of philosophy and possesses a substantial library. Perhaps the fact that her father is of Spanish descent and her mother Russian is also significant. It could not have been predicted that their child would be linguistically precocious, but that she is does not astonish. A child born of such parents and brought up in such a home would be expected to have an advanced vocabulary.

But when that has been said the marvel still remains. Where did a 13 year old girl acquire her maturity of style and thought? In these respects she is incomparably more advanced than Nathalia Crane, the child whose verses were published a few years ago. Miss Crane had a substantial vocabulary and a gift for verse forms, but her point of view was essentially childlike. She thought as a child, but expressed herself with far more skill than was to be expected of her at her age. Katherine Carosso is of another sort. If there is immaturity in her thought it is the immaturity of late adolescence, not of childhood. She has written a poem, seemingly, out of experience she has never had. It is as if she had described with great accuracy a place she had never seen and quoted with precision a conversation she had never heard.

In this sense her performance is miraculous, but there is no predicting whether the miracle will last. She may continue to grow in power and, if she does, these early poems will be pointed to as evidences of genius. Certainly her career will be followed with interest. Meanwhile parents of less gifted children who are determined to have a genius in the family may take heart. Mozart was composing symphonies in his high chair, if he had one, but Newton's teachers regarded him as rather an ordinary child.

PREVENTION VS. CURE.

[Baltimore Sun.]

It may be that the investigations which the state's attorney and the governor are making into the lynching of two Negroes at Tallahassee, Fla., will bring more positive results than usually accrue from such enterprises. In the Tallahassee case there seem to have been only four members of the party which took the two prisoners from the county jail and put them to death in a most brutal manner. The smallness of the mob may make it easier to secure evidence than it is in cases where whole communities turn out to indulge in offensive and ghoulish orgies against helpless victims. There may in this case be less of community support behind the lynching than is ordinarily in evidence.

But even so, the promise of the Florida investigations is not great. The officials of that state will learn, as the officials everywhere ought to learn, that it is easier to prevent lynchings than it is to punish their perpetrators after the fact. The time for vigilance is before mobs, whether large or small, have had time to form and perfect their arrangements. There have been a number of instances recently in which southern sherifs and deputy sherifs have acted to forestall mob murders of this sort. In one case in Florida Gov. Cone called out the National Guard for this praiseworthy purpose. That is the sort of action against lynchings for which the times call, and the more of it the south gives the fewer will be the cases calling for investigation.

WRECKING OF A PUNSTER.

Sir: I do not entirely agree with Bridges (of London, English Homophones, p. 19) that "puns are a nuisance." Perhaps my attitude is influenced by the fact that on sundry occasions I have snared the elusive specie by catering to the plebeian tastes of judges via punning. There are lines where puns are welcome and perchance profitable—notably limerick last lines. Tastes vary, of course. Consider the recent wrecking and mass distribution of a carload of chewing gum by the I. C. at Kankakee. A wreck usually is not a source of joy, but news dispatches say this one brought happiness to the neighboring youngsters; like, for instance, the burning of a schoolhouse. . . . We vary about our chicle, of course; some are chewing and some are eschewing it. Truly, there are too many bad puns, and I propose that we pen the puns and punish the punsters, as soon as we have recorded this Wrecking of the Chew-Chew. Dr. Sam.

Taking in the Sailing.

After reading the news stories of the international yacht races I find myself running about in sea circles like the boats. It seems the boats sometimes start off in opposite directions, depending on which side of the ocean has the most pleasing wind. And the only time the spectators (four miles away with binoculars) get any excitement is when a mast splits and two miles of sail come down. I wish they'd let the movie fellows have full leeway; they'd bring 'em along nose to nose all the way, and with all sails set. As it is now, all we straphangers get are the nice roto pictures. BACTERIA IN THE URINE.

WHENEVER we find great clouds of bacteria in the urine—a dust storm, as it were—we are mildly disturbed lest a deep seated infection of the kidney is indicated. As a rule, however, the condition is not one of great moment, since changing the reaction of the urine from alkaline to acid [sometimes from acid to alkaline] will correct the state of affairs.

Few of us realize that in females the distance from the outside of the body to the bladder is very short. In other words, the urinary canal provides a ready avenue via which microbes can reach the bladder, where they may set up, if the environment is favorable, millions of colonies. While there are many causative organisms, the type most often encountered is the colon bacillus, which is a regular inhabitant of the intestine.

The disorder may mean that there is a general or local infection in some other part of the body, for example, a severe tonsilitis or an abscess about a tooth. Now and then stones in the kidneys themselves will be responsible for sites of irritation about which bacteria may find lodgment.

Patients who complain of this difficulty are likely to note, first of all, an increased frequency in urination. The bladder seems to be more irritable, less able to hold its normal contents. The sufferer will exclaim, "The urine is scalding." In others a dull, aching pain in the middle of the back, which increases on pressure, may be felt. Still others will have actual chills followed by a high temperature.

◆

The symptoms in children are quite different, as a rule. There is generally a sudden onset, with fever, chills, sweating, and considerable drowsiness. The child appears very ill, listless, and exhausted. If enough fluids can be given, especially alkalis, two or three days may show a complete change in the picture.

The name attached to the urinary infection depends upon its location. If it comes from the pelvis of the kidney [the collecting space of the urine], it is called pyelitis. If the tissue of the organ itself is involved the word nephritis is added, for example, pyelonephritis. If it occurs in the bladder alone it is termed cystitis; if in the pelvis of the kidney and in the bladder, pyelocystitis.

It makes little difference to the victim whether the infection has come from the outside or has drifted in through the blood, although in the latter instance cure will depend upon ridding the body of the original focus in the tonsils, the teeth, the sinuses, or whatnot. Fortunately the kidney tissue has the power of excreting bacteria, and if the trouble does not last too long this may be accomplished without damage to the organ itself.

The objective, of course, is to get rid of the bugs as quickly as possible, and rest in bed is advised. Hot packs to the lower portion of the back, the drinking of large amounts of fluids, and some mild sedative may be all that are called for. Of course, constipation must be relieved. If the ailment has become chronic [that is, has existed over a long period], adequate drainage is essential. There will usually be found some obstruction to the free passage of urine, thus providing suitable quarters for bacterial growth despite the taking of plenty of water.

◆

In children, particularly, alkalis are helpful. These youngsters should be put to bed and given some salt that will relieve the urine of its acid character. Sometimes the ketogenic diet, which includes the feeding of large quantities of fats, is effective. This plan has been successful in numerous cases. The use of mandelic acid, which transforms the urine from alkaline to acid, brings about favorable results. Occasionally other acid forming substances are needed to support the treatment, but as a rule mandelic alone will be sufficient. If nausea, vomiting, or diarrhea is observed, the dose may be reduced to a relatively low level and later increased gradually.

We can prevent the development of chronic infections along the urinary passageway if we will watch for acute symptoms and combat them promptly.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NANKING, China.—The Chinese people have paid too high a price for peace. They must find some other method of dealing with Japan over the Manchukuan and other issues which have developed since Japan moved into Chinese territory six years ago.

This is the conclusion reached in a pamphlet published by the Chinese council of international affairs, unofficial organ of the government at Nanking. Its author, Dr. Shunsi Hsu, is a graduate of the British Hongkong university and Columbia university of New York City. He is 45 years old and until recently was professor of political science at Yenching university, American missionary institution at Peiping.

For a period of four years, according to Dr. Hsu, or since China signed a truce with the Japanese army at Tangku [near Tientsin] on May 31, 1933, the Chinese government had tried to follow a policy of peace. In the two years which had followed Japan's original intervention in Manchuria the Chinese had pursued a course of armed resistence. Two battles were fought, one at Shanghai early in 1932 and the other in the vicinity of the Great Wall early in 1933. China was defeated, not because of the inferiority of the Chinese armies, according to Dr. Hsu, but because of communistic activities. China was in no position to fight a civil war and a conflict with a foreign nation at the same time.

In the light of what has happened since the truce of 1933 the Chinese decided a policy of peace has been disastrous, resulting in the loss of much additional territory in the northern area bordering on the state of Manchukuo.

Although not mentioned by Dr. Hsu the recent truce with the Chinese communists may be responsible for the alleged decision to embark on some method other than that embraced in a "policy of peace."

Dr. Hsu claims that the Tangku truce contained secret clauses which amounted to "surcharges imposed after the conclusion of the peace." These surcharges have created a situation in the northern Chinese provinces greatly resembling conditions which prevailed in Manchuria prior to the Japanese conquest in 1931, he maintains.

Withdrawal of Chinese troops enabled renegades to conspire with Japanese militarists in establishing so-called "autonomous" districts such as the "East Hopei Anti-Comintern government," which embraces twenty-two counties fronting on Manchukuo. A similar situation developed in northern Chahar and eastern Inner Mongolia, where the Mongol Prince Teh Wang set up another puppet organization backed by Japanese bayonets.

Dr. Hsu asks in conclusion: "What will come next?"

Manchukuo and Jehol, being inhabited by the Chinese race, are integral parts of the country, similar to the regions south of the Great Wall.

For centuries the Mongols enjoyed happy relations with the Chinese but now are being estranged, the writer says. The extramural provinces, outside the Great Wall, are closely related strategically to the great plain of China. The security of the land and its people repeatedly has been menaced by invasions and conquests from that quarter.

Dr. Hsu therefore argues that it is inconceivable that China should ever be disposed "under any circumstances to part with Manchuria and Jehol." Unless Japan is willing to alter her policy of trying to compel China to reorganize Manchukuo and the so-called "special Japanese status" in North China, the Chinese government, says Hsu, will be compelled to abandon its "policy of peace and prepare for the final sacrifice."

"RIPARIAN RIGHTS."

Chicago, Aug. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Please advise me regarding [1] "riparian rights" as applied to the lakes in the United States and what lakes it applies to.

2. What rights does a fishing or hunting license confer on the licensee?

3. To what lakes are these rights pertainable—all except those privately owned by an individual or corporation, or what?

4. Can a property owner own the land even into the lake if the lake is not privately owned in its entirety?

5. Can an owner of adjoining property build a dock into the lake and claim it as private property or can it be used by any duly licensed fisherman so long as he does not violate some other law?

6. Do these principles apply by federal statute or do the various states have modifications? If so, what are those pertainable to Illinois and Wisconsin?
D. I. G.

1. The word "riparian" means pertaining to the bank or shore. It follows that such rights are present in different degrees as to all bodies of water.
2. It conveys no right to trespass on private lands if that is what you mean to ask.
3. In general, the public is entitled to free access through navigable waters.
4. This is possible.
5. In all of these cases, rights depend upon whether the waters were navigable and this depends upon facts that are not before us.
6. It is a matter of common law.

1. Is there a law whereby I am entitled to see the will itself or [2] demand a statement of accounting?

STOLEN BICYCLES.

Chicago, July 30.—Now that Policeman Paul Schroeder, with his pockets full of corn, has succeeded in catching the rooster that has been keeping folks awake in the 2800 block on Sheffield avenue, do you suppose that Capt. Duffy would loan him, with a pocketful of pistols, to the Town Hall station to catch the thief who has stolen eight bicycles from my boys in the last four years, five of them within the last few months? I will gladly give my permission to the entire police force to take a bite out of him, with or without cooking.

Of course we fully realize that catching a rooster that is keeping people awake is far more important than catching a crook who can walk off with a sixty pound bicycle, locked, from within a few feet of several sleeping people without disturbing them at all, and, of course, he [being so considerate of our sleep] would not shoot if caught. Naturally, too, he will never steal anything more important than a child's bicycle, each of which has cost the boys more hours of hard work than a man would have to do for a car.

And, of course, it's easy to explain to my kids that crime does not pay while some dirty crook is enjoying the benefit of almost all their work for several years and the police do nothing about it.
D. M. BRASEL.

THE SAME THOUGHTFUL MAN.

Chicago, July 29.—I have been very much interested in the series of articles being written by Philip Kinsley on the small colleges of the middle west.

In the article on Cornell college, which appeared on July 26, I noted the reference to the contributions of Prof. William Harmon Norton to this school. He is described as having been a teacher of geology in the college for forty years "who divides his time now between lectures on evolution and the raising of irises in his hillside garden."

Is this not the same William Harmon Norton whose articles on our economic system and political institutions were published on the editorial page in THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE last winter?

It seems strange that the World's Greatest Newspaper could not have obtained the services of an economist from one of the great universities in this city in the preparation of this series of articles rather than those of a man who, admittedly, is an expert in his own field of specialization, namely, geology, but whose opinions do not bear the weight of authority in an equally specialized field—that of economics.

DANGEROUS WATERS.

Chicago, July 31.—If the writer of "Dangerous Waters" had taken the time to go into facts I am certain that this letter would not have been written. Could this party have been thinking of the six shoals north of Jackson park or the Indiana shoals off Indiana Harbor in his mental navigation along the Indiana dunes?

Having covered every bit of this water, I wish to state that it is a nice place to sail, and no more dangerous than our own north shore, and there isn't a shoal or obstruction from Gary harbor to Michigan City harbor. Depths run from three to ten fathoms [18 to 60 feet].

If the passengers of the airliners would like to see yachts, why don't we get busy and build an island airport in the lake? Then they would see yachts, ferry boats, and taxi boats right in our front yard.

Why doesn't some one tell this writer how the yacht clubs hold a race each year through these "dangerous waters" to Michigan City without casualties? Also that the largest freighters on the Great Lakes make all of the ports at the south end of the lake! MASTER.

WHY HE WAS FIT TO BE TIED.

Chicago, July 30.—I was fit to be tied last night. Several friends of mine from different parts of the country converged upon Chicago this week and it fell to my lot to show Chicago off for them. All of them are lovers of good music so the happy thought of the Grant park concerts occurred to me. The newspapers said the program consisted of works by Tschaikowsky, Saint-Saëns, Wolf-Ferrari, and other worthwhile composers. But just to play safe I called the Chicago park district in the afternoon. I heard the program repeated to me and it was identical with the newspapers. So far so good. That night as we made our way to our seats at the concert the red-helmeted guards gave us our programs, and this time I was definitly relieved, for the program was still identical with the first two reports.

But then the "music" began. From 8 to 9:30 they rattled out the darndest cacophony of honkytonk, tinpan alley swing and blue music that you can hear at any bawdy tavern or night spot in town. It was the kind of trash your radio will blare for you relentlessly morning, noon, and night, any day of the infernal week. The announced program was obviously abandoned entirely, except at 9:30, when we were favored with three short compositions.

Imagine my chagrin and embarrassment when all through the concert Maj. Holmes, in interspersing his exaggerated comments, repeated the refrain, "Chicago, the musical center of America!" Musical center of America, indeed!
CHARLES ANSELL.

MEN TO PRESERVE DEMOCRACY.

Gloucester, Mass., July 30.—America, by its recent commencement speeches and other organization pronouncements, is shown to be in a curious frame of mind. It wishes to keep democracy as its form of government; rages against communism and Fascism, but is mostly silent on what kind of citizen you have to have to keep democracy. That really is the important thing—to have a citizen with the stamina and self-discipline of the groups who gave us our democracy, our free press, free speech, free exercise of religion; later our total abstinence; also our anti-gambling laws.

It was the at present derided Puritan and Quaker who gave us these precious gifts. They made them out of inner character.

But the resolutions passed never, as far as I saw them, added to their call for maintaining democracy, resolutions for maintaining the simple, sober, hard working, self-disciplined, law abiding qualities that the Puritans preached and often practiced. It is the ascetic groups that got on and that make a nation a going concern, not the dissipated. Mother Nature sponges the dissipated from the slate.

I hope all groups next year will pass resolutions in favor of the kind of man that alone can maintain democracy.
E. H. TILTON.

TREATING THE TOE.

Chicago, July 30.—If the street car and bus companies were to put comfortable, streamlined equipment on all of their lines it would be appreciated by the public but it wouldn't solve Chicago's traction problem.

What the city needs for adequate transportation is superhighways and an extension of the present elevated service.

Surface trafic is slow at the best and must remain so. Otherwise the hazard of accident becomes too great. Within the last two weeks, for example, street car and bus collisions have resulted in the death of one person and the injury of thirty-five others.

In an ideal consolidated system these types of transportation would function only as local feeder service to vehicles moving above trafic congestion. So why waste time theorizing now to improve street car and bus transportation when our problem is obtaining extended elevated service?

It's silly to waste all of our time prescribing for a sore toe when the whole leg needs attention. ED ROSE.

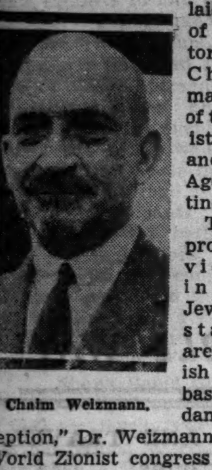
CHAIM WEIZMANN LAYS HOLY LAND ILLS TO BRITAIN

Jewish Leader Assails Plan to Split Country.

ZURICH, Switzerland, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Responsibility for the plight of the Holy Land was laid at the door of Great Britain tonight by Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist organization and the Jewish Agency for Palestine.



Chaim Weizmann.

The British proposal to divide Palestine into sovereign Jewish and Arab states and an area under British mandate is based on a "fundamental misconception," Dr. Weizmann told the 20th World Zionist congress here.

"Decisions which we shall have to make at this congress will go to the very roots of our existence and heart of our movement," he said. "I pray this congress may prove equal to its great responsibility."

Cites Jewish Achievements.

The current Jewish-Arab friction. he asserted, could be traced to "half-hearted administration which failed to make a serious attempt" to solve the difficulties in the Holy Land.

Throughout the opening congress sessions, strong opposition to the British royal commission's plan, up before the League of Nations mandates commission at Geneva, was evident.

Denying the main British thesis that the present mandate is "inherently unworkable," Dr. Weizmann asserted the achievements of the Jewish people in Palestine since 1922 were irrefutable arguments against such a stand.

Though east European representatives favored any scheme permitting some free immigration into Palestine, the dominant labor delegates were expected to press with west European members for complete rejection of the British plan. Their position was that the Jewish state proposed by the British would leave no room for expansion.

Demands U. S. Jews Take Stand.

A demand that the leadership of the American delegation to the congress take a definite stand on the British proposal was voiced tonight by Jacob Fishman, editor of the Jewish Morning Journal, New York City, and Rabbi Barnet Brickner, Cleveland.

Calling a special meeting of the delegation for Thursday morning, Louis Lipsky of New York City, who presided at today's gathering of the delegates, declared:

"This issue, which is cutting across all Zionist party lines, should not be determined by application of caucus rules. Members of the American delegation should be given a free hand to vote according to conscience."

BRIDE, 11, QUITS MATE, 67; LOVES ONLY HER DOLL

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Aug 3.—(AP)—Mary Frances Grimes, 11 years old, bride of William H. Grimes, sobbed to authorities tonight that she was sorry she married him, "because I don't love any one but my doll." She was married to a cotton picker 67 years old, last Tuesday by the Rev. Carl Holliday in the woods near Neelyville. She was taken to the Juvenile Detention home today.

Grimes told Sherif Edgar Hammons he had been living for the last two weeks at the home of the girl's father, J. J. Alexander, 79 years old, who consented to the marriage.

A marriage license was obtained here for the sharecropper who called the girl Mrs. Frances Alexander, 18 years old. The marriage was performed in the field where the minister was making ties.

Grimes is held in the Butler county jail here, charged with perjury and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Holliday said he was unaware of the girl's correct age.

5 WOMEN HURT AS BARRICADE FALLS IN LOOP

Wind Hurls Structure on State Street Shoppers.

Five women were injured yesterday afternoon when a wood barricade fell on them as they were walking past the Avon Shop, 38 South State street. The barricade, on the street level, had been used to board up the entrance and cover the windows of the shop during remodeling.

The structure was about 20 feet high and 25 feet wide, and was fastened together by heavy cross pieces. A gust of wind tore it loose. Workmen toiled frantically to remove it as the screams of the women underneath drew crowds of State street shoppers.

Police of the First district said they were informed six women were injured, but were unable to learn the name of the sixth or where she had been taken.

The injured who were treated at St. Luke's hospital are the following:

MRS. SADIE CONNOL, 1652 North Troy street, 46 years old, several fractured ribs and probable internal injuries.

MRS. JEANETTE KNACK, 3157 Archer avenue, 25 years old, right leg fractured.

MRS. IDA MEYERS, 1568 East 62d street, 61 years old, left leg fractured.

MRS. MINNA MACKERT, 3237 Maypole avenue, 33 years old, left leg fractured.

MRS. MARGARET POTTER, 3762 Alcott avenue, 65 years old, cuts and bruises on head and right shoulder.

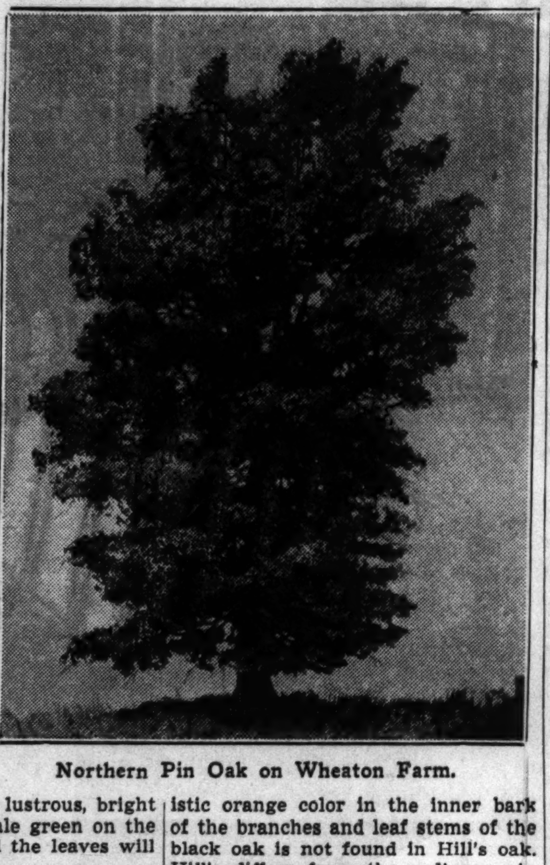
Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Flora of Chicagoland—Northern Pin Oak.

THE wizardry of modern color photography and color printing is uncovering many secrets of the flowers, foliage, fruits, and bark on trees that grow in forests, wood lots, parks, and around homes. No doubt thousands have stopped to examine the delicate coloring of tree blossoms since the picture of the filmy, delicately tinted flowering branch of a Northern Pin oak was printed in natural color in the picture section of THE TRIBUNE on July 4.



Northern Pin Oak on Wheaton Farm.

In this picture the color camera caught and preserved the beauty of this oak, which opened its flowers on the Wheaton farm for a brief spell. It furnishes one of the most beautiful sights of Chicagoland's spring. The picture was taken on May 14 when the pollen laden catkins were at their best. From each flower a cluster of miniature cattails hung down, giving off pollen that fertilized the inconspicuous fruit buds which will produce elliptical shaped acorns a year from this fall.

The day the picture was taken the young leaves were of a greenish white shade; today the bristle tipped leaves are of a lustrous, bright green above and a pale green on the under side. This fall the leaves will turn red.

The Northern Pin oak is truly a Chicagoland tree, because its distribution is limited to this region—the northern third of Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, and eastern Minnesota. It is one of the four oaks found on THE TRIBUNE'S farm near Wheaton. Trelease says this oak does not go farther south than a line drawn from Rock Island to Kankakee.

It is commonly referred to as Hill's oak, named for the late E. J. Hill of Chicago, who first described it as a separate species of the black oak family thirty-eight years ago. The Northern Pin oak is among the 16,000 specimens of trees, vines, shrubs, and flowers in the Hill herbarium at the University of Illinois. Up until Hill described the Northern Pin it was confused with the ordinary black oak and the scarlet oak.

In autumn, when the trees begin to take on their high colors, the Scarlet's red leaves are more vivid and the acorns are larger than those of Hill's oak. The black oak's fall foliage is more colorful. The characteristic orange color in the inner bark of the branches and leaf stems of the black oak is not found in Hill's oak. Hill's differs from the ordinary pin oak by having larger acorns, deeper cups, and more rugged branches. It differs from the red oak by having rougher bark, more deeply lobed leaves, and smaller acorns with deeper cups.

Hill's oak lives about two centuries, which is a short life compared with other trees. For example, the giant cypress, now growing in Tule, Oaxaca, Mexico, about 250 miles south of the City of Mexico, is believed to be the oldest living tree and the oldest living thing in the world. It is estimated to be from 5,000 to 6,500 years old, with a trunk 58 feet in diameter and 255 feet in height.

The Northern Pin or Hill's oak usually is about 60 feet tall and 20 inches in diameter, occasionally up to 36 inches in diameter in western Illinois. This oak is botanically known as Quercus elipsoidalis.

Like the ordinary pin oak, it has drooping branches below. These often die, leaving "pins" in the trunk.

U. S. MAKES NEW BID TO CAPTURE OCEAN TRAFIC

Seeks to Build a Fleet Rivaling Europe's.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

This week's action of the federal maritime commission in asking shipyards to bid on a new American liner means that the United States once more will seek to build up a merchant marine rivaling those of the seagoing countries of Europe. The new vessel, sister ship of the Washington and the Manhattan, will replace the Leviathan, which has been out of service for the last two years. Bids for its construction will be opened next month.

In an effort to keep up with the mounting demand for trans-Atlantic accommodations, fourteen large liners now are either being built or their building is projected. British, Italian, American, Dutch, Swedish, and Norwegian shipping interests actively are engaged in this program. Several of the ships will be ready for service next spring.

Construction Long Overdue.

Steamship officials in Chicago said yesterday that the new construction was long overdue. The depression, they said, cut heavily into their business.

In the seven years following the beginning of the depression in October, 1929, a total of eighty-nine ships were withdrawn from the Atlantic trade routes. The tonnage loss was 815,173. This was only partially offset by the thirty-eight ships, totaling 673,614 tons, placed in service, and by the fact that the new steamers are faster and have quicker turnarounds.

Both this summer and last the demand for passenger space at times has exceeded the supply. This—as was set forth recently by Fred H. Dietz in the magazine the Travel Agent—has led to the statement that the current business is equal to that of boom times. "The record refutes this observation," Mr. Dietz wrote, "and indicates clearly that it will be some time before the figures of 1929 can be approached. It is a question of ships more than of market."

Chicagoans Leave for Europe.

Among the Chicagoans leaving for Europe today on the Bremen will be Carter H. Harrison Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Plate, William A. Stewart, Mrs. Henry C. Bartholomay, Henry C. Bartholomay III., Mrs. F. K. Babson, M. Plepel, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Merritt, T. W. Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brady, and Mrs. J. A. Strassen. Mr. and Mrs. John Davis and family of Evansville, Ind., will sail tomorrow on the Hansa.

Bound for Mediterranean ports, the Excambion started yesterday with the Rev. John W. Conroy, Palmer Gevirtz, Miss Jane Mougey, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Holleb, and Marshall M. Holleb, all of Chicago; Mrs. William M. McNamee, Mrs. J. D. Pahlman, Harry Hamilton, Miss Hadassah McGiffen, and Miss Anne Callender, all of Evanston; Miss Helen F. Staley, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Streeter, Mrs. Frank V. Widger, Mrs. Ella von Glahm, and Miss Lenore Rennert, all of Wilmette; Mr. and Mrs. S. Russell and son of Glenview, and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Z. Carr and family of Richmond, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Lannan will board the Normandie today for a European tour that will last until the middle of October. Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Roehm went over last week on the Hamburg. Miss Maude Chalfant sailed Saturday on the Volendam.

Miss Helen Baxter and Miss Leona Hawver sailed Saturday from Boston on the Lady Hawkins for a month's cruise to the West Indies and British Guiana. At Bermuda they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Freeman.

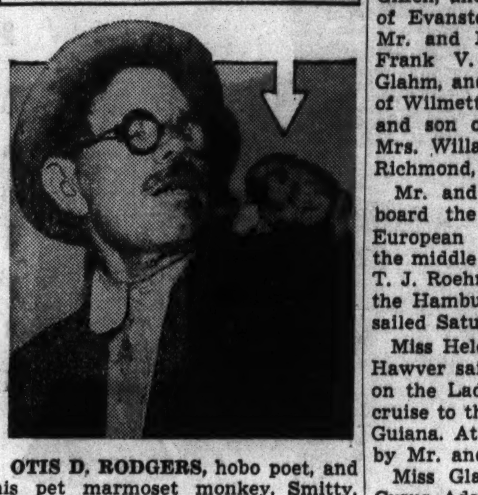
Miss Gladys Hight, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Adams, and Mr. and Mrs. B. Miller returned Monday from Europe on the Normandie. Arriving yesterday on the Veendam were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn C. Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Philhower of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. William Boyd of Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Cotters Due Today.

Due to arrive in New York today on the Rex are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cotter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ramond and their daughters, Adeline and Renee; Andre R. Ramond, Miss Bernice Larson, Dr. Philip Lewin, Mr. and Mrs. Phil T. Sprague and their children, Betty Ann, Philip, and Edgerton; Mrs. Harry Kinder and her daughter, Agnes; Miss Margaret Dinsmore, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Conaghan.

Returning last week on the Ile de France were Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Morris, Mrs. Robert Wheeler, Miss Elisabeth Gambel, and the Rev. George J. Casey. On the Volendam were Dr. and Mrs. Herman S. Fickle, Dr. and Mrs. Harold E. Holbrook, and Miss Alice Murphy.

Hobo Poet and Pet



OTIS D. RODGERS, hobo poet, and his pet marmoset monkey, Smitty, arrived in Chicago yesterday on a national tour to survey the "social and moral hygiene of the International Hobo organization." Rodgers is known as the "Boomer Poet" because he has written hobo poems describing incidents in various oil and construction boom towns where he has worked during the thirty years he has been on the road. He sells the Hobo News, a publication devoted to articles contributed by members of the hobo union, and is heading for Minneapolis, Spokane, and finally San Francisco. He left New York a month ago.

MUSIC FESTIVAL VOICE CONTESTS BEGIN TOMORROW

Northern Cook County Singers to Compete.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Singers who live on the north side of Cook county will compete tomorrow night in the first of this year's voice contests to find the best young man and young woman singers in Chicagoland. The two finalists will make their debut before an estimated audience of 100,000 persons at the 1937 Chicagoland Music Festival in Soldiers' field on the evening of Aug. 21.

Aspirants from twenty states and Canada will compete in the sectional meetings in Chicago and other cities. Chicago participants will have to prove themselves better than hundreds of competitors to reach the finals. At least 35 competent judges will have passed on their pitch, diction, quality, and style before the two stars appear before the throng in Soldiers' field.

Shows Rapid Growth.

In the few years since its inception in 1930 the music festival voice contest has grown to tremendous size. More than 4,000 persons have competed in it in the eight years that the festival has been staged by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Several former victors have stepped from the festival rostrom to success in concert and radio work. Two outstanding winners are Julian Stripe of Waukegan, a tenor, and John Burlette of Chicago, a baritone. They have made several concert trips through the nation and are well advanced in their careers.

Rest of Nation Holds Own.

Although most of the contestants come from this area, final winners have been about equally divided between Chicagoland and the rest of the country. Contests are held in Memphis, Minneapolis, Racine, and Champaign. Finalists from these places compete in the grand final here.

Tomorrow night's contest will be held at 7 o'clock in the grand ballroom of the Edgewater Beach hotel. Later contests will be held on the west and south sides.

County Finals Aug. 19.

The eighteen best singers selected from these sectionals will meet in the Cook county finals, Thursday night, Aug. 19, in the Drake hotel. These finalists will then meet outside winners on the morning and afternoon of Aug. 21.

Reserved seats for the festival are now being sold at the Public Service bureaus of THE TRIBUNE. One office is in Tribune Tower. Another is at Dearborn and Madison streets. Many Chicagoans have found in other years that purchasing reserved seats before festival night is a convenience.

McCoy, whose real name is Norman Selby, returned to his home town for the ceremony. He is employed in the personnel department of a Detroit motor car plant. It was his ninth marriage.

EIGHT ARE HURT IN GASOLINE FIRE AT EAST CHICAGO

Explosion Sets Blaze in Twenty Tank Cars.

Gasoline in twenty tank cars burned after an explosion yesterday in the heart of the Sinclair Refining company storage plant at East Chicago. Eight men were burned or injured.

Firemen who risked their lives to pump a foaming white fire extinguisher resembling shaving lather upon the flames prevented the explosion of scores of storage tanks in the big outdoors plant.

Despite the size of the area burned and the destruction of the tank cars, company officials said the loss would not exceed $40,000.

Caught on Catwalk.

Dale Bowen of 1009 Reese avenue, Whiting, was caught on a catwalk between the tank car tracks as the cars caught fire. Fellow workmen plunged into the flames, dragged him out, rolled him on the ground and tore off his burning clothes. Although in a critical condition when taken to St. Margaret's hospital in East Chicago, Bowen was said to have a chance for recovery.

While officials were unable to establish definitly the cause of the original blast, they believed overflow from a storage tank 100 feet high and 75 feet in diameter, in the center of the plant, was responsible.

Flames Spread Over Section.

This overflow was released by a safety valve, the officials said. It was then blown down to a pumping station a few feet away, in the opinion of the experts, and exploded by a spark from the machinery there.

In an instant the flames spread over a section a half block square. The gas in the tank caught fire, but despite the blaze the tank did not blow up.

Heat Melts Tanks.

So intense was the heat when gas in the tank cars started burning that some of the cars were virtually melted and all of them were twisted and blown out of shape.

Because water would only spread the flaming gasoline, the firemen mixed the chemical foam and sprayed it on the blaze through regular water hose, smothering the flames. They forced steam into the fuel tank to extinguish the fire raging within it.

Injured Listed.

Besides Bowen, those taken to the hospital are:

Fred Einsele of 714 Sibley street, Hammond; Edward Lunn of 1708 Indianapolis boulevard, Whiting; William R. Matthews of 4438 Olcott avenue, East Chicago; Edward Meyers of 4334 Northcote avenue, East Chicago; Frank Meyers of 6342 Madison street, Hammond; W. Weber of 1620 Myrtle avenue, Whiting, and John Zisnoveski of 2523 Schrage avenue, Whiting.

Several other workmen were given first aid treatment for burns.

BEG YOUR PARDON

An item in yesterday's TRIBUNE said George Paluch, 2659 Wayne avenue, was the owner of a dog that bit Edward Fairchild, 44 years old, 2618 Wayne avenue. Health department records show the dog is owned by Frank Wagner, 3953 Bernard avenue.

A dispatch from Dubuque, Ia., printed in the TRIBUNE and referring to the death of Eugene Reilly said he was unmarried. This was an error. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Poole Reilly, and a son, James of Milwaukee.

Dog Pound to Ask Death for Biters That Repeat

Judges will be asked to order destruction of dogs that are brought to the dog pound as habitual biters. William Stewart, chief of the pound, said in announcing this policy yesterday, that some dogs are brought to the pound four and five times for the same offense but have to be returned if the owner has a license, muzzle, and leash. Joel I. Connolly, acting head of the board of health, said that rabies was decreasing, but that the number of dog bites was above that for the same period last year.

PUBLISHER'S RUNAWAY SON FINDS IT TOUGH GOING 'ON HIS OWN'

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Tired of the rigors of the road as a transcontinental hitch-hiker, Alfred A. Knopf Jr., 19-year-old son of a New York publisher, found refuge in the Salt Lake City jail today.

Police of eight eastern states had been hunting him at his family's request and the search had been extended to California in the belief he may have headed for Hollywood.

The recent graduate of Phillips-Exeter Academy decided to turn back when a tramp stole his extra clothing and his last $2 last night while he slept.

At the jail he was given food and he took a bath. The meal was the first he'd had in 48 hours. He was barefooted and his feet were tired.

Arraign Barber on Charge of Passing Fake $10 Bills

John Aliota, 36 years old, a barber, was arraigned yesterday before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker and held in bonds of $5,000 pending a hearing on charges of passing 110 counterfeit $10 silver certificates. Aliota was arrested in his barber shop in Arlington Heights by agents of Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan of the secret service. Five other alleged counterfeiters have been seized in the last ten days.

REPORTER AND DOG CAPTURE SLAYING SUSPECT

Houston, Minn., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Bob Dunn, a reporter on the La Crosse Tribune, this afternoon captured Jens Thompson, sought in the slaying of three Austin, Minn., brothers.

Dunn found Thompson hiding in a thicket a few miles from Houston. A bloodhound led him to the spot. The hunted man jumped up, raised his hands, and shouted "I give up" as the reporter and dog approached.

The reporter called to Deputy Sherif Harry Hill, who was searching another part of the woods. They took Thompson to Houston. From there other deputies took him by automobile to Albert Lea.

END STREET CAR SWITCHBACK TO LIGHTEN TRAFIC

Elimination of the street car switchback at Division and Wells streets because of trafic congestion was announced yesterday by State Representative Edward P. O'Grady after conferences with engineers for the Chicago Surface Lines. O'Grady and business men in the district have campaigned for years for its elimination.

Within a few days North State street cars which now turn west in Division street and switch back to Wells street will continue through on Division to Mozart street. West Division street cars which switched back at Wells streets will continue through on the State street line, going to 21st and State streets, the southern terminus.

Bride of 3 Weeks Drowns After Leaping Into Lake

Mrs. Florence Mendel, 24 years old, 638 Addison street, a bride of three weeks, yesterday committed suicide by jumping into the lake from rocks at the foot of Cornelia avenue. A fire department pulmotor squad was unable to revive her although oxygen was given for more than an hour. Leo Mendel, her husband, told Town Hall police his wife had been despondent because she believed she was not doing her share toward their home.

Booking Agency Sues Martha Raye for $2,500

Martha Raye, singer and movie actress, who is appearing this week at a loop theater, was sued in Circuit court yesterday for $2,500 booking agent's commission, by the firm of Sligh and Tyrrell, 140 North Dearborn street. The suit alleges Miss Raye made an oral contract to pay the firm 5 per cent of her earnings from March 15, 1936, to March 15 of this year. They allege her earnings for the year amounted to $50,000.

3,212 One Horse Vehicles Are Licensed in Chicago

An increase in the number of licenses issued for one horse vehicles to 3,212 for the first seven months of this year, as against 2,760 for all of 1936, reflects stricter enforcement of licensing provisions and does not mean that the horses are staging a comeback, City Collector Louis Rixmann said yesterday.

Grooming and Charm Yours for the Asking

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

As suggested yesterday, an early fall program is recommended for women's adoption, with posture, grooming, and charm of manner the three vital planks in your beauty platform. With these three gifts added to what already has been given any average woman, she may become a person of superattractiveness. We spoke of posture yesterday. Today let's take up grooming and charm of manner.

This pursuit of beauty is a means to an end, and the end is not merely improved looks. It's an economic advantage to look well turned out and to have the pleasing manner. It's a social advantage and a great psychological advantage to know that one can pass the well groomed test. The psychological advantage is best manifested in the home woman who is well groomed and, consequently has a well managed household. Her home always is a better run institution, housing happier family members, members more prideful of the woman. Grooming is actually the keynote to the success or failure of women in any and every vocation they choose to adopt.

Grooming embraces a number of things, including care of hair, skin, teeth, nails, hands, etc. We need not go into the details of care today. You are pretty well familiar with the rules yourself. Goodness knows, you hear enough about them! We want only to call your attention to the fact that between now and fall you can work marvels with every one of the named features, to remind you that good grooming is written into the early 1937 fall program.

Charm of manner is something that is yours for the asking. Some of us forget the good old injunction of ask and you shall receive. Perhaps we are too stoked up on mannerisms that crowd out charm to see the forest for the trees. We forget to say the nice thing and do it. Instead of trying to dispense cheer, we self-centeredly dispense gloom or criticism for which no one is thankful, nor should be, coming as it does from our faulty selves. We take on sour, dour, hard, grim, disappointed, dispirited expressions because that's the way we keep on thinking, acting, doing things. It doesn't get us what we want. A change of expression might.

Here, again, we might concentrate on other women for study. Observe what makes this one liked immensely, what makes the other not popular and why, and turn the evidence to account with ourselves.

Anyway, there's the proffered early fall beauty campaign platform, posture, good grooming, and more charm of manner. The reward? A more successful winter season than you've ever known, positively guaranteed.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

THE FOUR-FIVE NO TRUMP CONVENTION.

How to Show All Four Aces.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

When it happens, as it often does, that one partner has all four aces and the other partner has a hand strong in kings, queens, and other high cards, for purely psychological reasons the player who has an aceless hand is not likely to contract for a grand slam, because no matter how strong the bidding is he cannot assume so rare an event as four aces in one hand. The only way to reach a safe grand slam bid is for the partner to show that he has all four aces.

The four-five no trump convention makes this unmistakably clear by the following beautiful inferences:

West:
♠ K Q J 7 5 4 ♥ K Q J 2 ♦ K 8 ♣ 7
East:
♠ A 6 3 ♥ A 3 ♦ A 6 3 ♣ A Q J 6 2

West	East
1 spade	3 clubs
3 spades	4 no trump
5 clubs	5 no trump
7 no trump

Any conventional bid of four no trump, immediately followed by five no trump by the same player [usually after partner signed off to four no trump], shows all four aces in his hand.

TODAY'S HAND.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♥ K 8 4
♦ A 10 9 2
♣ 6 5 4 3

EAST
♠ 10 9 4
♥ Q J 7 3 2
♦ K 8 3

WEST
♠ K 8 6 3
♥ 6 5
♦ 7 6
♣ J 9 8 7 2

SOUTH
♠ A 7 5 2
♥ A 10 9
♦ Q J 5 4
♣ A Q

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

South's distribution is not just right for an original no trump, but his four honor tricks and the advantage of having the strong hand concealed warrant the bid.

West makes his normal opening of the fourth best club. East plays the king, and South wins. What, I ask you, would be the next play of ninety-nine declarers in every hundred? The answer is obvious. The diamond queen would be laid down and a finesse taken. This is the natural play, but it is wrong, quite wrong!

Here is the proper way to analyze declarer's problem: South counts two tricks in clubs, either three or four diamonds depending on the position of the king, two hearts and, if he has time, two spades. If the diamond finesse succeeds there is no problem. The contract will be fulfilled through top tricks. If no more than three diamond tricks can be made, however, it will become necessary to win two spades. The danger lies in the possibility that West holds five clubs and that, if the diamond finesse loses, East will return a club, establishing West's suit, while West still holds the spade king as an entry card.

The considered play therefore, as opposed to the "natural" play, is to remove West's possible entry before attempting the diamond finesse. The diamond king, if in West's hand, never can be an entry. If it is discovered that East instead of West held the spade king, and that a finesse would have succeeded, nothing has been lost.

Remember the only danger was that West's club suit was five long. In that case East will hold only two clubs and if he also holds the spade king, will be able to lead one more club, removing South's second stopper, but later, on taking the diamond king, will be unable to put West back on lead. If the club suit is divided 4-3, it does not matter who wins the spade king, since declarer can lose only two club tricks.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: What is the correct opening bid on the following hand:
♠ A 6 4 ♥ Q J 10 ♦ K J 10 ♣ A J 7 6?
Answer: One no trump.

Children Must Keep Routine on Journey

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

August and the first week in September are big vacation periods. We've tried to prepare you for trips and traveling in earlier articles. The baby has been pretty well taken care of in them, but a few more suggestions, especially in connection with the older children, might be helpful. The advice given earlier in the summer will not be repeated today.

Here are some important do's and don't's:

Don't let the children experiment with new foods en route, no matter how much you may be tempted. They are thrown out of their routine enough just by traveling, and are apt to be in a state of excitement as a result of it. So the nearer you can keep them to the foods they are used to, the healthier they will be, and, therefore, the happier you will be. Keep to the good old standbys that you know agree with them.

If they eat uncooked fruits or vegetables, be sure those are thoroughly washed.

Take along something that will amuse the children or keep them contented if the journey is to be long, and may prove wearisome. Books are good, and some much loved animal or doll, and if you have simple games that can be easily played and are enjoyed, that is helpful too. Pencils or crayons and paper also should be tucked in.

Of course, you know how careful you must be of drinking water. If you are automobiling, no drinks from stream or trickling spring, no matter how pure it may seem. You do not know what land it is draining.

Suggestions for quiet summer occupation will be found in our leaflet. "Articles the Children Can Make." Sent out on receipt of a 3-cent, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Makes Settlement in Illegal Marriage Suit

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Marie Marks, 19, stage and screen actress, has compromised for $2,500 her $200,000 damage suit against Cecil Sillman, Hollywood man-about-town whom she accused of having induced her to go through a marriage ceremony with him when he knew he was not finally divorced from another woman. Miss Marks today asked the Superior court to approve the compromise.

Heartache Is Easily Cured by New Love

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"I have been going with a man for the last 19 months. I love him dearly. The other night he told me that he has been engaged all this time to some one else, a girl back in his home town. The girl has money, her family being the outstanding people in the town. The young man tells me that it isn't her money that attracts him. He likes the girl, grew up with her, and there had been an understanding between them almost from childhood that some day they would marry. But he tells me that he loves me more; that, if circumstances were different, I would be the one he'd marry. But seeing that the engagement was announced some time ago in his town, if he failed to marry the girl now, he never would dare to go back there, even on a visit. Do you believe him when he says that he loves me more?" Avis.

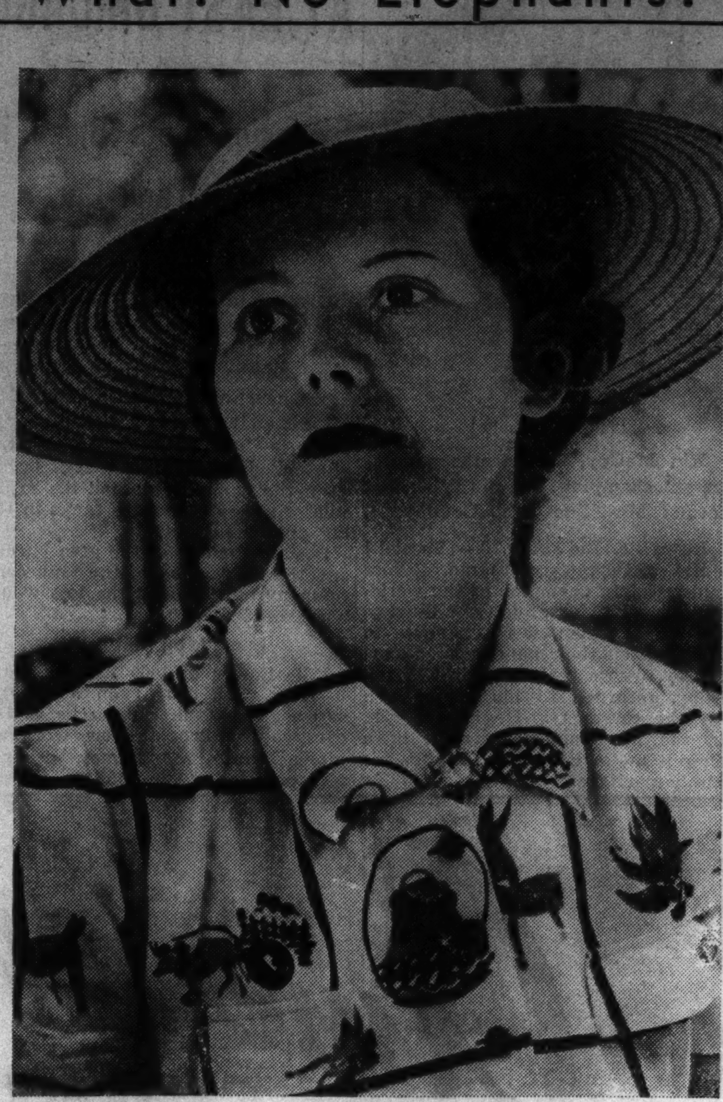
Maybe the young man believes he is in earnest when he tells you that you hold the upper place in his heart. You're there beside him and when he is with you and finds you companionable and dear, he is pressed into saying what he does, probably.

It's quite possible that a sense of duty does bestir his chivalry toward the girl back home. It may not be her moneyed position. But having given his word, or, rather, asked her hand in marriage, he is committed to go through with it, don't you think? The mistake, however, was in absorbing your time for so long and probably scaring off other suitors in whom you might have become interested. He might have told you of the girl to whom he was engaged and saved you your heartache. We cannot imagine a harder blow to have to take than suddenly to be made acquainted of the fact that your bright star of the future is not for you. But, if it is any consolation to you, Avis, many women have suffered the same blow and come through to happiness from another source.

The thing to do now is to let the fellow be off and away to his fiancée. Wash your hands of him completely to save you time. You don't need to get sour about it, or heartbroken. You'll be hurt and you'll have an ache for a while. But you must get over it as quickly as you can, for no other man is going to find you attractive if you go round mooning over some one who does not need you in his life.

Just chalk it off as one of those blows which life delivers in one form or another to us all.

What! No Elephants?



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Plenty of fanciful donkeys and oxen but no white elephants are used in the bright design of the charming frock worn by Mrs. Cushman B. Bissell to a White Elephant tea party in Lake Forest. Install First Archbishop of Detroit Area

Detroit, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Detroit became the seat of the seventeenth Catholic archdiocese in the United States and the Most Rev. Edward Mooney was enthroned as Michigan's first archbishop today.

The jurisdictional changes will continue tomorrow, when Archbishop Mooney installs the Most Rev. Joseph H. Albers, now auxiliary bishop of Cincinnati, as bishop of the new Lansing [Mich.] diocese.

Five of the ten archbishops and 41 of the 58 bishops who participated in today's ceremony will be in Lansing tomorrow for the installation, first official act of Michigan's archbishop.

The changes promulgated by Pope Pius XI. on May 31, his eightieth birthday, were formally effectuated when the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Stephen S. Woznicki, notary, intoned three papal bulls during the ceremony in the Church of the Blessed Sacrament.

The Most Rev. Archbishop Amleto Giovanni Cicoganani, apostolic delegate to the United States, descended from his throne, took the hand of the kneeling Archbishop Mooney, led him to the great golden and green throne which bore the coat of arms of the new metropolitan. and seated him.

Then Msgr. John M. Doyle, diocesan administrator, and 100 clergy advanced to the throne, kissed the episcopal ring, and renewed their obedience.

Among those in attendance at today's ceremony was the Most Rev. James E. Kearney, bishop of Salt Lake City, whose appointment as bishop of Rochester, N. Y., succeeding Archbishop Mooney, was announced today at the Vatican.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Blue flowers that bloom in the summer and autumn are depicted in this lovely applique block named "Blue Trumpet Flower." Two shades of blue, leaf green, and white for a background are the colors selected for this delicate design. For the room of the growing girl and the teen aged miss this applique block is ideal, since it has all the charm and freshness symbolic of the young girls of today. It is an easy pattern to applique and is 12 inches square when finished. Twenty-eight applique blocks are set together in an alternate arrangement with plain ones and surrounded by a three inch white border bound with a one-half inch bias binding.

Ice Fund Must Function Even on Cool Days

Chicagoans who feel cool lake breezes blowing in their windows and others who are pursuing bass and muskie in northern lakes, may not be aware of vacant ice boxes in hot little flats in crowded areas of Chicago.

Even in a summer pleasanter than most, babies need to have their milk kept sweet, and invalids and aged persons also suffer without ice. Readers who want to share the joys of cooled holidays may send contributions to the free ice fund sponsored by THE TRIBUNE.

Loyal supporters of the ice fund continue to remember the needs of their less comfortable fellow city dwellers, sending in checks ranging from $1 to $50 in the last day's count. They were:

L. Molene	$ 50.0
O. B.	10.0
R. H.	5.0
Miss Florence F. Cohn	5.0
Marie D. Schur	3.0
B. C.	1.0
Alfred Marckhoff	5.0
	$ 79.0
Previously acknowledged	$1,640.9
Grand total	$1,719.9

Another means of distributing health is to contribute to the Camp Algonquin fund. More than a month remains of this season in which Chicago children and mothers from poor and overcrowded areas are given two weeks' vacations at Camp Algonquin in the Fox river valley northwest of Chicago.

For $9.10, given by a reader to the camp maintained by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and operated by United Charities, a child can remain there two weeks. In that time the usual pattern of development is a change from a thin, white faced, listless child, to a sunburned, happy, alert one.

Fun, fresh air, lots of wholesome food, all the milk they can drink and such sports as swimming, hiking, and boating make the two weeks children spend at Camp Algonquin stretch out in content so that the memory lasts all year.

Contributions were few in recent days to the Camp Algonquin fund and those few were most welcome according to Mrs. Astrid Save, superintendent of the camp. Contributors were:

Anonymous	$ 10.0
O. B.	10.0
M. K. B.	25.2
Total	$ 45.2
Previously acknowledged	$1,436.8
Grand total	$1,482.0

Gifts to either the free ice fund or the camp may be mailed to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Square, Chicago, and will be acknowledged in the columns of this newspaper.

Golden Browns Attract Notice at Style Shows

BY RHEA SEEGER.

High fashion news from the first of fashion shows stresses rich golden brown tones. Although smart sleek blacks remain the darling of fall fashions the brown shades are running a telling second.

Watch suede . . . suede trimmings such as clever patch pockets, suede bands, suede jackets made like a jacket of thin wool, suede yokes and pocket flaps, and of course belts. Other suede finds are the softest and neatest of suede blouses, with short or long sleeves. The colors—rosy red, fawn, green, and deep brown.

Slim simple wool daytime dresses, the kind that you use for a foundation dress, doing it up or down with costume accessories, are straight and smart. Shoulder lines are down, to reasonable limits, and sleeves also are skinned down to moderately slim silhouettes.

Tweed skirts worn with suede jackets make outstanding street and office outfits, for the skirts can be worn with other jackets and the jackets with other skirts, and the original outfit looks like a regular costume.

Jaunty beret type hats boast feathers rakishly crossing the side. The entire outfits achieve a gay, youthful swagger refreshingly smart after all the wispy summer stuff.

Jersey promises a new popularity, especially in vivid colors, combined with narrow striped wool for contrast. Neat little two piece outfits in Kelly green and cedar red, or copper brown are the smartest.

Wide belts, discreetly flared skirts, short bolero-ish jackets with long sleeves, and moderately short skirts are other details. Black velvet dresses featuring wide swirling skirts and bright contrasting silk petticoats are promised for the early fall collections of afternoon wear. And all this incoming loot will be ready for the first shoppers right away.

Diorama Depicts Gift by Indians of Site of Chicago to Whites

It was 142 years ago yesterday that the Indians gave Chicago to the white man. On that day in 1795 Gen. Anthony Wayne asked Little Turtle and other chieftains of the Potawatamies for "one piece of land six miles square at the mouth of the Chicago river emptying into the southwest end of Lake Michigan where a fort formerly stood."

The granting of that request was the real beginning of Chicago.

The first of a series of eight dioramas in the Chicago Historical society shows Gen. Wayne, diplomat, soldier and founder of Fort Wayne, talking to Little Turtle through his interpreter, Capt. William Wells, who later was slain in the Fort Dearborn massacre of 1812.

Elegant Era Is Forecast in Paris Showings

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Aug. 3.—As the showings gain momentum it appears that the season is to be one of extreme elegance in fabric and great inventiveness in detail of design and combination of colors.

Marcel Rocha's collection is an excellent demonstration. Here vivid color contrasts give the eyenote. Incrustations in two and three colors are used on black dresses.

An outstanding example is a sleek black crêpe daytime frock with a wide inset of pink, blue and yellow at the waistline. This is slightly lower in the back than in the front.

Handsome tweeds make town and sport suits. Dressy ones are of broadcloth and velours de laine. These occasionally are combined with velvet.

Young girls will like the off-the-face hat with ribbon ends braided in pigtail. This is worn with a frock of black crêpe with an encrusted baby blue velvet bow on the front.

The Victorian influence creeps into the evening line in a black velvet gown drawn into folds over the hips, having a large puff at the back of the skirt.

A group of lamé brocades in delicate colors and small patterns is molded to the figure, especially at the back of the skirt, with trimming interest at the front. They have a low décolletage.

Dinner dresses in black have slim, unbelted princess lines and long sleeves. One has a flaring jacket with bright tinsel embroidery suggesting lapels. There are virtually no trains. A dressy gown of gold lamé, very full, is held by bands of purple chiffon spiraling from shoulders to hips. Long capes are shown over evening dresses.

Bobby Watson Unique in His Wardrobe Deal

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Bobby Watson, former musical comedy star who was born in Springfield, Ill., wears a double breasted blue tweed suit as an apartment desk clerk in Irene Dunne's new picture, "The Awful Truth." It is a nice suit, fitting Watson well, and the blue matches his Irish eyes. But the truth is that the suit doesn't belong to Watson.

You could search Hollywood over and be unable to find another established actor who would confess to a gap in his wardrobe, but with Watson this is all a huge joke. He and Walter Catlett, the comedian, are next door neighbors in Hollywood.

"See this suit," says Watson. "Catlett wore it in the drunk scene for 'Mr. Deeds Goes to Town.' Now it's doing service in another Columbia picture. Only I'm sober.

"What's mine is Catlett's and what's Catlett's is mine. I live in a trailer, so you can guess who is smart on that deal. Every time I need something Catlett helps me out. They told me I'd need a dark suit for the scene today. I was fresh out of dark suits, so I put a hurry call in at Catlett's on our private communication line, which is a fish line attached to a bell outside of Catlett's window, and here I am with the suit.

"This one fits okay, but Catlett has a boulevard suit that needs taking in for me and letting out for him. We've had the thing taken in and out between us about seventeen times. The other night Catlett pulled on his end of the fish line like there was a three alarm fire somewhere.

"'Say, Bobby,' he shouts down, 'you've still got our boulevard suit. Tell the tailor to take it out. I've got to go to a funeral Tuesday'."

Watson is an old-time trouper schooled in the George M. Cohan tradition. He worked with Cohan for a number of years and played Cohan's rôle in the Chicago appearance of the "Rise of Rosie O'Reilly" in 1923. The Chicago vaudeville stage served as a springboard for Watson's Broadway career, which included a two year run as the effeminate dressmaker in "Irene." Watson says the part was too much of a success because it gave people the wrong impression of him.

The former Broadway star has been in movies off and on for twelve years. For the last five years he has devoted himself solely to the films, and prefers screen work to stage.

There are few such masters of the pantomime, especially the eye-rolling act, since the days of Bobby Vernon in the old silent comedies.

"The Awful Truth" is one of Columbia Studio's high budget pictures following in the light comedy tradition of "Theodora Goes Wild," which established Miss Dunne in a new type rôle. The current picture calls upon her to show vivacity as a divorced wife who lures her former husband [Cary Grant] and wrecks his aspirations for marriage to a social debutante by posing as his sister and throwing an intoxication act at the engagement announcement dinner.

On the stage "The Awful Truth" enjoyed a long run with Ina Claire. Viña Delmar prepared the script. Leo McCarey is directing.

"Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" has been rewritten for a starring vehicle for Shirley Temple.

Constance Moore, 18, "cowgirl torch singer" from Dallas, has been given a short term contract with Universal and cast in "Iron Man" with young Noah Beery, Dorothy Kent, and Nan Gray. A movie talent scout heard Miss Moore singing with Ken Moyer's band in a night club near Dallas.

Eva Horadesky Pleases Throng at Grant Park

BY CECIL SMITH.

In Grant park last evening the Woman's Symphony orchestra, conducted by Ebba Sundstrom, played a program including the Cesar Franck symphony, Berlioz's "Roman Carnival" overture, Dukas' scherzo, "The Sorcerer's Apprentice," and several lighter works. Eva Gordon Horadesky, contralto, sang the aria, "Ah! Rendimi," from Rossi's "Mitrane," and the Habanera from "Carmen."

The concert was the thirty-fourth in the summer series sponsored jointly by the Chicago park district and the Chicago Federation of Musicians. Since sixty-eight of these nightly, free open air concerts are scheduled during the summer, last night's program marked the half-way point in the most remarkable popular outdoor musical project ever undertaken in this country.

Miss Horadesky's warm voice and smooth style won her a demonstration of approval from an audience reluctant to see her leave the stage. A noncommittal sprinkle of rain, however, made a number of her listeners get up and leave during her "Carmen" aria. This scurrying for shelter seemed a bit unfair, for the rain did not amount to much, and her performance of the aria did.

Unlike some Carmens I am too soft-hearted to name, she refrained from barking like an excited collie, and made her effect by the dusky persuasiveness of her voice.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

The "facial fillip" is a simple little beauty treatment offered by a Chicago shop for the post-vacation repair work. It's a good idea—and a good treatment. The sun, sand, wind, and water encountered in any worthwhile vacation aren't especially conducive to the lily-fair complexion. The skin is apt to become parched.

The treatment consists of a thorough cleansing with a remarkably rich cleanser, and an efficient one. This is followed by a deeper cleansing that does away with little whiteheads and blackheads and the unsightly dry scales. After this comes a layer of a mask-like molding cream that helps tone up the skin and restore its softness. This is the part of the treatment we like best. You can always take a blissful snooze at this stage, which helps that glorious feeling of being pampered and prettied up.

Following this there is a gentle toning up with a cool, mild tonic and as a final touch you have one of those truly careful makeups, with color accents chosen skilfully and carefully. You look awfully swell to yourself and beholders after this.

But what's most important is the repair work that's been done. You'll be surprised at how much of summer ravages just one of these reconditioning treatments can erase.

The same salon has a treatment for sunburnt hair that is a blessing. The scalp is left vibrant, the hair lustrous with restored oil. We're a great believer in treatments such as these. You know how we harp on the ill effects of sun on hair!

BY ANNA NANGLE.

This is a giddy tale of the weird doings of those peculiar beings known as "newspaper people." It's a fair little comedy which combines some of the technique of the slapstick with a plot dressed up with smart chatter.

Edward Everett Horton plays one Dodd, auditor of the Morning Blade, an expert penny pincher who is the bane of the reporters' existence. He chisels down expense accounts and hoards the paper's money with a vigor.

A kidnaping in a small country town in which he is vacationing makes a reporter of him, and in order to keep the story exclusive for the Blade he spends money at a great rate buying up facilities.

Judy McGowan and Perry Brown, star reporters, are sent to cover the story, and discover that dear old Doddsy has everything under control and is by no means the fool they thought him. There are shootings and wild rides, some pretty funny dialog, and a cast completely adequate to the needs of the story.

Mr. Horton flutters and fidgets and does well for himself in his rôle—although the romantic ending doesn't quite seem fitting for him. Lynne Overman and Louise Campbell, Lucien Littlefield and Esther Dale form the main supporting cast.

The film moves along at a brisk pace and, after an overflow of those two-hour spectacles, seems pleasantly brief. It runs just 69 minutes.

It has stiff competition in the form of an extra feature at the Oriental. If you remember the fun you had seeing "The Three Little Pigs" the first time, you might like the review of Disney Academy award winners. It includes all the best colored cartoons from "Trees and Flowers" produced in '32, down to the last one about the city mouse and the country mouse.

The reappearance of the famous little porks won an especially enthusiastic burst of chuckling and applause from the audience.

SYNOPSIS.

Michael Eden, heir to millions, postpones his marriage to Katharine McCann because his foster-father, John Millis, tells him his foster-mother is ill and needs him. Katharine's roommate, Joan, is engaged to Michael's friend, Terry Newton. Terry's uncle Amos Newton believes that Millis killed Terry's father, who was Michael's co-guardian. Michael signs a will making Millis his heir, expecting to change it after his marriage to Katharine. Mrs. Millis attempts suicide when she discovers her husband flirting with her nurse. Michael rescues her and takes her away. When he returns to the home of Amos Newton Katharine and he plan to be married next day, though Michael is ill. That night Michael, in delirium, returns to the Millis home, desperately ill with typhoid fever. Katharine obtains Dr. Kittredge to attend him. Ferenzi, a self-confessed poisoner, charges that Millis bought typhoid germs from him. Michael is moved to Amos Newton's home before it is discovered that Millis has been murdered.

INSTALMENT XLV.

MYSTIFIED.

Amos did not let Michael see how mystified and disturbed he was.

"Please call Ole," Michael said. "And, remember, don't make it too long a time between visits. And don't forget your promise about Kit!"

"Should you like to see her sometime soon, Michael?"

"I'd give anything in the world to see her if she couldn't see me! I don't want her to see me. Not the way I am now. Make her understand that. Tell her that I am getting well for her, and when I do——"

"Kit understands," said Newton slowly. "Now, I'm going. I'll see you very soon."

Newton went out with a feeling that his visit had not been entirely good for the boy. Michael was tossing restlessly again.

When Newton came down to dinner Ito was waiting at the foot of the stairs.

"Dinner is served, sir," he said. "We have company."

"My nephew?"

"Yes, sir."

Newton went swiftly into the library. On the hearth rug stood Katharine, staring into the fire. On the big old lounge was Terry, cuddled down by Joan. Both Terry and Joan looked scandalously happy. Newton surveyed them attentively.

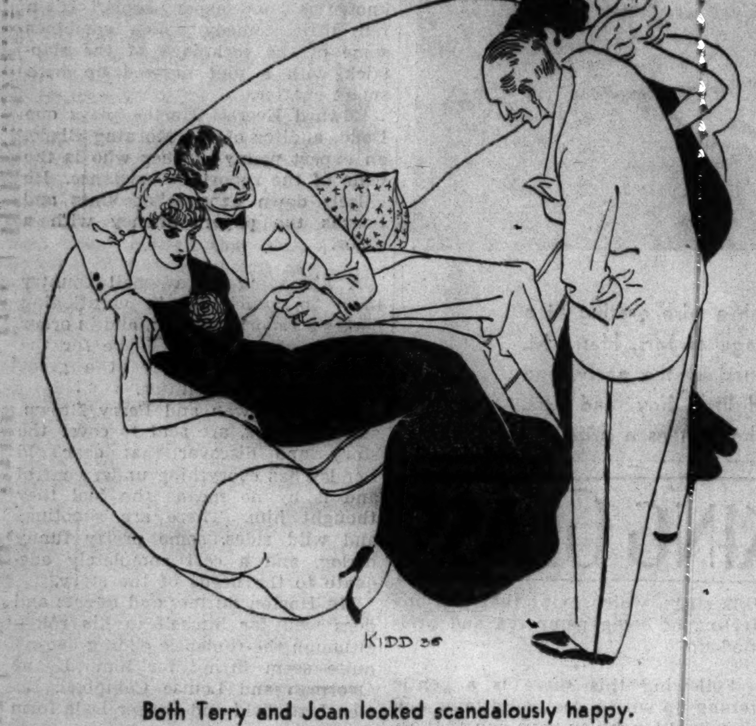
"Married?" he asked.

"Married, Uncle Amos," they chorused.

"Quite as I would wish it," he said cordially, and went over to kiss Joan and grip Terry by the hand. "Very nice, isn't it?" he said to Katharine. Then added demurely: "Barring the billing and cooing, very nice!"

Joan sat up at once, straight as a little ramrod.

"Perfectly justified, Uncle Amos—that comment of yours. I told Terry that we were acting in a primitive fashion." Then she added, with a flash of mischief: "Do we eat with you, or would you rather we ate in the kitchen?"



Both Terry and Joan looked scandalously happy.

Amos offered her his arm, with a deferential bow. Terry loafed along with Katharine, looking slightly ruffled.

"They just got here," Katharine volunteered. "I have not made out yet what sort of wild goose chase you all went on. Joan says to ask you, Mr. Newton."

"How very discreet my new niece is showing herself!" Amos laughed. "There is no mystery about it. It is all exceedingly personal and, therefore, rather dull. It is good of you to be interested. No!" he said, rather sharply, as Katharine flushed, "I meant it. May I go on?"

"If you don't mind."

"I don't mind. To me night before last was a wholesome experience. I had been playing with the idea that I should rid society of John Millis. I was quite willing and indifferent to consequences. But I had simply never thought of the consequences to others, to my nephew, for instance. When the time came for the deed I was aware of two things: One, that I had infected Terry with the same idea. He had made up his mind that he should do the deed. I could not see it at all. I thought he was in duty bound to go on with his own life and make something of himself. To my confusion I discovered that he did not regard my life as finished neatly, and he had decided that his own life was of no importance whatever. The second thing I found out was that killing John Millis was relatively unimportant compared with Terry."

"So they came over to our apartment, Kit," Joan put in, as Newton paused to steady his voice. "They followed me about, each trying to talk to me privately. Terry wanted me to think up an emergency task for Uncle Amos. Uncle Amos wanted nothing but to hang on to Terry."

"Joan, like the wise young woman she is, faced us both," Amos continued. "'What you need,' she said firmly, 'is a change of scene. You need to get out in an empty landscape where there is a lot of sky, where you have to hustle to keep warm, cook your own food or eat it raw, and chop your own wood if you have any fire to cook it with. After you are really yourselves, and have got to the place where you can get a whole night's rest, just sit down together and talk it over. Flip a coin then, for all I care, as to which is to kill John Millis, but decide the matter when you are rested and reasonable.'"

"So you went to Moose lake?" Katharine prompted. Amos had lapsed into silence.

"Yes, Jean put on her little bonnet and shooed us to the car," Terry laughed. We goose stepped obediently.

"It was no feat at all," Joan explained. "I never saw two more exhausted men. They had no spunk. I was afraid I should have to chop the wood myself, but by the time we got there they had begun to revive, and we were having a pretty good time when Kit's telegram came."

"Whereupon," Terry said accusingly, "my uncle coolly pocketed the telegram, climbed into his car, and started for home, leaving us stranded twenty-five miles from a railway station without any means of transportation."

"No chaperon," Joan murmured.

"So I had to marry Joan and make an honest woman of her," Terry explained.

"So thanks for the telegram," Joan said shamelessly. "Now it's your turn. Tell us about Michael."

"Michael seems much stronger," Newton said. "But we are up against an odd proposition." He turned to Katharine. "Shall we discuss these more or less painful things now, or shall we wait?"

"We might as well talk about it," Katharine said soberly. "It is impossible to think of anything else."

With the skill with which they were all familiar Newton summed up his experiences of the day.

"There are two facts which we must try to understand," he pointed out. "One is, that when Dr. Kittredge brought Michael here yesterday morning, before there had been any hint of the death of Mr. Millis, Michael asked Kittredge if Kittredge thought he should go to the funeral."

"Michael asked that?" Katharine asked, her eyes wide with surprise.

"He did. Kittredge knew of no death, and thought the boy's mind was wandering. It was a natural conclusion, as the very idea of his going anywhere was out of the question. But the delusion persisted; a few minutes later Michael gave him money and asked him to order flowers. Orchids, he stipulated."

"But how could Mike have known?" Terry asked.

"Apparently he did know. But he didn't. I have just come from his room. It is my first glimpse of Michael. He asked me, and I promised, to represent him at the funeral."

Terry devoted himself to his soup. He was eating very fast. He did not raise his eyes. The idea of his Uncle Amos as chief mourner at the funeral of John Millis was a little upsetting to a young man with an overdeveloped sense of humor, but he managed to contain himself.

Amos watched him with a gleam of sympathetic understanding in his own eyes. Then he went on:

"Michael explained that it could not matter to his mother, of course, that she was dead. It was the thought of John Millis standing all alone beside her coffin that he could not endure."

There was a gasp from Joan. "O, dear! He's all mixed up!" she cried.

Hurry! Hurry! Sally Letters Due Tomorrow

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Better write those letters in double-quick time, boys and girls!

Tomorrow's the deadline on mail for our Aug. 12 party, you know, and if you're late you're just out, you know.

It would be too bad to miss seeing Shirley Temple in "Wee Willie Winkie," because it's a grand picture and one you youngsters will enjoy immensely. It has everything—your favorite star, an exciting story with lots of action, and Victor McLaglen, C. Aubrey Smith, and a number of other fine actors.

Fifty boys and fifty girls will have an opportunity to see this picture with me at the Roosevelt theater on Aug. 12. If you think you'd like to be one of these youngsters, don't wait any longer to let me know about it.

All you have to do is write a letter telling me why you think you'd enjoy this party. Be sure to tell me your full name, address, and age, and don't ask for invitations for other children. Each child must write his own letter.

Tomorrow morning I'll read every one of your notes and select the best letters. The youngsters who write the most enthusiastic and convincing ones will find their names listed in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

We've made this just as simple as possible, and if you'd like to see this grand movie it should be easy for you to write for an invitation. The address is Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago— and be sure you get to the mailbox today!

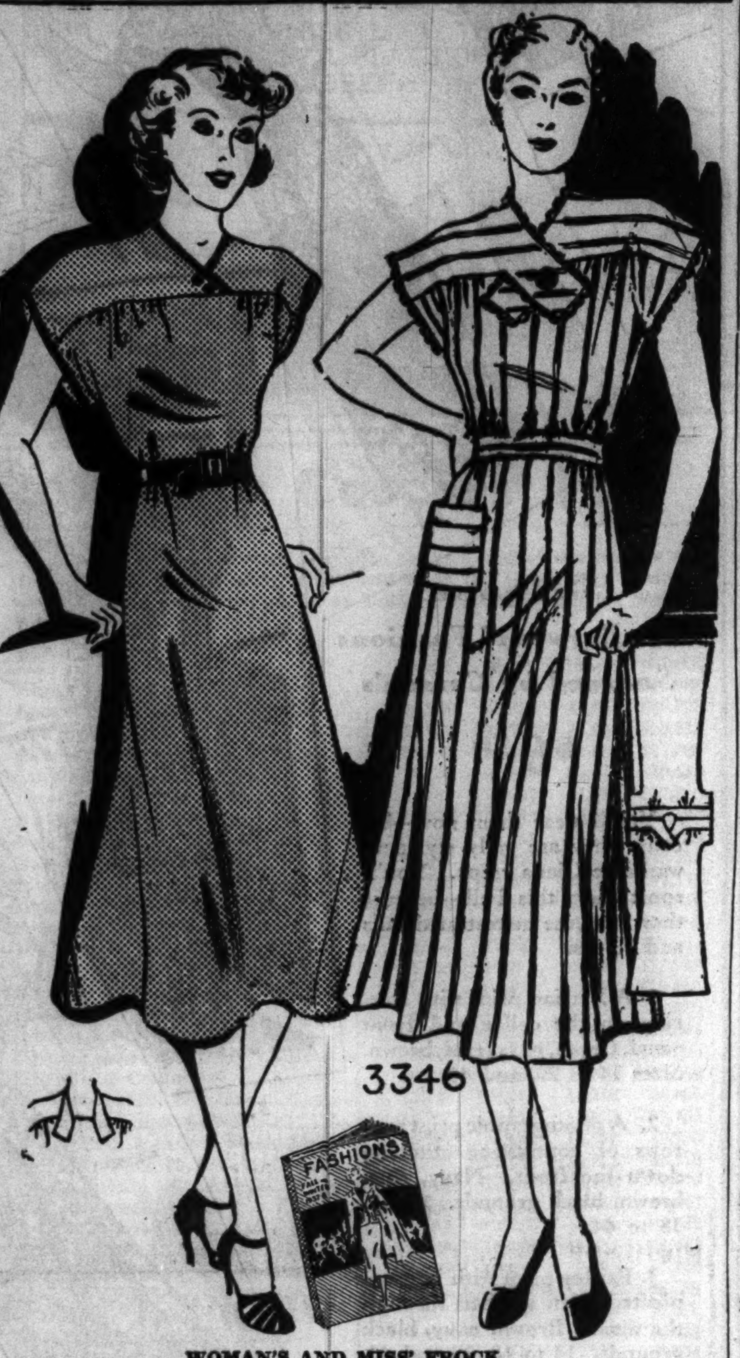
Flattering to All Figures



WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Flattering to every figure type and practical for wear in both town and country is this dress with the unusual and becoming neckline. The original is fashioned of striped batiste.

The high V neckline has a cross-over effect which conspires with the shoulder yoke for a great amount of chic. There are no sleeves other than the caps provided by the extension of the yoke. The bodice is shirred comfortably and gracefully into the yoke and also in the right waistband. If you like, you may use a belt instead. The flared skirt is pretty and gives one a sense of ease. You may have a pocket if you like.

All the summer fabrics make up well in this model. It may be trimmed with bias binding or with rickrack braid.

Style No. 3346 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires three and one-half yards of 35 inch material, with two and one-half yards of braid.

Novel Biscuits Are Made with Tomato Juice

"Cooking After Office Hours," a booklet of tips and recipes for business girls who cook, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents in stamps. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

Hot tomato biscuits are an interesting variation of plain baking powder biscuits and are made by substituting tomato juice for milk in the recipe. If a prepared mix is used to make them, a stir, a pat, and a flash of the biscuit cutter are almost the only operations necessary to put these pale salmon colored biscuits in readiness for the oven.

Hot tomato biscuits split, buttered, and topped with creamed tuna and peas [the combination is as good as it sounds] are the center of interest in today's quick-to-prepare business woman's menu. There should be enough of the biscuits to go several times around, so that they may be eaten not only with their topping of peas and tuna, but with butter and jam as well. Here is the complete menu:

BUSINESS WOMAN'S DINNER.
Creamed Tuna and Peas on Hot Tomato Biscuits
Tossed Salad of Chopped Spinach, Lettuce, Sliced Radishes, and Onion with French Dressing
Additional Hot Tomato Biscuits
Raspberry Jam
Bananas with Currant Sauce
Crisp Cookies [Commercially Made]
Iced or Hot Coffee

A cup of fresh red currants, 2 bananas, and ½ cup sugar are needed to serve this dessert to four persons. Slice the bananas into dessert glasses, wash and stem the currants, and crush them with the sugar. Cover the sliced bananas with the crushed red currants and chill in the refrigerator until mealtime.

Here is a step-by-step procedure for the preparation of this meal.

1. Wash the spinach for the salad in several waters to remove all grit. Wash lettuce and radishes and leave all three vegetables in cold water several minutes to crisp.
2. Stir up tomato biscuits, cut out and place on baking sheet ready for the oven. Open can of tuna, drain, and flake the fish. Open can of peas and drain, saving the liquid for soups or sauces.
3. Prepare the dessert and place in the refrigerator to chill.
4. Set the table, but keep the plates in the kitchen so that they may be served from there.
5. Drain vegetables and dry them in several towels. Turn oven on.
6. Combine vegetables for salad, add dressing and set in refrigerator.
7. Place biscuits in the oven.
8. Make white sauce. Add tuna and peas and heat through.
9. Measure coffee and water into coffee pot.
10. Place salad on the table. Remove hot biscuits from the oven [they will bake in 10 minutes], split and butter enough for one serving for each person. Add the hot tuna and peas. Place the rest of the biscuits on a hot plate and cover with a napkin to keep them warm.
11. Serve the meal.
12. Turn the heat on under the coffee so that it may percolate gently during the meal and be ready to serve with the dessert.

SKIN BEAUTY COMES FROM WITHIN

Skin paint and cosmetic veneer skillfully applied make many a woman of 40 look beautiful to the eyes of the outside world.

But how about Friend Husband? It's hard to FOOL him.

Natural beauty, Lovely skin and Bright sparkling eyes are the birthright of most women—even well into the fifties.

But natural skin beauty can't be bought at cosmetic shops—your doctor can tell you real beauty comes from within—and he knows.

It comes from proper functioning of healthy internal organs.

And to strive to keep these highly important organs—stomach, liver, gall bladder, kidneys, and intestines—in good natural working condition—

Is the daily duty of every woman who desires a clean, clear, soft, silky skin or in other words a fascinating nature-given complexion that compels admiration.

Why not help nature to help you to attain a lovely skin—an alluring complexion—sparkling eyes—Keener mind—by helping to keep internal organs healthily functioning.

This kind of help is inexpensive and easy to get:

Just take one third teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast—first thing in the morning.

Do this every morning—it's a small portion—but a precious one.

It helps nature to help you to gain in activity—to abolish indolence—to be up and doing with an ambitious purpose.

It helps nature to help you to keep gloriously alive and with this activity possessing you — you'll probably look younger — feel younger.

Kruschen is a blend of 6 separate salts sold the world over—millions of jars a year. Try it every morning for 4 weeks—if you do not gain in health and improve your complexion—money back whether you are 35 or 65 or in between.

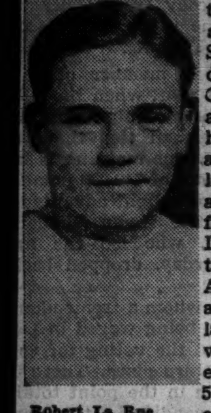
GREAT ALL-STAR BACKS TO BATTER AT PACKER LINE

CAN PROS STOP DRAKE AND HIS TEAMMATES?

Layden Takes Lead in Coaches' Poll.

BY WILFRID SMITH.



Robert La Rue.

When the Green Bay Packers report a week from Saturday to begin preparations for their game against the All-Star team at Soldiers' field Coach Curley Lambeau and his men will have to consider as many problems on defense as there are forms of attack. It is apparent that this year's All-Star squad, and in particular the lineup which was chosen by more than 5,000,000 voters to open hostilities, can do everything perfect football requires.

Sam Francis, who wrote yesterday from Fort Morgan, Colo., that he is "rarin' to go," can be depended upon to kick when and if the All-Americans need kicking. Vernon Huffman, runner, passer, and kicker, is certain to add to the Packers' troubles. Bobby La Rue, veteran half back from Pittsburgh, the Rose Bowl champion of 1937, needs no introduction.

Look Out for Drake.

Neither does John William Drake, from Old Purdue. But it is well to advise Lambeau and his assistant, Red Smith, that whatever introductions the Packers wish will be made personally by Drake on the night of Sept. 1.

Drake is a youngster. He was 21 last March. But a look at his record last year at Purdue, a record which climaxed three years with the Boilermakers, will convince any skeptic that Drake is the smashing, driving half back the Packers must watch. In brief, too much concentration on the anticipated activities of Francis, Huffman, and LaRue may be just the opportunity Drake needs to rip the Packer line.

A Great Ball Carrier.

Minnesota spelled defensive power last year. The Gophers held Big Ten opponents to one touchdown, but although Purdue failed to score, principally because of inability to hang onto the ball when in scoring territory, Drake hit that vaunted Gopher line twelve times for 98 yards and an average of 8.1 yards.

Here's Drake's ball carrying record last fall:

Game—	Times Carried.	Yards Gained.	Average.
Ohio univ.	7	61	8.7
Wisconsin	16	88	5.5
Chicago	9	81	9.0
Minnesota	12	98	8.1
Carnegie Tech	20	88	4.4
Fordham	10	56	5.6
Iowa	19	95	5.0
Indiana	13	84	6.4
Totals	106	651	6.1

Good on Defense, Too.

Although it was Drake's brilliant ball carrying which made possible this record, his crashing defensive tackles helped write Purdue's exceptional three year book of gridiron achievements. Drake has the physical qualifications for a great player. He now weighs 210 pounds and he 's one inch over six feet tall.

Incidentally, he is in splendid condition now, as he is finishing a summer's work as life guard at Oakland, Cal. He will leave the latter part of next week from California to report at Northwestern university, where the All-Stars will begin training Aug. 14.

Drake likes football. It was his only sports activity at Purdue. He had an excellent background of preparation for college play during his

Dnieper Runs Near Record Mile to Win Winnetka Purse

BY FRENCH LANE.

Dnieper, a 4 year old from the stable of Mose Goldblatt of Cincinnati, ran one of the fastest miles of the year yesterday to win the Winnetka purse at Lincoln Fields.

Paced by the speedy Top Dog for the first six furlongs, the son of Kiev-Nerva, a castoff from Joseph E. Widener's stable, raced the eight furlongs in 1:35 4-5. The first quarter had been run in :23 1-5, the half in the startling time of :45 4-5 and the three-quarters in 1:10 1-5.

This was a fifth of a second faster than the three-quarters mile record at Lincoln Fields. The mile was run a second slower than the track record and only a second and two-fifths slower than the world record.

Threadneedle Is Second.

Trailing Dnieper home by three-quarters of a length was Morris Vehon's filly, Threadneedle. A nose behind in third place was Paul Kelly's Top Dog and still another nose back was R. C. Thatcher's Our Reigh, a son of Reigh Count-Anita Peabody.

Few races at Lincoln Fields have provided more excitement because it was an open betting affair with Threadneedle and Watersplash mustering the most support as a result of a plunge on them a few seconds before the field reached the post.

Still neither was an outstanding favorite. As a result those who backed Dnieper got $11.40 to win, $4 to place, and $3.60 to show. Threadneedle paid $3.60 to place and $3.20 to show. The show price on Top Dog was $10.40.

Merry Mood Off in Front.

Merry Mood was away in front after a five minute delay at the post, but within a half furlong Top Dog had passed him. Half way down the back stretch Top Dog was enjoying a lead of two lengths, Dnieper had moved into second place and Our Reigh was third.

The battle between Top Dog and Dnieper took place in the stretch. It didn't last long once the Goldblatt colorbearer pulled up on even terms with the son of Bull Dog. Dnieper slowly pulled away in the final stages.

Threadneedle's efforts in the stretch were better than that of any of the others. She moved from fifth place into a contending position in less than a furlong. She was going in fine stride at the finish.

It was the best race Dnieper has run this year and it was the third victory he has been able to score in 17 starts. He was given a rousing ride all the way by Jocky P. Roberts.

Another large week day crowd gathered at the Lincoln Fields course.

YANKEE HOMERS CRUSH LAST SOX HOPES, 7-2, 5-3

Dickey's Drive with Three On Wins Second.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 3.—The Yankees this afternoon entertained a crowd of 66,767 by loosing a home run shower that beat the White Sox, 7 to 2, in the first game of a double-header and, 5 to 3, in the second game. All the Yanks' dozen runs of the afternoon were driven in by homers, the last of which was Billy Dickey's No. 19 with the bases full in the eighth inning which snatched an apparent victory from the Sox.

The Chicagoans had tied the score 1 all in the seventh, Johnny Whitehead driving in a run that matched Tony Lazzeri's second inning homer. The Sox had gone ahead, 3 to 1, in the first of the eighth despite a colossal boner by Luke Sewell. Then Dickey's big act and the Yank double victory.

A Jinx Is Broken.

Thornton Lee's spell over the Yanks, which had brought him five victories, was never present. Lefty really didn't pitch a good game but Whitehead was great in the second game, battling many discouragements before the blowup. While Dickey's homer was a sound smack, the riot was precipitated by a blooper double by Di Maggio, which dropped in front of Dixie Walker and back of Zeke Bonura.

The double Yankee victory evened the season series at eight games apiece and put the Sox seven games behind the leaders. About the best the boys can hope for now is second place, as they are the only team in the league which has been able to hold its own with the slugging leaders.

They Solve Mr. Lee.

Lee's annoying supremacy over the Yanks really ended before the first game was 15 minutes old when Gehrig smashed out his No. 22 homer after Crosetti and Rolfe had perpetrated rather scratchy singles. After those three runs the Sox never seemed themselves.

In the fourth the Sox got one of their runs on a double by Appling and a single by Sewell after two were out, but in the Yankee half of the same inning Lazzeri whanged out his No. 8 homer and the Yanks resumed their three run advantage.

Then came the New York seventh. With two down Crosetti and Rolfe singled and Di Maggio socked his No. 32 homer for three more runs. The Sox eighth was significant because the Chicagoans lifted their hit total to ten before getting their second and final run on a fly.

The five homers the Yankees knocked this afternoon brought the

Johnny Page Dies Following Injury in Ring

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Johnny Page, Chicago lightweight, who was injured in a bout with Eddie Zivic of Pittsburgh last night, died in St. Francis hospital tonight without regaining consciousness.

Page, floored twice in the ninth round of the scheduled ten round battle, was hanging from the ropes when the referee stopped the bout and credited Zivic with a technical knockout. When Page failed to regain consciousness physicians diagnosed the injury as a brain concussion and ordered him removed to the hospital.

FOUGHT IN CHICAGO.

Johnny Page, lightweight boxer, who died in Pittsburgh last night as a result of injury in the ring, was working out of Chicago. He was beaten in a six round bout by Harry Booker of Chicago at Marigold Gardens on July 26 and was scheduled to appear on a card at Western stadium last night.

He was born in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 11, 1915, and had been fighting in Texas, Mexico and California since 1934. His record was 13 victories, eight by knockouts, and five defeats. He was 5 feet 10½ inches tall and boxed at 135 to 137 pounds.

Tommy O'Loughlin of Chicago was Page's manager. He was at the ringside in Pittsburgh when the boxer was stopped by Eddie Zivic Monday night. Page had made his headquarters in Chicago for only two weeks.

O'Loughlin went to Pittsburgh by plane last night to arrange to send the body to Dallas for burial.

BILL LEE HURLS 3 HIT GAME FOR VICTORY NO. 12

Helps Attack with Home Run.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Between the pitching of Gen. Bill Lee and their taste for home runs, the Cubs encountered no difficulty while doing their pennant chores yesterday in the opener of a three game series with the acquiescent Phillies. The league leaders notched three homers, one with a man on. The Phillies mustered enough strength to slap one ball out of the compact premises. Thus the final score was 4 to 1.

Frank Demaree put his mates in a winning mood right at the start and they stayed that way. He sent a drive against the old wall for two runs in the first inning. Old Gabby Hartnett featured the fourth with a drive into where the old left field bleachers used to be. And Lee piled up additional honors for himself by home running into the space behind the new fence in left in the fifth. Outside of these smashes, the Cubs were guilty of only three singles off Sylvester Johnson.

No. 12 for Lee.

Lee's 12th victory of the season, was compiled with neatness and dispatch—there being only three Phil hits and only 87 minutes being consumed by the eight and one half innings.

Two of the hits—both singles—were picked up by Dolph Camilli, a Cub graduate, and the other was the one propelled out of the park by Herschel Martin. Except for these hits the Phils sent only seven balls to the outfield, one of which failed to stick in the outstretched hands of Augie Galan.

The Cubs didn't begin to get rough in the first inning until after Galan had flied to Klein and Hack had popped to Grace in front of the plate. Then Collins singled to center. Demaree banged his No. 11 homer over the temporary board wall and against the bricks of the old playing field. Herman sustained the action by singling to center, but was forced by Hartnett on a roller to Scharein.

Lee Misses One.

The Cubs had only a little fun in the second. Lee singled to center after two were out and went back to his pitching chores when Galen flied to Martin. In the third Collins survived when hit by a pitched ball with one out, but was mopped up on Demaree's double play ball to Young. The fourth, however, was a bit more profitable. This was where Hartnett blew his sixth homer over the board barrier in left center.

The Phils' first base runner was Moore. He escaped from Lee on a pass after two were out in the first inning. Lee then dropped ten men in a row, only one of them sending the ball far enough for an outfielder to do the handling. At the start of the fifth the no hit charm was shattered. Camilli did it by singling to right, but he was doubled on Whitney's tap to Jurges. Scharein then lined to Cavarretta. Just for this Lee opened the home fifth with his homer over the short fence in left.

Phils Get Better.

The Phillies improved on their performance in the sixth. They not only got their second hit, but a run. Both were the work of Martin. He lined his homer into the open space behind the right field flag pole. Another Phil hit—the third—turned up in the seventh. After Moore and Klein had been dispatched on infield taps, Camilli singled to right. Nothing developed from this because Demaree charged in and took Whitney's short fly.

A base hit, if produced along with

KENNEDY FACES PEARSON, YANKS FOR SOX TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 3.—Vern Kennedy, who has lost one and won none in Yankee competition this year, will oppose Monte Pearson tomorrow. Pearson has won six and lost none in American league competition this year, with two of his victories being chalked up at the expense of the White Sox.

The crowd of 66,767 was the largest week day crowd before which a White Sox team ever played.

The new bleachers, capacity 18,000, were packed a half hour before game time. Only the brand new upper deck of the right grand stand showed vacancies. That part of the structure was roped off.

Between games George M. Cohan presented Lou Gehrig with a watch commemorating Lou's 1,900th consecutive American league game and also the Sporting News valuable player award for 1936.

Sox Lose Two to Yanks; Last Hope Vanishes

total in the last five Yank-Sox games to sixteen for the Yanks to one for the Sox. Dickey's homer was the 122d of the year for the New Yorkers.

FIRST GAME

The Yanks started the first game with a rush and, strangely enough, without any aid from Di Maggio. Crosetti bounced a single over Lee's head and stopped at second when Rolfe caromed a single off Hayes' glove after Jackie had made a nice try. Di Maggio flied to Walker and the first two pitches to Gehrig were strikes. Lee came in with the third pitch to Gehrig and Lou smacked his No. 22 homer into the new right field grand stand, a shot of about 360 feet. After Crosetti, Rolfe, and Gehrig had trooped across the plate Dickey bounced to Piet and Powell was thrown out by Appling.

The Sox, who wasted a single by Kreevich in the first inning, wasted two singles in the second inning. Radcliff led off with a safe one and was forced by Appling. Sewell was called out on strikes, but Piet singled to center, Appling taking third. Lee whiffed.

Sox Break Through.

The Sox entered the scoring column in the fourth inning. Bonura flied to Di Maggio and Radcliff fanned, but Appling doubled to left and scored on Sewell's single to center. Piet flied to Powell.

Lee got rid of Dickey and Powell in the home fourth and got two strikes past Lazzeri. Then he pitched another home run ball. Tony hit it into the left field boxes for his No. 8. Lee tossed out Hoag.

Lee opened the fifth inning with a single, the sixth Sox hit, but was forced by Hayes. Kreevich flied to Di Maggio, but Walker singled to center, Hayes reaching third. Bonura popped to Rolfe.

In the seventh Hoag fouled to Bonura and Lee threw out Ruffing. Then Crosetti singled and went to third on Rolfe's single. Di Maggio, denied a hit up to this point, then sent a high homer, his No. 32, into the left field boxes, scoring behind Crosetti and Rolfe. Gehrig grounded to Hayes.

Walker opened the Sox eighth with a single and stopped at second on Bonura's single. Lazzeri robbed Radcliff of a hit when he ran back of second and scooped the ball to Crosetti, forcing Bonura. Appling flied to Powell, Walker scoring. Sewell forced Radcliff.

SECOND GAME

Scoring started in the second game after two were out in the Yankees' second inning. After missing two strikes, Lazzeri drove his second homer of the afternoon and ninth of the season into the left field boxes.

Only nine White Sox faced Gomez in the first three innings, and of these Piet was the only one to get the ball to the outfield. Hayes Bonura, Shea, and Whitehead fouled out.

Hayes was the first Chicagoan to reach base. He won the distinction by opening the fourth inning with a line double to left center. Kreevich whiffed on three pitches, forswearing the sacrifice. Walker flied deep to Di Maggio, but Bonura walked. Radcliff popped to Rolfe.

It's No Use.

After Appling and Piet had whiffed in the fifth Shea walked to become the third Sox base occupant. Whitehead bounced to Lazzeri.

With two out in the sixth Walker registered the second Chicago hit by caroming a single off Gomez's shins. Bonura's hot grounder got away from Lazzeri, Walker reaching second and Bonura first. Radcliff flied to Di Maggio.

Rolfe opened the sixth with the so-called fourth Yankee hit, but it, like the third, was due to Bonura's inability to handle a bouncer. Di Maggio flied to Walker, Rolfe reaching second; then Gehrig was given an intentional pass. Dickey hit into a double play started by Appling.

Appling opened the seventh with a single to right, the third Chicago hit, and advanced on Piet's sacrifice. Shea flied to Powell, but Whitehead singled to right, scoring Appling with the tying run. Hayes fouled to Dickey.

Powell reached first at the start of the Yank seventh when Bonura dropped a throw from Appling. Zeke's persistent clumsiness seemed to upset Whitehead, a situation that wasn't helped when Lazzeri singled to left. Powell stopping at second. Hoag flied to Kreevich. Gomez hit into a double play, Hayes to Bonura.

Sox Get Going.

Kreevich opened the eighth with a single but was forced on Walker's attempted sacrifice. Bonura singled to center, Walker stopping at second. Radcliff doubled to left, Walker scoring and Bonura stopping at third. Appling was intentionally passed, filling the bases. Sewell batted for Piet and lined a single to right, scoring Bonura. Sewell, for many years rated among the smartest of ball players, ran to second on Hoag's throw to the plate without observing that Appling had stopped at second and Radcliff at third.

Luke, perhaps feeling as silly as he ever felt in his life, was out, Hoag to Dickey to Gehrig, who went over to second base to tag the humiliated Luke. Instead of having the bases full with one out the Sox had two on with two out. Murphy replaced Gomez and gave an intentional pass to Shea, filling the bases. Whitehead struck out.

Lee and Cubs Defeat Phils, 4-1, on Homers

what did happen, could have caused the Cubs considerable anxiety in the eighth. The inning opened with a walk to Scharein, the second gift from Lee. Grace flied to Galan. Browne batted for Johnson and also flied to Galan, but this one trickled through Augie's hands. Kelleher ran for Browne and was forced by Martin's tap, which would have grown into a double play if Jurges hadn't thrown low on the relay to Collins. Arnovich then batted for Young and flied to Cavaretta.

The only man the Cubs had on base after Lee's fifth inning homer was Galan, who walked as soon as Jorgens started to pitch in the eighth.

FRENCH PITCHES TODAY

Larry French will pitch for the Cubs against the Phillies today in the second of the three game series. The southpaw hopes to make up for what the Phils did to him when he attempted an eighth inning rescue act for Clyde Shoun in the recent series at Baker bowl. Wayne LaMaster, also left handed, will oppose French.

Since the Phillies intend to use a southpaw in today's game, Manager Grimm will start George Stainback in left field instead of Augie Galan.

Tomorrow will be Kiwanis day at Wrigley field. A Kiwanis club committee has invited all the members of that organization within a hundred mile radius to take part. They will gather for a luncheon at the Sherman hotel before the game.

MACKEY, TAYLOR PICKED TO LEAD COLORED STARS

Buzz Mackey of the Washington Elites yesterday was named manager of the eastern team which will meet the west in the fifth annual colored all-star baseball game at Comiskey park on Sunday. Jim Taylor of the Chicago American Giants was chosen leader of the western team.

A belated deluge of votes from Nashville, Tenn.; Washington, D. C.; Newark, Philadelphia and other cities where Mackey is popular swung the election to him after he had been running third in the early returns of the poll conducted by 20 colored newspapers. The poll closed at noon yesterday, with Mackey receiving 21,187 votes.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Miss Patricia Rhodes, University o Detroit co-ed, was in a quandar today when she came to vote in th national poll to select a coach for th College All-Stars. And she had goo reason to be.

You see, Dana X. Bible, coach a the University of Texas, is Patricia' uncle and she thinks he is the grand est football teacher in America. Sh also has high regard for Charles E [Gus] Dorais, athletic director at th University of Detroit.

Realizing that she couldn't divid her allegiance, Patricia wired he uncle Dana for advice.

That was enough for Patricia.

Snatching a stack of petitions, sh hastened to Woodward avenue, De troit's main thoroughfare, and se about gathering votes for Dorais. Sh did a good job, too. No pedestrian police officer, shopper, or even th taxicab driver escaped her.

CARDINALS SIGN CRASS FOR FULL, HAFELI FOR END

Louisiana State Star Adds Back Field Power.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

The Chicago Cardinals, who for three years have labored to keep pace with the pack without an offensive full back, yesterday announced the signing of Bill Crass, 205 pound line smasher from Louisiana State.

Announcement also was made by Coach Milan Creighton of the signing of Dwight Hafeli, 190 pound end from Washington university in St. Louis. Hafeli is a member of the College All-Star squad which meets the Green Bay Packers at Soldiers' field on Sept. 1.

He Has a Reputation.

Crass, who comes highly recommended for his all-around play, including passing and kicking, will be one of several new candidates among whom Creighton hopes to find at least one man who can go into the line and get a yard when a yard is needed.

Mike Mikulak, who has been the Cardinals' full back for three seasons, is regarded as one of the greatest defensive full backs in football. He has been of little value as a ball carrier, however, a fact which cost the Cardinals several victories each season, notably one against the Bears last year when they had four chances from inside the five yard line to score and gave up the ball an inch from a touchdown.

Threat Is Missing.

Lack of a plunger not only has proved costly in such specific instances, but had deprived the rest of the attack of the deception and effectiveness possible when a smashing full back is present as a threat.

Hafeli is the third member of the 1937 All-Star squad now under contract to the Cardinals. Sam Galovich of Knox, and Hal Carlson of DePaul, both guards, were signed last week.

Paul Dean Balks at Cardinal Order to Report to Houston

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 3.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals announced today they had released Paul Dean on option to Houston of the Texas league and a few minutes later stated the release had been held up temporarily.

Paul Dean.

Branch Rickey, vice president and manager of the team, explained the young pitcher, after agreeing at first to go to Houston, had declared he would not report.

The quiet brother of the eccentric Dizzy Dean has been useless to the Cardinals since May, 1936, when he began to complain of a sore arm. He has not been able to return to pitching form, despite an operation on his right shoulder.

Rickey Defends Idea.

Rickey said the decision to send Paul back to the minors was reached after several conferences, during which the young pitcher indicated his preference for Houston and his willingness to go there in an effort to regain his pitching prowess.

"I thought that was a good and wise thing to do," Rickey declared. "It would give him a chance to pitch, something he could not do here. Despite what some people think, the Cardinals still are in the pennant fight, and Manager Frisch does not think Paul has enough stuff to use him in any games.

"But Houston is out of the Texas league race. If Paul went there, he would have any number of opportunities to test his arm. He would be able to regain his confidence and form and be ready to go with the Cardinals next spring.

They Won't Give Up.

"We are trying to coöperate with him to work out his future. We want a pitcher in 1938 in Paul Dean. His refusal to go to Houston defeats our plan."

Rickey said he would have further conferences with Dean and with Sam Breadon, president of the Cardinals, in an attempt to reach a solution to the problem. Paul's return to Houston would not have involved a cut in salary, he added.

Hunt, Moreno Win in Junior Net Tourney

Culver, Ind., Aug. 3.—(AP)—A solid schedule of play in the second day of the national junior and boys' tennis championships at the Culver Military academy today, found the junior singles stars perched in the third round and the boys' singles in the fourth round.

Favorites emerged safely with one exception. Joseph Armstrong of St. Paul, son of a former ranking member of the first ten, upset Earl Cochell Jr., of Los Angeles, seeded fifth in the boys' class, 2-6, 6-0, 6-2.

In the junior features, Joseph Hunt of Los Angeles ran through John Mullany of Milwaukee, 6-0, 6-1, while John Moreno also of Los Angeles, shut out Riley Hancock, Indianapolis, 6-0, 6-0. Both were second round matches.

Richard Bender of Elizabeth, N. J., second seeded boy, advanced to the fourth round, trimming Ralph Hart Jr., of St. Louis, 6-0, 6-0.

In the junior doubles, Hunt is paired with Moreno to head the draw. William Baumann of Oak Park, Ill., and Jack Joost of Burlingame, Cal., top the boys' doubles list.

In tomorrow's play two rounds of junior and boys' singles and one round of doubles in each class are scheduled. Hunt faces David Johnson of Washington, D. C., in the junior feature.

YACHTING FOLKS GET PEEVISH AT LACK OF DRAMA

But Harold Vanderbilt Is Having a Good Time.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 3.—(AP)—After watching the slow tempo yachting extravaganza between Harold S. Vanderbilt and Tom Sopwith, many experts left this seaside resort today with firm intentions of lending full support to turtle and toad races.

There is much to be said in favor of turtle races, at least. A million dollars is not needed to conduct them and from reports from turtle tracks the competition is far more exciting than the brand offered by Sopwith's Endeavour II. against Vanderbilt's Ranger. As far as known no turtle yet has beaten another turtle by 18 minutes and 32 seconds as Ranger did Endeavor II yesterday.

Heat Is on Sopwith.

Also, turtles never need a day off. You don't have to put 'em in dry dock or get the barnacles scraped from them as you do big yachts.

From all that can be gathered before some experts pack up for New York, where street cars look like streaks of lightning by comparison with yachts, Skipper Sopwith also wishes the ownership of the America's cup was decided by turtles with no one to blame for a defeat but the turtles themselves. For the truth is the British skipper is very much on the hot spot.

British Delegation Irked.

Everybody in Newport and surrounding ports is complaining because Ranger has run away with the first two races. The British delegation is peeved because it was led to believe the America's cup would be brought back to England after all these years. The Americans, except Skipper Vanderbilt and his few cronies, are sore because Sopwith's showing threatens the very life of the international races.

Unless Endeavour II. can make a gallant comeback and salvage at least one victory, it may be many years before another challenge is made or accepted for the old mug.

Banks, Doering Lead C.D.G.A. Amateur Qualifiers with 144's

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Johnny Banks, former Notre Dame captain, who registers out of Butterfield, and Art Doering, Stanford university senior from Westward Ho, yesterday imparted a true collegiate touch to the qualifying round of the twenty-fourth annual Chicago District Golf association amateur tournament by tying for the medal with 36 hole scores of 144, par for the distance at the Glen Oak Country club.

Johnny Banks.

Following them were George Dawson of the home club, who was once numbered among the University of Illinois athletes, and Pick Wagner of Kildeer, one time Northwestern star. Dawson settled for a 148, while Wagner finished with 151.

Holes 40 Footer.

Banks, a former western junior title holder, put together a pair of 72s, the last one growing out of a 40 foot chip shot for a birdie at the eighteenth. Doering, who was tied with Dawson at the end of the morning 18 with a 71, came back in 73, the while Dawson was climbing to a 77.

Eight scorers of 159 were forced into an extra inning playoff, which was transacted at the tenth hole. Ed Maureman, ex-captain of the University of Chicago team and once a runnerup in the current tournament, took a penalty shot to eliminate himself in the playoff.

Johnny Lehman, the ex-Purdue star who won the title at Sunset Ridge last year, was exempt from yesterday's qualifying round by virtue of being the titleholder, but tested the course in a nine hole workout. In this morning's first round of 18 holes Lehman will meet W. D. Kerr of Beverly, who scored a 155.

Doering vs. Sheehan.

Doering's first opponent will be Tom Sheehan Jr., of Lincolnshire, No. 1 man on the Notre Dame team this year, while Banks will meet Joe Fall Jr., of Sunset Ridge, 1936 Western junior medalist. George Dawson meets Ken Heilmann of Westmoreland, and Wagner will trade shots with Irving Cochrane of Crystal Lake.

Pairings for the morning's first round with qualifying scores included:

BRITISH SKIPPER TRIMS BALLAST OF ENDEAVOUR II.

Challenger Meets Ranger in Third Race Today.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bristol, R. I., Aug. 3.—Bars of lead weighing several tons were scooped out of Endeavour II., the British challenging sloop, in an effort to lighten her burden today and prepare for a better showing in the third race of the America's cup series tomorrow.

Tom Sopwith, skipper of the English ship which has suffered two crushing defeats at the hands of the Ranger, the American boat steered by Harold S. Vanderbilt, had Endeavour hauled out on the ways at the Herreshoff yard here in the belief that she might have been carrying a lobster pot or a mess of seaweed. Endeavour's underbody was smooth as glass, however, and then it was decided to lighten the ballast.

Takes Severe Beating.

Endeavour was beaten by three miles and a margin of 18 minutes and 32 seconds on the 30 mile triangular ocean course yesterday, a worse trimming than on Saturday. Yacht historians go back 50 years to find a cup race defeat as disastrous.

With two victories for Vanderbilt and only two more needed to keep the ancient silver mug in this country, where it has stayed since 1851 despite sixteen challenges, gloom as blue as the hull of the Endeavour began to fall over the British camp. Charles Nicholson, the outstanding English yacht designer, who fashioned Endeavour, admitted that on the basis of performance Ranger looked about fifteen minutes faster on the course.

"We came over here with what we thought was a fast boat," said Nicholson, "and we were confronted with the outstanding development in cup racing history. What can we do? We can't change the shape of Endeavour overnight."

Sopwith reiterated his post-mortem statement of last night that he had no "kicks on boat or crew." He insisted Endeavour would come back and win four races to sweep the series, but the prediction caused no explosion in Newport.

Light Wind Forecast.

Light airs, the kind of zephyrs that the wily Vanderbilt woos and wins with much greater success than Sopwith, are forecast for tomorrow when the big yachts scud out to sea again. Sopwith is expecting to have a big new "Genoa jib," the sail that appears to have driven Ranger along at a surprising rate of speed.

Tomorrow is Queen Elizabeth's birthday and all English ships have been ordered to dress up with flags for the occasion. An English victory would add to the celebration.

NEARBY COUNTY DECIDES MIAMI NEEDS NEW TRACK

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Broward county voters approved, 3,419 to 340, today the proposed $1,300,000 Hollywood horse race track, which would be the third within 12 miles of Miami. Miamians had no voice in the referendum, for the plant would be located just north of the Dade [Miami] county line.

Joseph M. Smoot, president of the Hollywood Jocky club, said construction would begin about Aug. 15 and the track would be ready for racing about Jan. 20.

BLAZE D'OR, away fast but taken under a strong hold after about an eighth, came strongly under good handling the last three-sixteenths and was going away fast at the end. GIRL'S CHANCE had good speed, was nicely rated, but began to weaken after five-eighths. CHIPETA, away slowly, raced wide throughout and finished stoutly in her good effort. Winner trained by C. Hyde Smith. Went to post at 2:49. At post 1½ minutes. Start good from gate. Won driving; place same.

ODDESA LADY, eased back when in close quarters shortly after the start but quick to recover when clear, worked her way up steadily, came to the outside in the stretch and won drawing clear. QUEENIE, a prominent factor from the start, was under strong urging after reaching the final quarter and held on courageously. MISS PITTYPAT, slow to begin, started to move up on the far turn, but fell back when racing wide on the stretch turn, came with a rush on the extreme outside in the stretch.

Sallee. Went to post at 3:17. At post 3 minutes. Start good for all but Glad Wings from gate. Won driving; place same.

MACAWLEE, away fast and having speed, raced under snug restraint for a half mile, took command gradually when urged and, holding on well, withstood MISS SYCAMORE'S rush. Dnieper Runs New Record Mile at Crete

It also wagered briskly despite the fact that favorites were not doing so well in most of the races.

Two choices that did win were Oddesa Lady in the second race and Macawlee in the third. This completed the daily double which most of the patrons had managed to hook up.

Legenda Runs Out.

The Lake Forest purse at six furlongs engaged a smart band of 3 year olds. It brought grief to the favorite players when stoutly backed Legenda from the Woolford Farm stable failed to finish in the money.

For the first time in her career Legenda acted badly at the post. This didn't help her any in the early stages of the race, which found Hy Sonny and Play Pal fighting it out for the lead.

Legenda didn't show any speed in the late furlongs either and wound up far back of the winner Hy Sonny. Play Pal and Black Arrow finished second and third. Hy Sonny, was the second choice in the betting. After running the six furlongs in 1:11 1-5, he paid off in the mutuels at $8.80.

DELIBERATOR TO CARRY 126 LBS. IN CRETE STAKE

Hermana Gets Top Weight in Dearborn.

Fred A. Burton's sprinter, Deliberator, will carry top weight in the $2,500 six furlongs Crete handicap to be renewed at Lincoln Fields on Saturday afternoon. He has been assigned 122 pounds, five more than the French Lick Springs stable's Marica. Deliberator demonstrated lightning speed yesterday morning when he galloped a half mile in :46 4-5.

High weight in the $2,500 Dearborn handicap, fashioned for 2 year old fillies, also to be run on Saturday, will be on the Valdina Farms stable's Hermana. Her assignment was 122 pounds.

Trainer Ben Jones still is looking for a new luck piece. He saddled Legenda, the favorite in the fourth race, then watched the 3 year old filly run next to last in the ten horse field.

Al Jolson and his wife, Ruby Keeler, were club house guests yesterday and they seemed to be picking plenty of winners. They were en route from New York to Hollywood.

Clocker Bill Cunningham says the Lincoln Fields track is faster this year than at any time since it was built. He believes this condition is sure to bring some new track records.

EDDY DUCHIN AT WIFE'S SIDE AS SHE DIES IN N. Y.

Complications After Birth of Son Are Fatal.

New York, Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. Marjorie Oelrichs Duchin, wife of Eddie Duchin, the orchestra leader, and a member of a socially prominent family of New York and Newport, died today in the Harbor sanitarium. She was 29 years old.

Death was due to complications which followed the birth of a son last Wednesday. A series of blood transfusions were administered and she appeared to rally until Monday, when she suffered a turn for the worse.

Mr. Duchin, who was playing an engagement at a Chicago hotel, came to New York by plane Monday night. With his wife's parents, Charles De Loosey Oelrichs and Mrs. Marjorie Oelrichs, he kept an all night vigil and was at his wife's side when she died.

Baby Well and Strong.

The baby, which weighed nine pounds at birth, is well and strong, and "doing nicely," the hospital attachés said.

As Marjorie Oelrichs, a noted society beuaty, with a lively interest in music and the arts, she was married to the orchestra leader, one year her junior, June 5, 1935.

There was a romance of Broadway and Park avenue, which began when the society girl with her mother and a party of friends visited the old Central Park casino while Mr. Duchin was playing there.

The band leader and heiress were introduced by a mutual friend. When their engagement was announced, Miss Oelrichs explained she had first fallen in love with the musician while watching him, night after night, playing the piano.

Their marriage was recorded in the New York social register, but in subsequent editions Mrs. Duchin's name was dropped.

Prior to her marriage she was prominent in society activities while carving out a career for herself. Her mother encouraged her in operating an exclusive shop and in writing. She studied art abroad, produced many colorful murals, and, for a while in Paris, dealt in real estate.

Stir Created by Article.

In 1927 she created a widespread controversy with a magazine article in which she asserted American men do not know how to make love, "and the foreigner who marries an American girl for her money is an exception."

Mrs. Duchin's mother is the former Miss Marjorie Turnbull, a daughter of the late Lieut. Frank Turnbull, U. S. N. Mrs. Duchin was a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Oelrichs, a grandniece of the late Hermann Oelrichs, and a first cousin of the present Hermann Oelrichs.

Through her paternal grandmother she was the grandniece of the late Mrs. Theodore Havemeyer. She was also a great-granddaughter of the late Chevalier De Loosey, one time Viennese consul at New York.

BIRTH CONTROL LEAGUE OFFICES RAIDED IN BOSTON

Police to Prosecute All Those Involved.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Headquarters of the Massachusetts Birth Control league, almost within the shadow of the state house, were raided tonight in a renewal of a police drive against the dissemination of contraceptive information.

While officers of the league girded for a battle to determine the legality of giving information on birth control, the Worcester office of the league closed with the announcement of its chairman, Mrs. Charles Baker, that it would remain closed "until a Supreme court decision" clarifying the state law was available.

Police Lack Search Warant.

Police also raided tonight a clinic affiliated with the league in the crowded south end section. Literature was seized there and at the headquarters.

While police did not have a search warant when they entered the league headquarters, the league president, Mrs. Leslie D. Hawkridge, opened the office to officers, but refused to allow them access to the safe or to filing cabinets, police reported.

"We gladly welcomed this investigation, which we hope will clarify the Massachusetts law," Mrs. Hawkridge said. The present law, she said, was enacted when little contraceptive information was available.

Raid Brookline Office.

Other offices of the league also were raided at Salem and Brookline.

Police Lieutenant James Tonra, who led the raiding party at Brookline and reported the seizure of "birth control literature and a large supply of contraceptives," declared: "We intend to prosecute every one connected with the clinic."

The list of doctors, sponsors, and advisers of the Massachusetts league is a virtual blue book of civic and educational leaders. Heading the doctors was Robert L. De Normandie, famous obstetrician who for many years attended the births of Beacon Hill's fashionable families. Among the sponsors appeared such names as those of William Allan Neilson, president of Smith college, and Tyler Dennett, resigned president of Williams college.

Mellon is the son of the chairman of the Gulf Oil corporation, and a grandnephew of Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury.

ZEALAND'S 'WHITE COLLAR' UNIONS LOSE PAY RAISES

Court Decides They Have No Standing.

BY QUENTIN POPE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Aug. 3.—New Zealand's labor program suffered a heavy blow today. By a 3 to 1 decision the Appellate court brought crashing to the ground the elaborate organizaton on which the policy of settling minimum wages and limiting work hours is based.

The case which resulted in this setback was one in which employers from Otago province protested the illegality of the state industrial commission's rulings governing wages and hours on the ground that clerical workers did not come within the scope of the commission's powers.

This view was upheld by the Appellate court, which said that clerical workers are not engaged in industry, an industry being defined as an undertaking in which both an employer and employé are occupied.

Hits White Collar Workers.

The decision cuts off all white collar workers from the benefits of the government's hoisting of pay rates back to the 1929 standard, and bars them from participation in the 40 hour week.

The industrial effects of this are enormous, for a striking feature of unionized labor under the Labor party government has been the mushroom growth of fresh organizations. Insurance workers, bankers, who held out and were bludgeoned into submission by the minister of labor, oil employés, farm agents, realtors, and many other white collar occupations have blossomed forth as new unions.

Moreover, these unions have been linked with the central body to create that one big union which has long been the dream of labor organzers. They also have been given special authority to contribute their funds to aid political parties.

Expect Unions to Dissolve.

The unions were viewed as a solid basis of support for the Labor administration which expected to end its old financial troubles and entrench itself in office indefinitly.

Unless government action is taken at once to shore up the collapsed framework of the industrial structure, these unions will now dissolve, for they can promise their members no rights to collective bargaining such as is granted the craft organizations.

STEPHEN A. DAY TO RUN FOR U. S. SENATOR ON COURT PACKING ISSUE

Stephen A. Day, founder and president of the Friends of the Supreme Court, an organization he said spread to twenty-two states during the agitation against the Roosevelt plan to pack the Supreme bench, announced himself yesterday as a candidate for the United States senate.

While he will go into the Republican primaries, his announcement was considered the opening of the fight against Senator William H. Dieterich of Beardstown, whom he denounced as an active supporter of the now defunct Roosevelt plan.

Day, a Chicago lawyer, said in his announcement that if Senator Dieterich wins reëlection President Roosevelt doubtless will construe the victory as a mandate to revive and renew all over again the attempt to pack the court.

DEDICATE THIRD SHAFT IN FRANCE TO U. S. WAR DEAD

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

SOMME-PY, Marne, Aug. 3.—The third in a series of dedication of monuments to commemorate the United States' sacrifices in the world war was the occasion for Harry W. Colmery, national commander of the American Legion, to sound what struck listeners as a warning. He said that Americans were greatly worried over the European war danger and pledged the United States veterans' support for any moves to promote peace and international understanding.

Col. D. John Markey of the battle monuments commission presided at the inauguration of the monument here, which commemorates achievements of 85,000 soldiers of the Rainbow division as well as the 2d, 36th, and 92d divisions, who fought under French command in the Champagne sector from July to October, 1918. These achievements included particularly the capture of Blanc Monts, which for four years had been in German hands.

Markey reviewed the operations in which the American troops took part and paid a special tribute to Maj. Gen. Le Jeune, who commanded the Rainbow division, which recovered Blanc Monts, and whose portrait hangs in its town hall.

STOCK PRICES DROP SHARPLY; TRADE EXPANDS

Steel, Motor and Farm Shares Hard Hit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 3.—Buffeted by cross influences—including profit taking, strike developments in the railroad and automotive fields, improved earnings statements and increased dividend announcements—prices on the stock exchange went through a varied course today, with bearish forces winning out to send stocks fractions to about 3 points lower.

Steels, motors, farm implement shares and carrier equities were the hardest hit, the preceding day's increases in the first three categories being wiped out and substituted by good sized losses.

While not reaching alarming proportions, volume for the day picked up somewhat, transactions totaling 897,060 shares.

U. S. Steel Off 2⅛ Points.

U. S. Steel common was the first stock to suffer from profit taking, opening a point lower and continuing downward under pressure to close at 118 for a 2⅛ point drop. Youngstown was another hard hit steel stock, dropping 2⅝ points. Bethlehem slipped below par for a loss of 1¼ points. Crucible and Republic also declined about that figure, while losses in the majority of other steels did not reach 1 point.

In the farm equipments, Case and International Harvester reached new highs for the year in early trading; the latter held steady to close with a fractional increase. Case sagged into the minus column with a loss of 1 point under persistent pressure. Deere was easier throughout, slumping 3¾ points. Allis Chalmers held a half point gain.

Motors Sell Lower.

Motors met realizing from the outset, many traders holding that they had been pushed too fast on Monday, while the influence of the favorable General Motors dividend action was believed to have run its course. Chrysler was pushed more than 2 points lower, while General Motors helds its loss to $1.25.

Selling in the railroad shares was believed to have been caused by fears the industry may soon face labor difficulties. Reports that the nonoperating unions negotiating with the carriers on wages had voted to strike gave rise to that belief. New York Central was delivered in good quantity for a drop of 1⅛ points. Atchison, off 2¼, Southern Pacific, off 1, Union Pacific, off 1½, and Southern railway, off 2½, were among the leading losers. Contributing to the dip in Southern railway was the announcement that the company planned to increase its capitalization.

Texas Electric Service.

Investors' Guide: Please advise on 6 per cent preferred stock of Texas Electric. J. A. S.

Answer: The $6 dividend preferred stock of the Texas Electric Service company deserves a good rating.

Net income, after interest on the $33,730,000 of first mortgage 5 per cent bonds outstanding, dropped sharply from the peak figure of $2,270,000 in 1930, but has been sufficient to cover dividend requirements on the 62,613 preferred shares by a wide margin. Net income was $1,344,000, or $21.47 per preferred share, in 1936, compared with a low for recent years of $1,091,000, or $17.43 per preferred share, in 1935.

The company furnishes electric power and light to a population of about 400,000 in Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, and sixty other communities in northern, central, western, and southwestern Texas. It is a subsidiary of American Power and Light company, which owns all common stock.

Peabody Coal 5s of 1953.

Investors' Guide: I should appreciate your advice as to whether or not Peabody Coal company first 5s of 1953 would be rated a conservative, first class investment. G. M. M.

Answer: Although interest has been paid and earnings improved last year, these bonds do not constitute a conservative investment. The $9,200,000 of bonds outstanding should be considered somewhat speculative. Interest charges were covered 2.4 times in the year ended April 30, 1937, compared with 1.5 times in each of the two preceding years.

Hudson Bay Mining.

Investors' Guide: What is the par value to stock of Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company, Ltd.? What is the present rate of dividend they are paying and have they any bonds outstanding? C. A. M.

Answer: The stock has no par value. Dividends paid in the last two years: Fifty cents each on Aug. 1 and Dec. 16, 1935, and June 29 and Dec. 21, 1936; 75 cents June 28, 1937. The company has no bonds outstanding.

Stock in "Street Name."

Investors' Guide: I have 100 shares of stock which I am retaining in "street name." Is it against the law to keep same in street name for any length of time before registering it? J. B.

Answer: No.

BUS LINE AUTHORIZED.

Operation of a motor bus transportation system in Springfield, Ill., as a substitute for the abandoned electric railway service over the West Lawrence and North 9th street line was authorized recently by the Illinois commerce commission. The order becomes effective about Sept. 1. It provides that the bus line charge the same fares as the electric line did.

UTILITY TO ACT ON SALE.

A special meeting of stockholders of South American Utilities corporation to act on a plan for the sale of the property and assets and dissolution and liquidation of the company has been called for Aug. 27.

OIL STOCKS DECLINE.

Domestic and foreign crude petroleum stocks totaled 307,139,000 barrels at the close of the week ended July 17, a drop of 116,000 barrels from the previous week, the bureau of mines reported.

PRICES OF GRAIN DECLINE AFTER EARLY STRENGTH

All New Crop Futures of Corn at Season's Lows.

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

Closing prices on the September delivery of principal grains on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday:

	Yesterday.	Monday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$1.13	$1.15	$1.10¼
Corn	.94¼	.94⅝	1.06¼
Oats	.27⅞	.28⅜	.42¼
Rye	.77⅞	.78¼	.80½
Soy beans [Oct.]	.98¼	1.01	......

Grain prices dropped sharply in the late trading yesterday after a moderate showing of strength early. All deliveries of oats and soy beans, the new crop futures of corn, and May wheat and rye sold at new lows for the season, while corn and oats sold at new lows for more than a year.

Weaknesses in the Winnipeg and Liverpool wheat markets and private reports confirming trade views that near bumper crops would be harvested this year were the depressing influence. Closing trades were at practically the bottom on all grains, with wheat showing net losses of 2 to 2⅛ cents; corn, ⅜ to 1⅝ cents; oats, ⅝ to ¾ cent; rye, ⅜ to 1⅛ cents, and soy beans, 2¾ to 3¼ cents a bushel. The dollar quotation for the latter was eliminated from the blackboard as the result of yesterday's decline.

EXPERTS ESTIMATE CROPS

An aggregate wheat, corn, oats, rye, and barley harvest of 5 billion 41 million bushels, valued at approximately 3 billion 400 million dollars, is indicated for this year by estimates of six Chicago statisticians released to grain traders yesterday.

The aggregate yield of the five major grains was the largest since 1932, when it was 5 billion 343 million bushels. The 1936 harvest, as shown by the department of agriculture returns, was only 3 billion 112 million bushels, while the 1928-'32 average was 4 billion 950 million bushels.

Despite the sharp decline in grain prices which has occurred recently, the Aug. 1 valuation of the five crops was the highest since 1929. It was approximately $800,000,000 in excess of the Dec. 1 farm value of grain in 1936 and 1935, as given by the department of agriculture, and nearly 1 billion 500 million dollars more than the value of the 1934 harvest.

Wheat Loss Offset by Corn.

While drouth, heat, and black rust combined to reduce the estimated wheat crop from a July 1 aggregate of 883,000,000 bushels to an Aug. 1 total of 851,000,000 bushels, this was more than offset by an increase of approximately 200,000,000 bushels in the prospective yield of corn during the last month. Chicago experts estimated the latter crop at 2 billion 771 million bushels, the largest since 1931, against 1 billion 524 million bushels harvested in 1936, and a 1928-'32 average of 2 billion 553 million bushels.

An increase of 43,000,000 bushels during July in the estimated yield of oats, which was placed at 1 billion 154 million bushels, or over 350,000,000 bushels in excess of 1936, was partly offset by a reduction of 21,000,000 bushels in the probable yield of barley. The latter grain was affected by heat and drouth at the critical period of its growth.

OUTPUT OF CRUDE OIL INCREASES TO RECORD HIGH

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Crude oil production jumped to a new record peak in the week ended July 31 at 3,591,900 barrels daily, up 15,500 barrels from the preceding period, the American Petroleum institute indicated today. The flow of oil in California continued to move against the trend, dropping 11,400 barrels.

Heavy consumption cut another substantial slice from stocks of finished and unfinished gasoline. Inventories at refineries, terminals, and in transit fell 1,148,000 barrels to 70,872,000 barrels. Refineries operated at the best level of the year, estimated by the institute at 86 per cent of rated capacity. The industry as a whole ran 3,425,000 barrels of crude oil daily to stills, against 3,380,000 barrels last week.

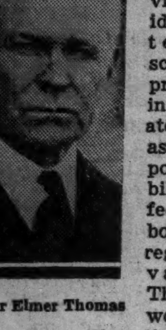
PRESIDENT SAYS RIGID DOLLAR DANGEROUS NOW

Raps Thomas Plan for 'Stabilization.'



Senator Elmer Thomas

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asserted today that any rigid formula for stabilizing the dollar would be dangerous at present in view of the "rapidly shifting international scene." He expressed this view in a letter to Senator Elmer Thomas [D., Okla], opposing Thomas' bill to give the federal reserve board power to regulate currency values. The Thomas measure would empower the board to adjust the dollar's value so as to maintain stable prices. The board would be authorized to stabilize the dollar at a level it deemed desirable.

The President's letter, made public by Thomas at a senate committee hearing on the monetary measure, said that any "formalized course of action might well be premature and might therefore do even more harm than good, both at home and abroad."

Cites Previous Statement.

Quoting from his own message to the London economic conference in 1933, Mr. Roosevelt said the government still is seeking "the kind of dollar which a generation hence will have the same purchasing power as the value we hope to attain in the near future." He declared the treasury effected the existing monetary agreement with Great Britain and France as a step toward currency stabilization.

"We are watching all developments in the monetary sphere with a view to making any timely contributions we can," he added.

Under the tri-power agreement, participating nations use stabilization funds to prevent sharp fluctuations between their currencies.

Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board, also raised objections to Thomas' proposal. In a separate communication, Eccles said he believes economic stability should be sought "through coördination of monetary and other major policies of the government. Economic stability, rather than price stability, should be the general objective of public policy," he added. Eccles said his statement reflected the views of the reserve board's governors.

Asks Repeal of Power.

During the day Senator Bridges [R., N. H.] introduced a bill to repeal the President's power to order issuance of up to $3,000,000,000 in paper currency. Although the power has not been used, Bridges said, "the law is unsound and should be taken off the books." Bridges said the provision "disregards the simplest monetary lessons of the world."

"The law is unsound and should be taken off the books," he asserted. "The issue of such paper currency would severely injure the wage earner, salaried man, savings bank depositor, owners of life insurance policies, and those living on fixed incomes from investment not only in bonds but in rents.

"The President has so repeatedly proclaimed his intention to balance the budget, that he should be the last to object to elimination of this dangerous provision and its constant threat."

FORGOTTEN BANK CASH TO ENRICH NEW YORK STATE

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The state treasury is due for a windfall of about $2,000,000, and all through the forgetfulness of persons who deposit money in banks and then forget all about it.

Under a new state law, three-quarters of all "abandoned funds" in banking institutions must be paid over to the controler's office. "Abandoned funds" are defined as deposits unclaimed for twenty-two years.

Among the approximately $3,000,000 estimated by the banking department to be cluttering up the banks' coffers in such fashion are pre-war German marks, Italian lire, Russian rubles, and good American dollars.

Crop Control Called Vital by Roosevelt

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Federal crop control is inevitable, President Roosevelt declared at his press conference this afternoon, if the country's economics are to be preserved.

Federal control measures are necessary, he said, because with heavy crop surpluses forcing down prices, half the nation would have its buying power dried up. He said crop control is necessary for cotton, wheat, corn, hogs, and other farm products.

Mr. Roosevelt illustrated his position by recalling cotton conditions in 1933. At that time his administration inherited 5 cent cotton and a 15 million bale carry-over from the previous administration, he said. Now the carry-over has been cut to 5 million bales. Since 1933 the price of cotton had been increased to 12 cents by his administration, he said.

Should the barriers be lifted and no control exercised, the country soon would revert to 5 cent cotton and begin massing huge surpluses. The same, he insisted, would be true of other farm crops. He would not say when he would seek enactment of control legislation, but held it to be necessary in addition to soil conservation.

PRAISES FARMERS

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The nation's farmers are becoming "conservation conscious," Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace declared here today.

"It is the federal government's object to give county conservation committees more responsibility so each farmer will feel he has a hand in shaping policies of the conservation program," Wallace told a conference of western agricultural officials.

Farmers have responded wholeheartedly, especially in the mountain and great plains states where the land has suffered from overcropping and overgrazing, he said.

The secretary reported the 1937 program includes 68 per cent of the United States' crop land and 4,000,000 farmers will receive about $400,000,000 in benefits.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER MOVES TO RECAPITALIZE

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Directors of the International Paper and Power company today voted to effect the company's plan for change in capitalization, following approval to rearrange the $150,000,000 capital structure and clear the way for resuming dividends by issuing new stock in exchange for present securities by the Securities and Exchange commission.

The company, a holding concern with properties in New England and Canada, suspended dividends on preferred shares in July, 1931, and on the common in the third quarter of 1930.

The plan calls for a new capitalization consisting of 1,000,000 shares of new 5 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock, $100 par value, and 6,000,000 shares of $15 par common. Part of the new stock would replace existing capital issues. There would also be authorized a series of common stock purchase warrants entitling holders to buy 1,348,218 shares of the new common at $25 a share.

IMPORTS OF U. S. EXCEED EXPORTS BY $147,321,000

Purchase of Farm Goods Heavy.

Foreign countries sold more goods in this country in the first half of 1937 than the United States was able to sell abroad, according to foreign trade figures for the six months period, issued yesterday by the department of commerce. The unfavorable trade balance was $147,321,000. In the comparable 1936 period the United States exported $9,548,000 more goods than she imported.

Results for June reported by the commerce department disclosed the same trend which has been visible for several months. The total volume of foreign trade again expanded with imports gaining more than exports.

June imports, the department said, were $20,583,000 larger than exports for the month. In June, 1936, the United States had a favorable margin of $5,384,000 exports over imports.

Exports Over 1½ Billions.

The total value of the goods exported by the United States in the first half of 1937 was placed at $1,536,380,000, an increase of $381,419,000 over the comparable 1936 period. Goods imported in the period were valued at $1,683,701,000, an increase of $519,192,000 over last year.

Agricultural commodities again contributed substantially to the rise in the volume of imports in June. Such articles which were imported in larger volume were meats, corn, hides, flaxseed, wool and vegetable oils. Other import gains were shown by coffee, newsprint, copper, raw silk and rubber.

Cotton Sales Grow.

Exports of raw cotton from the United States amounted to $175,849,000 in the first half of the year, compared with $154,082,000 in the same period last year. Shipments of unmanufactured cotton declined to $36,103,000 from $43,670,000 in the corresponding 1936 period.

The commerce department listed gold imports of $1,029,327,000 for the first half of 1937 against imports of $536,692,000 in the corresponding period last year. Silver imports were placed at $34,525,000, against $117,594,000 a year ago. June gold imports were $262,103,000 and silver imports were $6,025,000, against $277,851,000 and $23,981,000, respectively, last year.

UNIFORM STATE RULES SOUGHT BY SECURITIES MEN

Formulation of a plan for creating uniformity in state regulations governing registration of securities was undertaken here yesterday by the coördinating committee of the National Association of Securities Commissioners in coöperation with the Investment Bankers Association of America. Meetings were held at the Sherman hotel.

Chester R. Montgomery, securities commissioner of Indiana and chairman of the coördinating committee, said part of the work of the committee will be to draw up suggested forms for use in all states when securities are registered. This form will be presented to the national convention of the association at French Lick Springs, Ind., Oct. 12-15.

The committee also is seeking to evolve simplified regulations for filing securities, which will be suggested to the convention.

Senate Group Studies C.&O. Stock Legality

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Senate investigators asked a Chesapeake and Ohio railway attorney today for proof that $15,000,000 worth of preference stock recently issued by the line was not "wholly illegal." Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] told Thomas H. Jones, C. & O. lawyer, that he believed the issue's validity was open to "serious question" because it had not been authorized by 90 per cent of the road's stockholders.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler.

His assertion opened a new series of hearings by the senate railway finance committee investigating the recent fiscal transactions of C. & O. and its maze of related holding companies.

Jones challenged Wheeler's contention, on grounds that the stock issue's validity had been certified by the Virginia corporation commission. The line is incorporated in Virginia. After a two hour argument the Montana senator conceded that the issue probably is "now immune to attack" in Virginia, but maintained that it still is subject to question in other states.

Issued as Stock Dividend.

Jones testified that the securities were issued in January as a stock dividend, carrying the right to elect two of the carrier's ten directors. About 72 per cent of the common stockholders approved the issue, he said.

Wheeler contended that this authorization was insufficient under Virginia law, which requires consent by 90 per cent of the stockholders to any change in their voting rights.

He put in evidence an opinion prepared for the road by a well-known Virginia law firm—Hunton, Williams, Anderson, Gay & Moore—which expressed "grave doubts as to the validity of the voting power provided for the preference stock."

"For that reason," the document read, "we are not able to give you our opinion that the preference stock now outstanding has been lawfully and validly authorized, created, and issued."

New Yorker Testifies.

J. M. B. Hoxsey, listing expert for the New York Stock exchange, then took the stand to testify that this opinion "was never called to our attention." The exchange "undoubtedly" would have refused to list the stock for trading if it had believed there was any question of its legality, he said.

He was followed by Harold Standley, of the underwriting firm of Morgan, Stanley company, who told investigators he had declined to market the stock so long as its validity was open to question. He testified that he had recommended "some affirmative action" to clear up the matter, preferably a new stockholders meeting at which 90 per cent approval could be obtained.

PERMIT EDISON TO ISSUE STOCK FOR BIG MERGER

State Board Clears Way for SEC Action.

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday authorized the Commonwealth Edison company to issue additional stock for the purpose of acquiring common and preferred stock of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois which now is outstanding in the hands of the public.

This is the first step in the proposed plan for financial and corporate union of Public Service, Western United Gas and Electric company, and Illinois Northern Utilities company with Edison. As previously announced, the program does not contemplate merger of the physical properties or operating organizations of the four companies.

Await SEC Approval.

The entire program is pending before the Securities and Exchange commission, but action by the Illinois commission on the proposed exchange of Public Service and Edison stock legally must precede SEC action.

The Illinois commission authorized issuance of 6,534,912 shares of new $25 par Edison stock to be issued at the rate of four shares for each one share of $100 par Edison stock now outstanding. It authorized 2,655,103 new Edison shares to be issued at the rate of 3 shares for each Public Service common share, and four shares for each Public Service preferred share. Commonwealth Subsidiary corporation, a subsidiary of Edison, now owns about 34 per cent of voting stock of Public Service.

Edison and Public Service announced following issuance of the commission order that no definite program for exchanging stock will be made until the SEC acts.

Condition Imposed.

One condition is attached to the commission order. This relates to an estimated $18,092,494 "excess" of securities issued prior to 1914 by Public Service in payment for properties acquired by it over the estimated original cost of construction of these properties.

The commission ordered that the excess be reduced immediately by $5,000,000—this amount to be charged against capital surplus of Public Service. It is further required that a $6,000,000 additional reduction be made by amortization charges against Public Service net income in the 25 years beginning Jan. 1, 1938.

SUIT AGAINST DOHERTY FOR 20 MILLION ENDED

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Settlement of a year-old $20,000,000 accounting suit brought by a minority group of Cities Service company stockholders against Henry L. Doherty was authorized in federal court today. Judge John W. Clancy approved the acceptance by a majority of the stockholders of Doherty's compromise offer of $1,250,000 of common stock.

Counsel was directed to submit a formal order dismissing the complaint, in which Doherty, Cities Service company, Cities Service Securities corporation, Henry L. Doherty & Co., and ten present and former Cities Service directors were named defendants.

The court accepted a report of Special Master J. Rhodes O'Reilly recommending approval of the settlement, and noted that while it was alleged that a $20,500,000 stock transaction resulted in a great loss to the company, there had been no liquidation to indicate just what the amount of the alleged loss was.

In making the compromise offer from his sickbed in Philadelphia last February, Doherty wrote that he felt a settlement would be for the best interests of the company despite what he termed the "lack of merit" of the plaintif's allegations.

GERMAN MONEY CIRCULATION HITS POST-WAR PEAK

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Aug. 3.—German currency circulation touched a new peak since the war when it reached 7,106,000,000 marks on July 31, according to a Reichsbank statement issued today.

This is an increase of 1,754,000,000 marks since Chancellor Adolf Hitler came to power and exceeds the previous post-war record at the end of the prosperity year, 1929, by almost a half million marks.

The official gold coverage, which, however, by no means represents all the gold available to the Reichsbank, showed a further drop of 75,000,000 marks, or slightly more than 1 per cent.

BANK OF FRANCE CUTS DISCOUNT RATE ON LOANS

A reduction in the discount rate of the Bank of France, the second since July 1, was voted yesterday by the directors. The action restored the 4 per cent rate which was in effect prior to the financial crisis of last June.

Rates on security loans were reduced from 6 to 5 per cent and on thirty-day loans from 5 to 4 per cent.

The action suggested that the government feels it has the financial situation in hand and is not concerned over further export of capital.

French currency was steady on exchange transactions yesterday. The franc closed at 3.75⅝ cents in New York, unchanged from Monday's quotation. Other foreign currencies showed little change in terms of American money.

The British pound closed at $4.98 7-16, or 1-16th cent above the preceding day. The Japanese yen rose .03 cent to 29.06 cents while Hongkong dollars were quoted .027 cent higher at 31.05 cents.

SEC REVEALS BONUSES PAID TO GEN. MOTORS, DU PONT EXECUTIVES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—[Special.] — General Motor corporation paid bonuses to 66 executives in 1936 ranging between $32,000 and $411,161 and E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. paid bonuses to 46 officers ranging between $32,000 and $95,000, the Securities and Exchange commission revealed today after denying requests of the two concerns for confidential treatment of their 1936 bonus lists.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of the board received the top payment of $411,161 on the General Motors list, and William S. Knudsen, vice president, received $387,450, the next largest payment.

U. S. JULY DEFICIT IS $249,384,405; SURPLUS IN 1936

Washington, Aug. 3. — (AP) — The treasury rounded out the first month of this fiscal year with a $249,384,405 deficit, against $123,221,873 excess of expenditures in the like period last year.

The treasury's summary for July 31, issued today, showed that the wider gap between income and spending this year was due to a falling off in repayments to lending agencies and greater expenditures for ordinary government operations. These items, however, were offset in part by a decline in outlays listed for "recovery and relief" and by increasing revenue.

For July this year, receipts aggregated $409,160,636, compared with $293,886,769 in the same month a year ago.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 3.—Turnover in the bond market today was again light—in some divisions even lighter than yesterday—and prices were irregularly lower, except in the United States treasury group, where fractional gains were the rule.

Total turnover for all bonds was $5,781,250 face value compared with Monday's four year low of $4,629,300. Transactions in Federals was approximately $250,000 face value.

Low priced and defaulted rail liens were the focal point for selling although some higher priced issues shared the pressure.

With a host of earnings reports accounted for, some of which have not been encouraging, industrials faltered a little. Utilities were dealt some setbacks.

An upward surge in Poland 6s marked trading in the foreign group. These loans gained 3 to 62. Japanese issues took divergent paths with the 6½s up 1⅜ and the 5½s off 1⅛. South American issues were spotty.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks were irregular yesterday. Volume totaled 31,000 shares. LaSalle Extension accounted for the largest portion for a single issue at 2,850 shares and rose ⅛ for the day to 3½, a new high for the year. IMPROVED OUTLOOK FOR COTTON CROP SEEN BY MRS. E. H. MILLER

A cotton crop of 14,973,000 bales, 543,000 bales in excess of a month ago, against 12,399,000 bales harvested in 1936, was shown by the Aug. 1 estimate of Mrs. E. H. Miller, compiled for Shields & Co.

Condition of the cotton crop Aug. 1 was 79.4, the highest on record for that date, compared with 72.3 last year. The cotton plant, according to Mrs. Miller, is late in many sections and generally sapy, and unfavorable weather could cause very rapid deterioration.

Indicated yield of cotton in leading states and the official estimated harvest in 1936 follows:

COTTON

While an early dip in cotton futures carried prices for several of the deliveries into new low ground for the season, short covering and trade buying absorbed the selling by the south and a rally followed. There was a return of hedging pressure near the close and the best prices were not maintained. Chicago closed unchanged to .06 cent higher while other markets were .05 to .09 cent a pound higher.

The New York Cotton exchange service estimated the condition of the current cotton crop is the highest in over 25 years and said the indicated yield per acre on Aug. 1 might be the largest on record. In 1933 the average yield per acre of cotton was 212.7 pounds.

Spot cotton closed .05 to .10 cent higher with New Orleans, 11 cents; New York, 11.05 cents; Huston, 10.65 cents, and Galveston at 10.70 cents a pound. Prices follow.

Commodities

Heavy demand for copper, lead, and zinc was reported in leading metal markets of the world yesterday. Export copper in New York sold as high as 14.62 cents a pound, the best level for nearly a month, in response to better prices for copper on the London metal market.

The demand for lead was reported to be the heaviest in several weeks. The quota offered for sale yesterday was quickly taken and a waiting list for today built up. The price was unchanged at 6 cents a pound in New York and 7 cents in East St. Louis. Zinc markets were active at the prevailing price of 7 cents a pound, East St. Louis.

Liquidation of rubber was resumed as futures fell .12 to .19 cent a pound and smoked ribbed sheets for immediate delivery closed at 18.25 cents a pound, down .13 cent. Cottonseed oil again penetrated new low ground for the season when contracts were sold freely in late trading, and closed .13 to .17 cent a pound lower.

Coffee also declined on Brazilian and European selling. Santos contracts finished 0.07 to 0.10 cent a pound lower and Rio finished unchanged to 0.07 cent a pound lower. Cash coffee markets were quiet but steady.

SOUTHERN ROAD PLANS TO BOOST COMMON STOCK

Proceeds to Meet Bond Maturities.

The Southern railway yesterday notified the New York Stock exchange of plans for an increase in its authorized common stock from 1,500,000 shares of $100 par value to 2,500,000 shares of no par value. Stockholders will be asked to approve the increase Oct. 19. The company will use the proposed new stock in meeting bond maturities totaling $31,122,328 which occur in the next two years, Fairfax Harrison, president, said.

"In the judgement of the board," Harrison added, "the time is now approaching when the company's credit, its financial strength and its earning power will warrant continuance of the policy inaugurated in 1926 of securing at least a portion of the necessary new capital through the sale of obligations convertible into common stock."

Notes Held by RFC.

Maturities occurring in the next two years include $19,327,328 of serial notes held by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad yesterday sought approval from the interstate commerce commission of its application for a $5,000,000 five year loan from the RFC. The money is being borrowed to meet a $4,427,000 maturity of 5 per cent mortgage bonds of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh railroad, and a B. & O. equipment trust issue. The road said that it had expected to be able to meet these maturities but floods and disturbed industrial conditions had cut its income sharply in May and June.

Salomon Bros. & Hutzler submitted the high bid for an issue of $1,920,000 of Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific 3¾ per cent equipment trust certificates which the road is selling to finance the construction of 1,000 new steel gondola cars. The price bid was 102.444 per bond.

Woolworth Stock Sold.

A block of 88,350 shares of F. W. Woolworth & Co., offered privately by Kidder, Peabody & Co., has been sold, it was reported yesterday. The stock was liquidated for tax reasons from the holdings of the estate of C. P. Case, former Woolworth official.

An additional issue of 25,000 shares of Hussmann-Ligonier company, St. Louis manufacturer of refrigerator equipment, will be offered today. The stock is the unsubscribed portion recently offered to stockholders.

An issue of 20,000 shares of $5 convertible preferred stock of the Sharon Steel corporation will be offered today by an underwriting group headed by Hemphill Noyes & Co. and Speyer & Co.

HOUSE ACCEPTS SENATE RETAIL PRICE RIDER

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—(AP)—The house accepted today a retail price maintenance rider attached by the senate to a District of Columbia bill. Proposed by Senator Tydings [D., Md.], the rider would relax federal antitrust laws to permit manufacturers and wholesalers to fix the retail prices of their products sold in states which have price maintenance laws.

In states with price maintenance laws, local manufacturers and distributors can make such agreements with retailers now, but they are not legal in interstate commerce because of antitrust laws.

The house approved the senate amendment without discussion, along with a compromise conference report on the revenue bill for the national capital. The conference report still requires senate approval before the legislation goes to the White House.

TRUSTS REPORT RISE IN JUNE 30 ASSET VALUE

Standard Investing corporation yesterday reported net asset value as of June 30 of $72.67 a preferred share, against $68.40 on June 30, 1936. American Capital corporation reported a liquidating value of $54 a share on the preferred as of the same date, against $45.07 a year earlier.

Alliance Investment corporation had net asset value of $5.64 a share on common as of June 30, against $7 on Dec. 31, 1936, and $2.46 on June 30, 1936.

Railway & Light Securities company reported the market value of assets available for common stock was equal to $30.93 a share on July 31, against $27.45 June 30, 1937, and $30.16 July 31, 1936.

Business Bits

The formation of a new management engineering company, Ortman, McClure, Hadden & Co., by merger of two other concerns, Hadar Ortman & Associates and McClure, Hadden & Swisher, was announced yesterday. The new company has taken over the management engineering and trade association accounts of the two concerns, it was said.

◆

Growers, shippers, and buyers of America's billion dollar apple industry and representatives from abroad will meet here next week for the International Apple association convention at the Hotel Sherman, where it was formed forty-two years ago. The growers and shippers who will attend represent an average yearly production of 100,000,000 bushels of American grown apples, according to officials. The convention will last a week.

◆

Howard F. Hinman, who will be floor manager on the Chicago Board of Trade for E. A. Pierce & Co., Arthur Sewell, 2d., general partner of McClave & Co., Bath, Me., and William A. Larsen, Winnipeg grain broker, yesterday were elected members of the Chicago Board of Trade.

KANSAS CITY BOARD APPEALS COMMODITY ACT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—(AP)—The Kansas City, Mo., Board of Trade and 33 of its members filed an appeal in the Supreme court today challenging the constitutionality of the 1936 act broadening federal regulation of commodity exchanges. Two other attacks on this legislation already have been filed by members of the Chicago Board of Trade and of the Chicago Mercantile exchange.

The Kansas City petition sought a review of a decision by the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals upholding the measure.

It contended the legislation "provides highly extended regulations of, and restrictions upon, the details of conducting the intrastate business of commission merchants and brokers, and the dealings and relationship between them and their customers, in respects unrelated to manipulation or market control."

Court Refuses Indicted Oil Group Bill of Particulars

Madison, Wis., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone today denied a request of trade journal defendants in the federal government's oil anti-trust cases for a bill of particulars of the indictment. These defendants—the Chicago Journal of Commerce Publishing company and its petroleum editor, Keith Fanshier; W. C. Platt of Cleveland and his two publications, Platt's Oilgram and the National Petroleum News—are charged with aiding a conspiracy of major oil companies to raise gasoline prices by publishing misleading market quotations. Trial is scheduled for Oct. 5.

NEW CROP HOGS BRING HIGHEST PRICE OF YEAR

Top Steers Highest Since 1929.

Further gains of 5 to 10 cents were registered in the hog market yesterday. Top sales of new crop 185 to 215 pound stock established a new high for the year of $13.35, up 5 cents for the day and $1 higher than three weeks ago. Practically all of the better grades of hogs under 230 pounds in weight shared in the upturn.

Consumer resistance to sharply higher prices for fresh pork caused some unevenness in the wholesale trade and resulted in more cautious buying at the stockyards. However, sufficient volume sold at the higher rates early to pull the average for the session up another 5 cents, to $12.05. Most 240 to 300 pound butchers sold at $12.40 to $13.15, prime 251 pound Indiana butchers at $13.15, and 264 pound Illinois stock at $13.

Strength prevailed in most other branches of the live stock trade yesterday. Top steers rose 15 cents to $17, the highest August cattle price since 1929, when $17 also was paid. The bulk of beef steers brought $10 to $16.50. Most fed steers and yearlings were strong to slightly higher.

Action in lambs was not as brisk as in other divisions, but prices held firm, with top natives to city butchers at $11.75 and to packers at $11.50. Medium to good Montana range lambs sold at $10.85. Old ewes brought $5.75.

SALES OF JEWEL TEA FOR JULY PERIOD UP 13%

Jewel Tea company yesterday reported sales for the four weeks ended July 17 totaled $1,798,580, a gain of 13.05 per cent over the same period of 1936 when sales were $1,590,962. Volume for the first 28 weeks of 1937 totaled $12,342,292, against $10,688,290 a year ago.

H. L. Green company reported July sales of $2,790,290, compared with $2,411,795 a year ago, a gain of 12 per cent. Sales for six months ended July 31 amounted to $15,580,150, against $13,983,955 in the corresponding months of 1936.

Odd Lots.

Odd lot transactions are sales of securities or commodities on exchanges in amounts less than the "round" lot or minimum on which prices are quoted. Odd lot prices are based on round lot quotations and therefore do not directly establish the market price.

The odd lot price in stocks is based on the first round lot sale after receipt of the odd lot order by the broker. A premium varying from ⅛ to ½ point, depending on the activity and price of the stock, is charged by the odd lot broker.

On an order to buy the price charged on an odd lot sale will be a fraction above the next round lot transaction. On an order to sell the price will be a small fraction below. If the odd lot order is limited in price the order will not be filled unless the round lot price goes high or low enough to permit filling the order at the limit after allowing for the broker's premium.

There is one outstanding exception to this practice. Suppose an order is given to buy 20 shares of a certain stock at 110. The stock is selling at 111 and the next transaction is 109 with no sales in between. The odd lot sale will be put through at 110 and not 109¼. If the order happened to be placed at the opening of the market and the first sale was below the customer's limit of 110, say 109, the customer would then pay a price of 109¼.
